Suspect arson in $350,000 blaze

5 firemen hurt as Woolworth gutted

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — An early morning blaze swept through the F.W. Woolworth Store on the Pomona Mall today, causing an estimated damage of $350,000 to the building and its contents.

It was the largest fire of the year here, and firemen said they suspected arson.

They said their suspicion was based on investigation showing that the fire started in two locations about 30 feet apart—one along the north wall of the building and the other along the wall in front of the stairway leading to the basement.

Investigators said they also were sifting through the rubble searching for flammable material which may have been left near the origin of the fire.

Fire Inspector Tom Fee said the possibility of arson was strengthened by the string of fires which had broken out in the downtown area during the past several months.

The fire broke out some time after 3 a.m. It was spotted at 3:32 by Police Officer Jim Holmes, who was patrolling the area, and he turned in the alarm. The fire was contained at 4:05 a.m. and was finally extinguished less than an hour later.

In addition to a dozen units from the Pomona Fire Department, help came from Montclair, Chino, La Verne, Ontario and Claremont. Some 45 firefighters battled the blaze at its height, according to Fire Chief John Fowlkes.

Five firemen were injured, two requiring attention at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Treated for second and third degree burns were Capt. Junius Murray. Cut by flying glass and requiring stitches on his hand was Capt. Ed Butler. Treated on the scene for minor cuts were Firemen Bill Travis, engineer Ted Fleetwood and Capt. Richard Moore.

Fire Chief Fowlkes said when the first units arrived under the command of Battalion Chef Paul Murphy, it found the flames already at full force.

He said the doors and windows were locked and the firemen were attempting to force the back door open when pressure from the inside blew out a panel of glass in the rear. As the air rushed into the store, the front glass pane exploded moments later. By the time firemen got inside, everything on the main floor was in shambles.

However, the firefighters were able to confine the fire to the main floor. The second floor, where the store offices are, suffered only heat and smoke damage. The basement which was equipped with automatic sprinklers, sustained only water damage, according to the fire chief.

An intensive effort on the part of the firemen kept the blaze confined to the Woolworth building. There was only minor smoke damage reported to the exterior of the building housing the John P. Evans store.

The estimate of the damage was set by Gary Pleman, manager of the store. Investigators were attempting to locate the owner of the building, Edwin S. Naly of Los Angeles this morning.

The fire was the second one at the same Woolworth location within 14 years. The Woolworth company had rebuilt and modernized the store after a blaze virtually destroyed it in 1959, according to fire department records.

Today's blaze was the second major fire here within nine days. The fire department is still investigating the possibility of arson in a $110,000 conflagaration which burned down a city-owned building Dec. 1 at First and Gordon streets.

The two fires are part of a string of seven large and small blazes in the downtown area during the past six months and Fee said today that he and his men are sifting through the rubble for evidence that might tie the latest fire to the others.

High praise was given to the fire department for the work it did today by

UP IN FLAMES Mop-up operations began this morning on the Pomona Mall after a $350,000 fire wiped out the F. W. Woolworth store during the night. Five firemen were treated for injuries and burns after they tried to get inside the store to fight the flames. Firemen suspect arson.

Yule energy ruling

Indoor lighting OK, outdoor no

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans may use indoor Christmas tree lights this holiday season, but ornamental lighting of private residences as well as commercial lighting, is banned, the nation's energy chief, William E. Simon, said today.

In a statement, Simon said he felt a ban on indoor Christmas tree lights "would be carrying energy conservation above and beyond the call of duty."

But he said "promotional, display, and ornamental lighting by commercial establishments, and ornamental lighting of homes and apartments will be banned as soon as I receive the authority to enforce this regulation."

Simon urged families to "turn off lighting in other parts of the house to compensate for electricity to be used to light Christmas trees."

He also urged "everyone to eliminate exterior lights around their homes this holiday season, and to limit the use of Christmas tree lights to those times when the family is together for the holiday festivities."

House ties Jews leaving Soviet Union to U.S. loans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted today to cut off all U. S. loans to the Soviet Union until Jews and other minorities are allowed to leave Russia freely.

The credit ban was attached to a landmark trade reform bill which already included a section to deny President Nixon the right to lower tariffs on Soviet goods — through the granting of "most favored nation" trade status—until the Soviets allowed free emigration.

The trade sanctions, introduced by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, apply to all Communist countries except Poland and Yugoslavia, but are aimed mainly at Moscow.

The cutoff of credits, if finally enacted, would be a blow to the Soviet economy because experts say the Kremlin relies heavily on U. S. credits through the Export-Import-Bank and the Commodity Credit Corporation.

But President Nixon has let it be known that he would veto the trade bill if it contained such restrictive amendments.

In the past year, the Soviets have received $250 million in U. S. credits. The Commodity Credit Corporation aided the Soviets in the controversial 1972 grain deal.

Energy revisions brighten U.S. picture

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The President's top economic adviser said today the country may be somewhat better off in energy than predicted.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, told a subcommittee of Congress' Joint Economic Committee that the administration would amend its estimates in a few days.

"The calculations which we at the Council of Economic Advisers have made about the economic impact of the shortage are based on estimates available last week," Stein said.

"In the last few days there has been some information suggesting that the shortage may be smaller than we have thought.

If so, that would certainly be good news and would call for some revision of the estimates."

Some oil industry officials are said to have estimated the oil shortage this winter at considerably less than the administration has estimated.

However, a top spokesman for the industry warned today that whatever the severity of the shortage, it will not end when winter is over.

Frank N. Ikard, president of the American Petroleum Institute, predicted the United States will be short of fuel "this winter, next winter and the winter after that."

"We are going to have to go on an energy diet ... The party is over, and there won't be another for a long, long time," Ikard said.

Both public and private officials stressed that shortages would not end when Arab oil begins to flow to the United States again. Saudi Arabia's oil minister suggested that the embargo on U. S. oil could end within a month, provided Israel pulled back from Arab lands.

Playboy sues pair over ban on mag

CHICAGO (UPI) — Playboy Enterprises is suing two Shelbyville, Ky., officials, claiming a ban on the sale of "Playboy" and "Oui" magazines in Shelbyville is unconstitutional.

Tight security as Kissinger's life threatened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States received reports of a possible assassination attempt against Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger during his European and Middle East tour, prompting tight security precautions, it was discosed today.

Extraordinary security measures —including arming of guards with submachine guns —were taken at London's Heathrow Airport prior to Kissinger's arrival later today from Brussels where he attended North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) talks.

Official U. S. sources said reports of a threat on Kissinger's life came from foreign intelligence sources. They refused to say how much validity the Secret Service attached to the reports, but noted that such threats could never be taken lightly.

Neither the Secret Service nor the State Department would comment on the reported plot.

Unusually heavy security measures were noted around Kissinger in Brussels, and he was not seen nearly as much in public as usual.

In London, an airport security source said the airport guard was "bigger than anything laid on for President Nixon" during a short stop there in 1969.

Washington officials said the warning of a plot against Kissinger was received shortly before he left Saturday for his two-week tour of 11 European and Middle East capitals, and security planning for the usually free-wheeling secretary was quickly intensified.

It's official; Rocky will quit

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today he is resigning in a move that most political observers viewed as a prelude to a quest for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination.

The governor, however, denied he was actively seeking the presidency. However, he left dangling any decision on seeking the GOP nomination by saying it would be late 1975 before he made up his mind.

Rockefeller said he will step down Dec. 18 and Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson would be sworn in the same day.

CHP ready for blockade by truckers

CLAREMONT — Officers at the California Highway Patrol office here are prepared should any truck blockages occur on local freeways.

"We will ask the drivers of any stopped trucks to move their rigs. If they fail to comply, the drivers will be arrested and their trucks will be towed away," said Lt. Kenneth Warren.

Should such incidents occur, the office plans to use every available officer. This would include calling in off-duty personnel, he added.

In addition, officers would receive assistance from city police and sheriff's deputies.

"Our concern is to keep the freeways open and the traffic moving," emphasized Warren.

The statement was in response to a threat by some truckers of tying up the Southern California freeway system today.

Police said their intelligence reports had warned them that the chief probable target is the Newhall Pass area into the San Fernando Valley and the "stack," the downtown interchange where the Hollywood, Santa Ana, Pasadena and Harbor freeways come together.

Linked to White Front burglary

Tip foils Upland robbery; 2 suspects held

UPLAND — The arrest of two men attempting to rob Ralph's Sporting Goods store, 305 N. Second Ave. Monday evening led to recovery of a large amount of property stolen from the Ontario White Front Store last week in a burglary, police reported.

Stephen Vincent Bahl, 21, of Alhambra, and Leonard Joseph Popowich, 19, of 515 E. Fifth St., Ontario, were arrested by Upland Police Officers Coy Estes, Virgil Bramlett and Robert Smeaton inside the Upland sporting goods store about 6:30 p.m.

Lt. Estes reported that the two men were observed inside the store wearing ski masks and jackets by officers after they were called to the scene by the store owner's wife.

According to Upland police, Mrs. Ralph Laycock called the police department when she observed a "weird" man walk into the store wearing a ski mask. Mrs. Laycock, suspecting a robbery, went into the back room of the store and called the police.

The officers, while searching the suspects, found a sawed-off rifle and a sawed-off shotgun. A check of the serial numbers on the weapons revealed that they had been stolen in a burglary at the White Front Store in Ontario last week.

Detective Capt. Howard Seay said this morning that the two men, after their arrest on suspicion of armed robbery, admitted to the White Front store burglary. The burglars there sawed a hole in the roof and lowered themselves into the sporting goods department. More than $3,000 worth of rifles, shotguns, sleeping bags, ammunition, stereo receivers and stereo components were taken.

Ontario Police Detective Roger Remlinger said after talking to the suspects at the Upland Police Department, that officers went to 1161 W. I St. in Ontario, and recovered more of the stolen White Front property. Later police made arrangements with several people suspected to receiving some of the stolen White Front property to return it to a local police or sheriff's department. A few hours later several of the stolen weapons turned up in the bushes near the West End sheriff's substation.

Remlinger said this morning that the department expects to recover most of the property stolen in the White Front burglary.

The two suspects in the case are booked in the West End Jail this morning on suspicion of armed robbery and being in possession of illegal weapons.

Poll shows Reagan, Ted have big leads

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Democratic Sen. Edward Kennedy now have "sizeable" leads in popularity with the voters for their party's presidential nomination in 1976, the California Poll said today.

Nixon, GOP chiefs map '74 election strategy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon conferred today with key Republican strategists to weigh the impact of Watergate on GOP chances in the 1974 congressional elections and his possible role in the campaign.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford, who is expected to play an active role in the campaign, also participated in the meeting, which was requested by GOP National Chairman George Bush.

Also at the session were Sen. William Brock, R-Tenn., chairman of the Republican Senate Campaign Committee, and Rep. Bob Michel, R-Ill., his House counterpart.

"We are laying the ground work for the congressional campaign," a Republican National Committee spokesman said of the session.

In advance of the White House meeting, Bush said he thinks the Republicans are going to "confound the critics and pundits" in the midterm elections and "hold our own, pick up seats."

"Don't judge the '74 elections by some crisis of the moment on Watergate," Bush said, adding that "gut issues" such as the end of the draft, the energy situation, joblessness and the cost of living will prove more important.

Bush was interviewed on the Public Broadcasting Service.

A presidential spokesman said Nixon was interested in "Republicans being elected" in congressional elections. He said Nixon's role was still in the development stage and that participation of the President in a campaign "takes many forms."

In addition to the meeting on election strategy, Nixon invited Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., to the Oval Office later, along with two Texas organizers of a group called the Committee to Support the President, Othal Brand and James Griffin.

The White House meeting apparently was hastily arranged. Bush was in Texas for a fund raising event when it as announced Monday and Brock flew in from Tennessee to attend.

This was the first party meeting in which Nixon has taken an active role in assessing GOP chances in the forthcoming elections. The election will be held during a year when the possibility of impeachment of Nixon is being examined and while there is some feeling within his own party that he should resign.

Brock is on record as saying that as a result of Watergate, the voters will be interested in looking at the candidate instead of the party.

A few potential candidates like Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., who had considered opposing Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., have tested the political water and decided not to risk it. So far Stevenson is unopposed in the November election.

The presidency is not at stake in the election but there is a question among the party leaders whether Nixon should actively campaign for Republican candidates next year. Ford is expected to hit the road early in support of the GOP contendors.

Some Republican sources express little hope of winning control of the Senate where Democrats outnumber them by 57 to 43 or the House where the Democrats have a majority of 243 to 190.

Their strategy apparently will be aimed at holding down their losses and keeping the seats they already have.

NO CONCESSION TO POLICE

Gov. Francis W. Sargent Monday vetoed a bill to reinstitute capital punishment in Massachusettes. Here Sargent is shown in Boston State House earlier as he faced some 300 police officers demanding he sign a bill restoring the death penalty. Many of them had attended funeral of slain Boston officer.

In arrest cases

Police can search with no warrant, court rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 6 to 3 today that police can thoroughly search a person under arrest without a warrant.

In an opinion by Justice William H. Rehnquist, the court said search in such a situation need not be governed entirely by whether the arrested person may be armed or whether he may possess evidence of a crime.

The court in 1968 established standards for a reasonable search when cause for arrest does not exist. But Rehnquist said those standards do not apply in the case of an actual arrest.

Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall dissented. The three usually stand together in individual liberties cases.

The ruling came in two cases challenging searches under the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution, which protects individuals against "unreasonable searches and seizures."

Rehnquist said in the case of a lawful custodial arrest a full search of the person is an exception to the warrant requirement and is also a legally "reasonable" search.

Conflicting decisions in Florida and the District of Columbia involved traffic violators who were found to have either marijuana or heroin in their clothing.

The Florida case concerned the arrest in Eau Gallie of a man named James E. Gustafson for driving without a license. When he was searched, marijuana was found on him.

The same type of situation occurred in Washington when Willie Robinson Jr. was arrested for driving after his license had been revoked. Heroin was found on him when he was searched.

The U. S. Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia ruled 5 to 4 that the search of Robinson had gone too far—that it should have been confined to a patdown for weapons permitted in nonarrest investigations.

The Florida Supreme Court ruled the opposite way in the case from that state.

In a dissenting opinion, Marshall said the court majority was turning back on fundamental principles that had characterized Supreme Court opinions under the Fourth Amendment over the years.

"The majority's approach represents a clear and marked departure from our long tradition of case-by-case adjudication of the reasonableness of searches and seizures under the Fourth Amendment," Marshall's dissent said.

Hughes link with Nixon's brothers key to Watergate?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators believe the motive behind the Watergate break-in may have been information linking President Nixon's brothers with billionaire Howard Hughes rather than intelligence on Democratic political strategy.

They also say that F. Donald Nixon, one of the President's brothers, was put under electronic surveillance by the administration because of his contacts with Hughes associates.

Transcripts filed in U.S. District Court Monday advanced the theory that the break-in was related to a number of matters involving Hughes, including reports that his associates wanted the federal government to stop nuclear testing in Nevada.

The transcripts, verbatim accounts of secret testimony given the Senate Watergate committee by several Hughes aides, were part of a suit to block further executive session interviews with 16 Hughes associates who have been subpoenaed.

The transcripts advance the theory that the June 17, 1972, break-in, paid for by Nixon reelection campaign funds, was intended to learn what information then Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien had concerning business dealings between Hughes and F. Donald Nixon and Edward C. Nixon, the President's brothers.

The committee papers indicate the burglars were also looking for information O'Brien had on allegations that Hughes associates tried to influence the Nixon administration in three areas: the dropping of an antitrust suit blocking expansion of Hughes' Las Vegas empire, presidential approval of the sale of Air West airlines to Hughes, and an attempt to stop AEC tests in Nevada.

It has been alleged that Hughes associates gave $100,000 to Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, which coincided with favorable government decisions.

O'Brien had been a partner in a West Coast advertising agency that represented Hughes Tool Co.

According to the transcript, Samuel L. Dash, chief committee counsel, said in the secret session:

"Mr. O'Brien's files were the subject of search in the breakin of the Democratic National Committee. It now appears from testimony that we are receiving that the relationship that Mr. O'Brien has with the Hughes Tool Co...and his own personal knowledge of any relationship between (Hughes former aide) John Meier and Mr. Donald Nixon...may have been the basis and reason for the break-in...and for the wiretapping on Mr. O'Brien."

Wages, prices freed

Lift auto industry curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a major step toward lessening control of the economy, the Cost of Living Council (CLC) has lifted wage-price controls from the automobile industry in return for a promise from most car makers to hold the line on small car prices.

It was by far the biggest action to date in the CLC's steady campaign to wind down the two year old stabilization program without kicking off a new round of inflation.

The move was expected to give a boost to the battered stock market, since performance of the auto industry has vast repercussions for the overall economy.

The council's surprise announcement Monday included an unusual "commitment" from the bulk of the industry that one of the Big Four manufacturers, Chrysler Corp., refused to sign.

However, the other three— General Motors, Ford Motor Co. and American Motors Co.— pledged to boost retail prices on their 1974 model compact cars by a maximum $150 and not to raise vehicle prices again during the model year "unless forced to by unforeseen major economic events."

Ford and GM also agreed to limit increases in wholesale prices—what dealers pay the manufacturer for new cars—to no more than $150 per vehicle and AMC said it would hold the line at $100.

"We tried to get Chrysler Corp. to make the same commitments the other companies did," said CLC director John T. Dunlop. "They decided not to do so."

Nevertheless, Dunlop said Chrysler would share in the benefits of decontrol, which include freedom from profit margin restraints and filing lengthy quarterly reports to the CLC.

"We believe the American consumer and the restraints of the market place will act to keep their (Chrysler's) prices in line," Dunlop said.

Chrysler Corp. said it did not join the others in their commitment because it could not agree with the council on the definition of a "major economic event." It said its cars would remain competitively priced.

The energy shortage, which has precipitated a sudden shift to smaller cars by consumers, was a key factor in designing the council's price plan. Without the small car ceiling, prices on economy models would likely jump far beyond the $150 limit since the demand is great and the supply scant.

"The ceilings ... will assure that buyers of small cars will not have to bear a disproportionate share of the price increases effected by the companies," Dunlop said.

Eternal flame for Viet vets turned off

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — An external flame lighted in March by a returned Vietnam prisoner of war was extinguished Sunday to conserve energy during the national fuel shortage.

Prosecution swept under rug to shield administration?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional subcommittee has been told that the federal government may have delayed prosecution of a black doctor for "grand larceny" of more than $1 million in federal funds to avoid "embarrassing" the Nixon administration.

Curtis Prins, chief investigator for the House Banking Committee, said Monday an audit of Dr. Thomas Matthew of New York City, conducted by the Small Business Administration (SBA), was turned over to the Justice Department for criminal action two years ago, but no federal action has been taken.

Prins charged that Matthew was selected by Nixon as a prime example of 'black capitalism" and that the President negotiated with Matthew through liaisons on his staff, especially Robert Finch, a former presidential adviser and secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He presented evidence indicating that Nixon decided to make Matthew's New York business ventures into a "pilot program" for black capitalism, and that the White House then organized a number of federal agencies to generate federal financial backing for Matthew.

The fund mobilization began in April, 1971, Prins said, under the direction of Anthony Chase, then deputy administrator of the SBA, and by June 23, 1971, some $1.8 in loans and contract assistance had been pledged to Matthew.

By November, 1971, it became apparent that the money was being mismanaged, and an SBA audit of Matthew's finances revealed "grand larcenies" of the federal money, Prins charged. It was then that the Matthew file was turned over to the Justice Department for criminal action, but no federal charges have been filed although the state of New York convicted Matthew on 61 counts of mismanagement of Medicaid money.

One memo offered in evidence by Prins involved a meeting between the New York district attorney who was prosecuting Matthew and Marvin Shelton, the SBA official who conducted the audit on Matthew. Shelton said the only reason the federal government was delaying prosecution of Matthew was "to avoid embarrassment to an administration that had paroled Matthew and held him out as an example of black capitalism."

Earlier testimony revealed that Nixon freed Matthew from jail on tax evasion convictions with a presidential pardon issued in late 1969.

Evans said there was some fire loss to a few areas on the exterior of his building, but there was no way, so soon, to estimate the size of the loss.

He and his store manager, John Pokorny, issued a joint statement in which they "commended and complimented" the fire department "because without their swift and efficient actions the whole general area might have easily come down."

'Mad bomber' to be released

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Metesky, who planted 22 homemade bombs in buildings and phone booths around New York for 16 years, now says he's "very, very sorry" about the campaign of terror, which he claimed was sparked by his anger at the Con Ed electrical utility.

Metesky will go free in a few days under a recent court ruling that defendants judged incompetent may be kept in mental hospitals no longer than two-thirds of what their maximum prison sentence would have been.

Metesky, who began his bombings in 1941, was held at Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane for a little more than 17 years and at Creedmoor State Hospital for the past 7 months.

It makes 'cents'--aluminum pennies instead of copper

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department said Friday it could save dollars by making cents out of aluminum instead of copper.

Mrs. Mary Brooks, director of the Mint, said the Treasury Department had requested congressional authority to permit the change. "With copper prices fluctatuating around $1 per pound, the metal cost of the cent is about 0.7 cent. Manufacturing and transportation expenses amount to approximately 0.2 cent for each piece, making the cost of the 1 cent piece 0.9 cent," the Treasury said in a statement

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz wrote Vice President Gerald R. Ford proposing legislation to change existing laws which require that the 1-cent piece be made from an alloy that includes 95 per cent copper and 5 per cent zinc.

"The draft bill would authorize the secretary to change the alloy to not less than 96 per cent aluminum.

Schultz said if the price of copper rises to $1.50 a pound, "the metal value of the coin alone will exceed 1 cent and thus hoarding of pennies will become profitable," Schultz said. The price of copper at the beginning of the year was 50 cents a pound.

The Department said changing from copper to aluminum would result in a savings of at least $40 million. A pound of aluminum currently sells at 30 cents and the Mint can produce 500 one-cent pieces from a pound of aluminum, compared to 150 from a pound of copper.

GM to shift to small cars

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Due to the threat of gas rationing, rising fuel prices and competition from imported small cars, General Motors is shifting production to smaller cars, a GM executive said Friday.

Richard Gerstenberg, chairman of the board of GM, said that in 1965, small cars accounted for only 32 per cent of GM's production. In 1973, however, that figure climbed to 56 per cent.

She tipped him with pawn tickets

Delivery boy who befriends ailing widow is heir

NEW YORK (UPI) — A grocery store delivery boy who cared for an ailing widow says he made more than $50,000 from the pawn tickets she gave him instead of tips, and when she died, she named him her sole heir.

"It's like something I guess you dream about that really comes true," said Jackie Bianchi, 19, who works at a supermarket on Manhattan's upper East Side. He said Monday that he first started visiting Mrs. Thomas Field five years ago, when he delivered groceries to her apartment.

When the widow, whose income was limited to a $500 monthly payment from a mortgage, ran out of money, she would tip him with pawn tickets, he said. The tickets turned out to be for jewelry and silver from her estate.

Mrs. Field had lived in a Fifth Avenue mansion until the late 1950s, when her husband, an inventor, died. Then she moved to an apartment, but because she was sick and afraid to light a fire in the crowded kitchen, he would cook for her and run errands whenever he could, Bianchi said.

The delivery boy and his parents pooled their resources to redeem the first pawn ticket for $2,000. It turned out to be a diamond ring appraised at $7,500 by Cartier, he said. Next was a $5,000 ticket for a whisky crate packed with silver. A sale at Sotheby Parke-Bernet gallery netted $56,000, which Bianchi said he put into a trust.

When Mrs. Field died she named Bianchi heir to the contents of her apartment, which he estimated was worth $15,000, and the $500-a-month mortgage dividend.

Bianchi, a sophomore at Bernard Baruch College, still works full-time for Finast Supermarket, where he first met his benefactor.

"Even if she wasn't wealthy I still would have helped her out and everything," he said. "It just pays to be nice to everyone, I guess."

Romania visit is accepted

WASHINGTON (UPI) President Nixon has accepted an invitation from President Nicolae Ceausescu to make an official visit to Romania but no specific date for the visit has been set, it was announced Friday.

The Ceausescu invitation and Nixon's acceptance were disclosed in a joint U.S.-Romanian communique issued at the White House after Ceausescu's two days of talks with Nixon.

Skylab running into more woes

HOUSTON (UPI) — Flight controllers said Friday one of Skylab's two good stabilizing gyroscopes was acting like another gyro that broke down a month ago and the erratic apparatus was being watched with "concern but not alarm."

Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said if a second of the indispensable stabilization devices were to fail, the Skylab 3 crew would have to return to earth within two weeks. He emphasized, however, that there is little chance of a second gyro failure at present.

Head-on crash injures two; 1 driver held

CHINO — Two persons were injured here Monday when two cars collided head-on on the Corona Expressway near Euclid Avenue and a third person was arrested.

Harold Dastrup, 42, a driver, and Marilyn Dastrup 38, a passenger, both of Corona, were taken to Chino General Hospital. Mrs. Dastrup was admitted and her condition is satisfactory. Dastrup was treated and released.

Tony Patterson, 38, of 4838 Monte Vista Ave., the second driver, was booked at the West End sheriff's jail on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Patterson was going south on the expressway when his car crossed over the center line and collided with Dastrup's northbound vehicle, reported the California Highway Patrol.

Dastrup said he was following a car, which swerved into the center median when the oncoming auto crossed over.

JUDGE PAUL EGLY

Egly named to top court assignment

POMONA — Judge Paul Egly has been named presiding judge of the Pomona Superior Court for the coming year.

Judicial assignments were revealed Monday by Alfred J. McCourtney, presiding judge for the county's Superior Court system. Egly was assigned to a civil trial department here last year.

The current presiding judge, Robert Firth, has been transferred to the systems central division in the writs' and receivers department.

No other local judges were transferred, with the result that Carlos M. Teran, Howard D. McClain, Glenn M. Pfau, August J. Goebel and Francis J. Garvey will remain. Retired Judge David D. French, on special assigmment here, is also expected to remain.

No replacement for Firth was assigned, however, leaving the local court one judge short of its 1973 total.

Egly was born in Fullerton and attended UCLA until 1942 when he entered the army. He returned in 1945 and was graduated in 1946. He earned his law degree at George Washington University in 1949.

He subsequently was admitted to District of Columbia bar, the United States Court in Germany, the state of California bar and the ninth Circuit Federal Court.

Egly practiced in Europe, Los Angeles and Covina and was appointed to the bench at Citrus Municipal Court in West Covina in 1963 by Gov. Edmund G. Brown. He was promoted to the Superior Court bench by Gov. Reagan in 1968 and was assigned go the Pomona Superior Court in 1969.

Egly currently is dean of the law school at La Verne College.

L.A. suspects are linked to Ontario theft

ONTARIO — Two men, arrested after trying to use a stolen credit card in a Los Angeles store, are being held in Los Angeles County Jail for questioning in the Monday night robbery of an Ontario man near the Brookside Winery on Archibald Avenue.

Los Angeles police told Ontario detectives that they had arrested the men, identified as Felix Acevedo and Alex Nevarez, both of Los Angeles, after they had tried to use a credit card belonging to Joseph Berton Guidry, 30, of Ontario.

Guidry a few hours earlier had called Ontario police to report a robbery. Guidry said he picked up two hitchhikers about 7:30 a.m. Monday in Covina. He said he drove the two men to Ontario when one of them suddenly pulled a knife and told him he was going to be robbed. Guidry said the two men took his wallet containing a few dollars and credit cards. Then at knifepoint, the men ordered Guidry to write a blank check for $100. Guidry said he wrote the check and gave it to the men who drove off in his van.

Los Angeles police said they also recovered the maroon van owned by Guidry.

Ontario detectives planned to go to the Los Angeles jail this morning to question the suspects.

Fire damages Valinda home

VALINDA — A fire, confined to the garage by firemen, did an estimated $1,000 damage at 15957 E. Meadowside Drive early today.

The occupant, Gordon Krolikiewicz, 21, got his wife and child out of the house unharmed and firemen doused the blaze quickly. Authorities blamed the fire on faulty wiring.

Hughes Airwest reducing flights

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hughes Airwest says the fuel shortage is forcing it to reduce flights by 10.6 per cent beginning Jan. 7.

The airline said Monday that weekly departures will be trimmed from 3,165 to 2,831. Airwest serves 66 cities in eight Western states, Mexico and Canada.

Poly instructor, aide guilty of pot charge

POMONA — Two women, originally accused of illegally possessing hashish, pleaded guilty Monday in Pomona Superior Court to marijuana possession.

They are Gail S. Konkle, 35, assistant professor of mathematics at Cal Poly, and her secretary, Jean Connolly, 36. Commissioner Gerald K. Malkan scheduled their probation hearing and sentencing for Jan. 14.

The women were arrested last March following the delivery to their apartment at 707 N. Park Ave. of a package of ashtrays from India which also contained hashish, investigators said. The package had been intercepted by U.S. Customs Service agents who reported finding hashish inside the hollow framework of the box.

Officers, who possessed a search warrant when they entered the apartment, reported that they also found some marijuana there.

The women entered the plea when they appeared for trial.

Laughing pair rob store

UPLAND — Two laughing men, one carrying what police believe to be a toy pistol, walked into the Circle K Store at 1111 E. Ninth St. here Monday and robbed the clerk of a small amount of cash, police reported.

Police said the men, both described as 18-year-old Negroes, wearing stocking masks, entered the store about 9:53 p.m. One of the men laid a white pistol on the counter and ordered the clerk, Annette Brees, to open the cash register.

The two robbers took a small amount of cash from the register and fled the store.

Miss Brees told police that the two robbers continuously laughed during the robbery, as if they were "high" on something.

Theater group due at MSAC

WALNUT — The 15-member ProVisional Theater Foundation of Los Angeles will present "Dominus Marlowe—A Play on Doctor Faustus" in Gymnasium 3 at Mt. San Antonio College at noon Wednesday. Tickets are 25 cents.

New paper reviews have called "Dominus" an existential vaudeville with song and dance.

The group performed "XA: A Vietnam Primer" to a capacity audience at MSAC last year.

Claremont in stand against EPA plan

CLAREMONT — The City Council Monday ordered City Manager Keith Mulrconey to file with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) the council's objections to the proposed transportation control plan, and the council's reaffirmation of Claremont's support for "realistic measures to clear the air."

The council also ordered the staff to file with the EPA copies of Claremont's interim energy control plan and smog alert plan when they are available.

Mayor Craig McManigal signed a deed turning over to Los Angeles County the Harvard Avenue property upon which the county will build its new $800,000 library. Upon receiving the deed, the Board of Supervisors is expected to award a construction contract for the building.

S.D. plan vote awaits new testimony

SAN DIMAS — The City Council and the Planning Commission will meet tonight to discuss new testimony before the council decides to give final approval to the city's new general plan.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the council chambers.

At its regular Monday night meeting, the council gave tentative approval to the plan after hearing testimony from representatives at Vinnell-Pauley Corp. Albert C. Martin and Associates, the Via Verde Homeowners Association and other concerned citizens.

The testimony provided by the groups caused the council to withhold final approval until it met again with the Planning Commission to discuss the points raised in Monday's testimony.

The general plan is a guide for future development, and is based on an extensive survey report of existing conditions in the city.

LA VERNE — Funeral services and burial were held Monday for Elsie F. Maslon of 1136 Sandhurst Lane who died Friday at a local convalescent hospital.

Mrs. Maslon was born May 22, 1895, in New York City. She was a La Verne resident for the past two years and had been a member of Temple Beth Israel, Pomona.

She is survived by a daughter, Ginger Friedman; a son-in-law, Stuart Friedman; and grandchildren Bruce and Erica Friedman, all of La Verne.

Oakdale Mortuary, Glendora, was in charge of arrangements.

Ford plant to resume work

PICO RIVERA (UPI) — Ford Motor Co.'s plant here will resume operation Dec. 19, calling back to work more than 2,300 workers who were laid off when Ford's Canada facilities were struck, creating a shortage in engines.

Nearly 20,000 hourly workers will return to work next week here and at six other Ford Assembly Plants. Ford shut down the seven plants and curtailed operations at 10 other facilities when a shortage of engines resulted after a strike against its facilities in Canada.

Ford officials said Monday operations will resume because the labor dispute in Canada has been settled.

NO TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS — A twisted bicycle, blown out of the store by an explosion, symbolizes the thousands of toys that literally went up in smoke this morning in a $350,000 fire at the F. W. Woolworth store on the Pomona Mall. Only the shell of the store remained as the sun rose this morning.

AISLES OF RUBBLE — Inside the store only rubble lies where merchandise used to be. More than $150,000 of the damage was to the inventory, another $100,000 loss was listed for the fixtures.

About people

Successful 2nd time around

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — The Rev. S. Howard Woodson Jr., a Negro who previously ran unsuccessfully for speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, was elected to the post Monday and said his election "speaks to black youth all over America that by persistence the opportunity does come."

Woodson, 57, of Mercer County, N.J., was elected by Democratic assemblyman who swept to power in both houses of the state's legislature last month in a party sweep of the statehouse.

Discoverer of comet is seasick

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lubos Kohoutek, discoverer of the comet that bears his name, took a cruise on the Queen Elizabeth 2 with his wife to view the comet, but was reported seasick Monday.

Kohoutek and 1,200 others left New York Sunday on a special cruise, following the weather to try to get the best possible view of the comet. By Monday afternoon, the ship had not found an ideal site, and Kohoutek got sick.

But his wife Christine said they were still hopeful.

Nixons to spend Yule at W.H.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Richard M. Nixons will spend Christmas in the White House, and according to first lady Pat Nixon, they are not going to let the energy crisis dampen their holiday spirits.

Mrs. Nixon, who received an 18-foot Christmas tree Monday, said it will have some lights on it despite the national austerity program to conserve energy. The tree will be placed in the traditional site in the Blue Room. Mrs. Nixon said the first family will not be flying out of town and would spend the Christmas holidays at the White House.

"People are staying home, buying trees and enjoying it more," she said. "We love Christmas in the White House and we will be here. We love the decorations and we hope to have all the family with with us.

Allende's widow in new appeal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Hortensia Allende called on the U.S. government Monday to halt all trade with Chile, and stop shipments of American arms to the new military government.

Mrs. Allende, wife of Chilean President Salvador Allende who died in the revolt that toppled his leftist regime, is making a speaking tour of North America, blaming Washington and the CIA for the change of governments in Chile and appealing for American support.

Press award goes to woman

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Katharine Graham, publisher of the Washington Post, has become the first woman to be named recipient of the John Peter Zenger award for distinguished service to freedom of the press, given by the University of Arizona.

"The reputation of the Post was on the line during those long, lonely months when one newspaper carried the brunt of the Watergate investigation," her nomination said.

The 19 former recipients of the award suggested the nominees, who were voted on by more than 300 newspaper editors. The award will be presented Jan. 12, during the annual convention of the Arizona Newspaper Association in Scottsdale, Ariz. It is named after a colonial American publisher who stood up to the British Crown and won his case in court, a milestone in the history of press freedom in the United tstates.

Singer files suit on civil rights

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Soul singer James Brown filed suit in federal court Monday complaining Knoxville police violated his civil rights last December during a scuffle between members of Brown's troupe and officers in a parking lot.

Brown, who filed the suit with two associates, is asking $1 million in damages for "violation of his civil rights, false arrest, malicious prosecution, assault and battery and outrageous conduct." His two associates are asking for $500,000 each.

Named as defendants were Mayor Kyle Testerman, Safety Director Duane Ausetts, Police Chief Joe Fowler, six policemen or former officers, and Civil Service Director Preston Phelps.

Janssen behind in his alimony

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Actor David Janssen was held in contempt by a Superior Court judge Monday for falling $35,625 behind in alimony payments to his former wife, Ellie.

Janssen, 48, star of the television series "The Fugitive," and Mrs. Janssen, 47, an interior decorator, were divorced in 1970 after 10 years of marriage. Janssen was ordered to pay her $3,750 a month.

The judge gave Janssen until Dec. 27 to pay the money or face additional penalties, said Mrs. Janssen's lawyer.

Two military satellites to be orbited

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A Titan 3C rocket is scheduled to carry two satellites into orbit this evening to shore up U.S. military communications around the world.

The 1,300-pound satellites will be positioned over the equator in a stationary orbit about 22,000 miles from earth. Each one is capable of carrying 1,300 conversations.

The Air Force project, costing an estimated $40 million will replace two communications satellites launched in Nov. 1971.

An Air Force spokesman said the power distribution system in one of the earlier satellites failed in Sept., 1972, and a geomagnetic storm may have taken its toll on the other one last June.

Still no progress in food talks

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — No progress was made Monday during the first day of bargaining since food industry employes walked off their jobs last Monday against 61 supermarket chains.

Talks between management and the meatcutters' union were planned for today.

Negotiations Monday, the first since Dec. 1, involved the Teamsters Union and the Food Employers Council. Further bargaining between the two groups was not scheduled.

Cost of living raises were reported to be the major obstacle to an agreement between the Food Employers Council and the Food and Drug Council, the labor group's umbrella organization.

Mediator Richard Hughes, who oversaw the talks with the Teamsters, said both sides claimed a lack of willingness by the other to bargain.

A spokesman for the employers' council said meaningful talks could not begin until the Teamsters "boil down their demands."

Since the strike-lockout, most markets have remained open. Food shortages in a variety of items were reported, but a widespread lack of food supplies was not anticipated.

250,000 road signs

There are more tha 250,000 road signs on California's state highways.

Zonka on the rocks new shipboard drink

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — It took four hours Monday to get all 598 passengers off the stranded Italian luxury liner "Federico C" but no one seemed unhappy about the delay.

The liner still was stuck fast to a sandbar early today and another effort was scheduled to maneuver the 606-foot vessel free.

"My husband will never believe this," said Dolores Brown, a Chicago housewife, as she checked through customs at Port Everglades.

Mrs. Brown and the others spent their three days and two nights of unscheduled extended vacation partying, relaxing on the sun deck, and hoping someone would tell their relatives back home what had happened.

The 20,000-ton liner was trapped moments before it was due to enter the port after a seven-day Caribbean cruise.

Costa Lines gave the passengers all the free food they wanted during the extended stay, but they held the line on alcohol. Saturday night the guests were served drinks on the house for three hours.

Some passengers created a new cocktail called "zonka on the rocks" in honor of Capt. Maffo Zonka who was at the helm when the ship went aground.

"Some of us had parties in our rooms, but the biggest thing was card-playing," said Gail Canata, of Chicago. "I won $100 in a card game the last night."

CLAREMONT BIKE AUCTION — Lyn Hood, communications officer for Claremont Police Department, shows off sword which will be auctioned off Saturday at 10 a.m. along with 100 bicycles seen hanging in background. The annual auction of bikes, jewelry, luggage, cameras, tape recorders, wallets, watches, stereo tape equipment radios, clothing and an accounting machine will be conducted at the rear of city hall, 207 Harvard Ave. Items may be viewed before 9 a.m.

Colors, signs for motel up for Claremont review

CLAREMONT — Motel 6 representatives will make a second appearance before the city's architectural commission Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to see if modified color and signs for the proposed 112-unit motel on the north side of Foothill Boulevard between Mills and Padua avenues will receive a favorable review.

Commissioners had tabled the matter at their Nov. 16 meeting because they didn't like the dustry rose color proposed for the stucco or the turquoise proposed for the 112 door .

The city staff reports new colors of calfskin on the stucco and aqua on the doors "still appears too harsh," and prefer a light brown and a softer shade of blue.

The commissioners also were concerned about the white rock roof for the four two-story buildings on 2.3 acres. The applicant now proposes white composition shingles, but the city staff is recommending a dark roof.

The staff also is concerned about the over-all size of an 11-foot-high Motel 6 logo mounted on a 7½-foot high tucco base, and would have an overall 17-foot 6-inch width.

The commission also will review architectural and sitte plans for a Republic Federal Saving and Loan building at Foothill Boulevard Regis Avenue, landscaping and grading plans for an Armsttrong 37-unit residential unit development on Indian Hill Boulevard south of the proposed Foothill Freeway right-of-way, review the architectural and site plans for the third phase of a residential unit development for Rosemount Estates west of the north end of Indian Hill Boulevard, and will consider a request for a 3 by 8-foot sign for Claremont Cameras at 819 W. Foothill Blvd.

Energy woes darken halls at Pomona school offices

POMONA — The energy crisis finally is catching up with the Pomona Unified School District.

Hall lights at the District Education Center already have been cut by 50 per cent.

And to initiate further energy conservation, other recommendations will be made by the administration to the school board when it meets tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The first is that a 55-mile-an-hour speed limit be established for all district vehicles, including driver training cars.

The second is that thermostats throughout the district be set at 68 degrees where possible.

A third recommendation is that all unnecessary lighting at teaching and work stations be lowered. This recommendation excludes security lighting.

In addition, an employe car pool survey will be made by students at Garey High School to determine if car pooling could take place among employes on a voluntary basis.

Also, the lunch period will be cut from 60 to 30 minutes for personnel working in the District Education Center effective Dec. 20, to reduce utility usage in the building which will be kept open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

California tops in fees for fishing

NEW YORK (UPI) — California topped the other 49 states in revenue from hunting and fishing licenses last year, earning $16.8 million from such fees, the Tax Foundation, Inc., said.

Pennsylvania was second on the list, receiving $12.6 million from hunting and fishing licenses, and Michigan was third with income of $11.7 million.

Hawaii was at the bottom of the list with $120,000 in revenue.

Claremont council studies rent, sale sign ordinance

CLAREMONT — The City Council tonight will consider an ordinance that would allow one "for rent," "for sale," "open house" or similar sign on the property to which it refers.

A "rider" containing additional information could be attached to the sign as long as both signs do not exceed six square feet, and the combined signs are not more than 4 feet tall.

The proposed ordinance is the result of study by the planning and the architectural commissions.

The council will also discuss a proposed $31 million capital improvements program scheduled by the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District and may issue a policy decision.

The council will consider a Parks and Recreation Commission recommendation that a proposal by Eckbo, Dean, Austin, and William to develop a master plan for Sycamore Canyon-Higginbotham Park at a cost of $10,500 be accepted.

Supervisors vote 69% raise for themselves

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The county Board of Supervisors have voted to give themselves pay raises of 69 per cent, from $14,200 a year to $24,000.

The pay increase is subject to approval by the federal Cost of Living Council.

Average home income $11,286

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Income of all households in the United States averages $11,286 annually, the National Consumer Finance Association said.

Households headed by a person between 45 and 54 years old had an average income of $14,719 last year, and these accounted for 24.5 per cent of all household money income. By contrast, those headed by persons under 25 years of age had average annual income of $7,716 or 5.5 per cent of total household income.

Women paid less for the same work

NEW YORK (UPI) — European women working in the food, textile and clothing industries are earning far less than their male coworkers, the European Economic Commission said in arecent study covering 1968 to 1972.

Chemical Bank in its Report from Europe said the EEC found differences in hourly earnings between men and women vary as much as 27 per cent in Holland, 22 per cent in Belgium, 20 per cent in Germany, 15 per cent in France, and 13 per cent in Italy.

Linda Hunter weds Bernard Layaye

After a honeymoon in Las Vegas, newly wed Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Layaye will make their home in Paso Robles.

The bride is the former Linda Sue Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter of Chino. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Layaye of San Miguel.

MRS. BERNARD C. LAYAYE

The couple exchanged vows in a double-ring ceremony at the United Methodist Church in Chino. Officiants were the Rev. Stanley Creighton and the Rev. Hilary Hobrecht.

The bride wore a floor-length, empire gown of chantilly lace over satin. It was fashioned with a high neckline and long, fitted sleeves. A headpiece of lace petals held the bride's waist-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of bronze and yellow daisy mums, yellow roses and white carnations.

Miss Sally Hunter was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Hunter and Miss Denise Layaye.

Kate Hartshorn was flower girl and John Hartshorn was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Robert Layaye. Ushers were Gary Rice, Steve Adam, Jack Labesque and Pat Labesque.

A reception at the DES Hall followed the ceremony.

Chorale performance planned

A program of familiar and unfamiliar Christmas vocal selections will be presented by the Citrus College Chorale at the Claremont Women's Club meeting Wednesday.

The program will follow a noon luncheon at the clubhouse, 343 W. 12th St. The luncheon will be prepared and served by the December service group with Mrs. James Cox as chairman. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. A. W. Clarke at 624-6387, or Mrs. William Seanor at 624-9361.

The Citrus College Chorale is under the direction of Martin Greene.

The book section of the Claremont club will meet Dec. 21 at 10 a.m. at the clubhouse. Members will read or tell Christmas stories.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Losing man friend

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I seem to be going opposite the trend of many young women today in that I want to get married. But I can't find a man. Most of my girl friends don't want to get married. They are living with men, and are very happy about their arrangements. This is just no good for me, although I'd really settle for anything at this point. I'm very lonesome and bored and I just can't get along without some strong figure in my life. Every time I meet a man, I try to subtly suggest some serious permanent relationship, not necessarily marriage, but at least, something that will last. I've almost never had more than two dates with any fellow and it's not because I'm not warm and friendly. I never criticize them or argue with them so it seems strange that I could irritate them or hurt their feelings. I'm also not a perfectionist as you can tell from this letter and I'm not waiting for the impossible — the knight in shining armor. — L.M.

Dear. L.M.: It is much easier to live with someone else if you have first learned to live with yourself. Too often people look for others to complete what is missing in themselves. Relationships based solely upon need for fulfillment through others do not have a high rate of success.

Most men sense boredom and desperation in women and it frightens them, for few men can, or desire to, accept full responsibility for the total happiness and welfare of another human being. Successful marriages and relationships of mutual love are based on sharing, not on dependency. More and more men are beginning to realize this and while they may fear dominant, strong women, they are also leery of women who seem overly submissive.

When a man meets an overly eager woman he may feel she is merely seeking a male, any male. This is hardly flattering to him. He is then being used as an object in much the same way that men are said to use women. Almost everyone likes to be thought of as an individual and appreciated for his or her individual traits.

By placing so much emphasis on a permanent relationship you are not allowing yourself and a young man time to get to know one another. You are setting up almost impossible hurdles because you cannot promise permanence if you know nothing about the person to whom you are committing yourself. Nor can anyone else. It is unrealistic. It would be far better to concentrate on friendship, on trying to discover another person's special interests and hobbies, and how they relate to your own interests, and on simply enjoying and sharing the moments, rather than looking for permanent commitments built without foundation.

If you are bored and lonely, try to organize your time so that you learn something new every day and pursue and develop new interests — bird-watching, photography, carpentry, painting. The more interests you have, the more interesting you will be to yourself and others and you may suddenly find that you have many new friends, male and female.

It is important for a woman not to be possessive in her relationships with men. If you want a man to propose, you must not throw yourself at his feet or scare him away. Make sure you know him and he knows you well before you enter into any serious relationship. You may discover that you are not as eager to marry him as you thought and it's best to discover this before you walk down the aisle.

Jay-C-ettes chart yule party

Pomona Jay-C-Ettes have completed plans for their annual Christmas Champagne Party to be held at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at McConnell Hall, Pitzer College, Claremont.

Each couple will bring a new toy for a boy and a girl. A "Surprise" Santa will collect the toys which will be donated to the Christmas Clearing House.

A Christmas tree, from the Pomona Jaycees Christmas Tree Lot, will be decorated during the party and given away with the toys.

Music will be provided by Charlie Cogswell.

Mrs. Robert Hayes is chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Roy Stunrod. Mrs. Bob Castaldi is in charge of decorations.

Collectors install officers

Western World Collectors Association recently installed officers for the year.

President is Mrs. Shirley Mae Onstot. Other officers are: Mrs. R. Lashbrook, vice president; C. L. Onsttot, treasurer; D. A. Lashbrook, recording secretary; B. Lashbrook, librarian; Wilma Brenner, ways and means chairman.

At a meeting at 100 E. Main St., Ontario, on Sunday Mrs. Yvonne LaFond will be the speaker.

Mrs. LaFond, a doll collector, has just returned from an extensive trip throughout the eastern part of the country and will bring a number of her collector items.

Meetings are open to the public.

Auxiliary sets dinner meeting

The national president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Fleet Reserve Association will be guest at the meeting of the Fleet Reserve Association, Pomona Valley Branch 211, Wednesday.

She is Mrs. Agnes Martin of Unit 60, Norfolk, Va.

The meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 13133 Central Ave., Chino.

The auxiliary will serve a dime-a-dip dinner and a mini bazaar with many articles for Christmas presents.

Square dancers will sponsor Jingle Bell Hop

Sawdusters Square Dance Club will sponsor a Jingle Bell Hop Saturday at the Yorba Elementary School, 250 W. La Verne Ave., Pomona.

Dancing will be from 8 to 11 p.m. with Howard McCreery calling.

Income rising

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The University of Nebraska Extension Service, taking a look at spending on leisure activities, says much of it is made possible by more affluence. Income has risen steadily so that almost 25 per cent of all U.S. families have incomes of $15,000 a year or more.

Chino church setting for recent nuptials

Chino Valley Reformed Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Anna Hogerhuis and Steve Van Hofwegen.

The Rev. Robert Van Earden officiated at the ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Klaas Hogerhuis and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Van Hofwegen, all of Chino.

Carrying a cascade of mums and orchids, the bride wore a traditional gown of rosepoint lace fashioned with a sabrina neckline of pearled lace scallops, hand-beaded bodice and fitted sleeves featuring pearls and sequins and a cascade of ruffles sweeping into a cathedral-length train.

Her veil was held by a lace and pearl wraparound hairpiece. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Hilda Hilak served as matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Leann Bothof was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Aday and Mrs. Joanne Hogerhuis. Lanie Hogerhuis, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl, and Brian Hogerhuis, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Lighting candles were Mrs. Clary Lanting, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Irene Van Hofwegen.

Gary Van Hofwegen stood as best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Jim Van Hofwegan, brother of the groom; Myer Lanting and Miek DeBoom. Ushers were Carl Hogerhuis, brother of the bride, and Doug Hilak.

Mrs. Sandy DeBoom, sister of the groom, and Andrea De Boom were in charge of the guest book.

First Christian Reformed Church, Chino, was the setting for the reception.

Haldeman named in civil suit

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — A deposition will be taken next month from former presidential aide H. R. Haldeman in connection with a civil suit pending here, attorney George S. Daly Jr. said Monday.

Haldeman is named along with the U.S. Secret Service as a defendant in an $840,000 civil suit filed by 14 persons who say they were illegally denied entrance to a speech by President Nixon in 1971.

Nixon spoke at the Charlotte Coliseum as part of ceremonies honoring the Rev. Billy Graham.

Daly said he plans to go to Los Angeles next month to take testimony from Haldeman.

Haldeman's name was added as a defendant in the suit when it was disclosed earlier this year that he approved security measures for Nixon's Charlotte visit.

Daly maintains that Haldeman could be found in contempt of court if he refuses to answer questions concerning security measures for the visit.

Move on more access to tract awaits police and fire reports

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The City Council decided Monday night to wait for recommendations from the police and fire departments before acting on proposals to provide additonal access to the Kellogg Park I tract in northwest Pomona.

Councilman R. T. French, on whose motion the decision was made following a lengthy hearing, said he is not convinced the additional access is needed or desired by the residents.

He said he wants the police and fire departments to recommend whether additional access is considered "absolutely necessary" from the standpoint of providing emergency services to the tract, bounded by the San Jose Wash Channel, Ganesha Boulevard and the Corona Freeway.

Presently, the only ingress and egress to the tract is at Arroyo Drive at Ganesha.

Kellogg Park I residents petitioned the council in 1970 for additional access, and following city staff studies, three proposals were submitted to the council for consideration.

One proposal that involves the extension of Orange Grove Avenue into Gleneagles Avenue is estimated to cost $75,000.

A second proposal to construct a bridge structure over the San Jose Wash at the west end of Laurel Avenue, would connect the Kellogg I tract and the Valwood I tract. This project is also estimated to cost $75,000.

The third proposal calls for an additional street connection to Ridgeway Street near the intersection of Cornelia Street and Belinda Avenue. The estimated cost for this is $27,000.

Residents from both the tracts spoke at the hearing.

Residents spoke in favor of and against additional access to Kellogg. Some favor the Orange Grove Avenue proposal.

Mrs. Robertha Walker, 2222 Laurel Ave., one of the original petitioners for additional access to Kellogg, posed the possibility of residents being trapped in the event of a major emergency should the Arroyo exit be blocked.

Some residents of the Valwood tract expressed their opposition against additional access between the two tracts, saying the present situation at Valwood affords some measure of security.

Valwood I roughly is bounded by the wash, Ganesha, Murchison Avenue, Ridgeway and the Corona Freeway.

Councilman Charles W. Baders said it seems to him that in the event of a major emergency or civil disturbance access to Kellogg could become a problem.

The council initially voted to terminate the hearing, which has been continued a number of times, then later voted to reopen the hearing to receive additional evidence.

BETTER LIGHTING

Patrons using the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds at night soon will notice that the main parking lot of the grounds at Entrance G is better lighted. Fair officials reported that the 88 1,000-watt incandescent globes are being replaced with 54 1,000-watt multi-vapor lights which use 39 per cent less wattage but give three times more light.

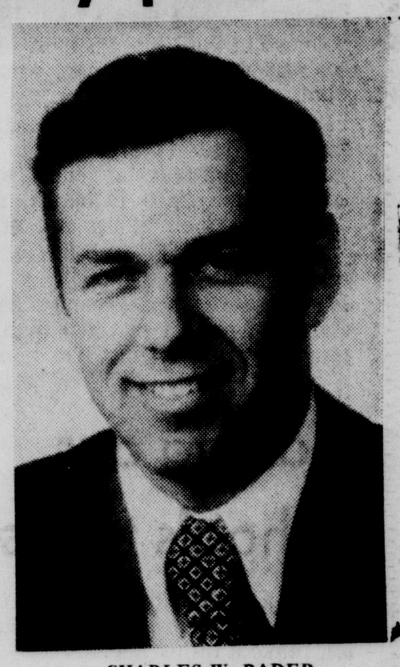
Pomona councilman eyes Assembly post



CHARLES W. BADER

POMONA — Councilman Charles W. Bader announced Monday he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for assemblyman in the new 65th District, in next June's primary.

Bader, who was elected to the City Council in 1971 one month after turning 31, made his announcement at a council meeting.

He is the third Republican and fourth person to formally announce for the seat.

The 65th District includes Pomona in Los Angeles County and Ontario, Montclair, Chino, Upland and unincorporated areas in San Bernardino County. It was created this year under a reapportionment plan approved by the state Supreme Court.

"The court in approving this plan determined what we already knew—that there is a community of interest that binds together the West End of San Bernardino County and the Pomona Valley," said Bader.

"Because of reapportionment, we have a unique opportunity to elect an assemblyman who understands thoroughly our problems."

Bader said he believes that if the Republican Party is to "continue to provide a positive force in our state's political affairs, we Republicans must take the initiative in campaign reforms."

As an assemblyman, Bader said he would support legislation calling for a "full and complete disclosure" of campaign contributions and expenditures and "I will work to bring about a reasonable restraint on excessive campaign spending."

Bader submitted to City Clerk Larry Thomas copies of Bader's 1972 federal and state income tax returns, saying:

"A copy of this statement and my 1973 statement when prepared will be filed with the city clerk of each city in the district. I believe that the public has a right to know the financial background of a candidate before he is elected to public office."

Bader said he intends during the campaign to discuss a number of issues such as drug abuse, an alarming crime rate, abandoned houses, state spending, welfare reform and the energy crisis.

Bader, a Realtor, is president of D & R Properties Inc. of Pomona and Newport Beach and was a member of the Community Redevelopment Commission for three years before his election to the council.

A graduate of UCLA, he has been active in Republican circles for several years. He served two terms as president of the Pomona Valley Republican Coordinating Council, has participated in several state and national Republican campaigns, including as Pomona-Claremont area chairman in 1972 of the California Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Explosion of plastic starts $8,000 fire

POMONA — A fire at a home at 1602 E. Seventh St. Monday caused an estimated $3,000 damage to the building and $5,000 loss to the structure's contents.

A plastic bucket of polyester resin heating on the floor in front of a furnace ignited and exploded resulting in considerable damage to the front room, kitchen, back porch and back bedroom of the structure. Occupant of the structure was Emanuel Kramer of 1841 Workman Ave., West Covina, who used the Pomona house as a hobby shop.

An auto fire at Dudley Avenue and Philadelphia Street Monday afternoon is under investigation today by the Pomona Fire Department. The 1972 model Datsun 240Z consumed in the fire was a complete loss.

Shirt manufacturer sets up Pomona plant

POMONA — Don Rancho Inc., the manufacturer of "Hang Ten" shirts, has announced it will occupy the 85,000-square-foot building at 2300 W. Valley Blvd.

The company has already begun moving into the new building, which formerly housed the Burlington Hosiery Co. The plant will provide employment for more than 80 people, and will be used for a distribution center of all raw materials and finished products.

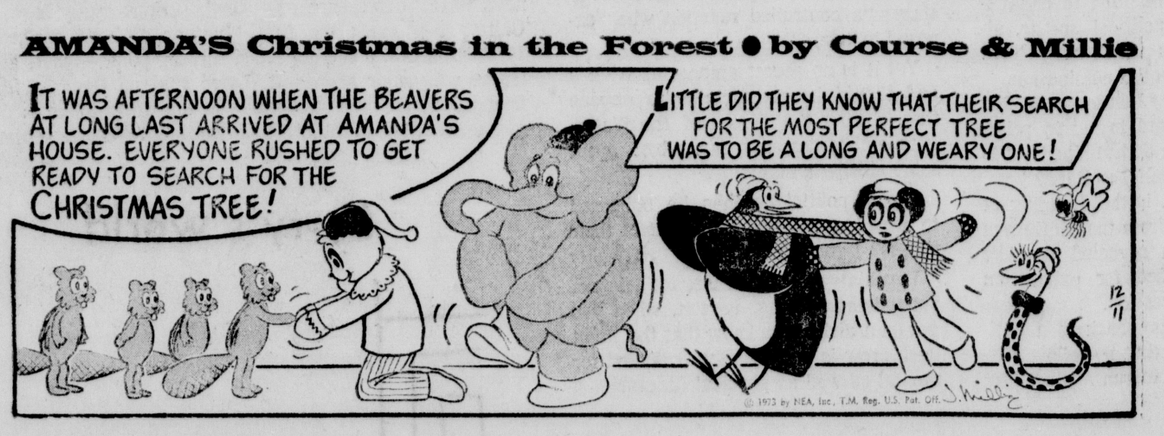
Material for the shirts is provided from mills throughout the country, and sent to the company's 14 factories throughout Southern California and Arizona. From Pomona, the shirts will be distributed to retailers throughout the world.

"The new facility will allow us to accommodate our customers many times faster and with greater accuracy in addition to providing us with an up-to-date security system," said David C. Carlson, distribution manager. "The purpose of the new location is to consolidate our local manufacturing and executive offices at our present locations in Ontario."

Washington School Christmas program

POMONA — The Washington Elementary School Christmas program will be presented Dec. 19, at 1:30 p.m.

Children from kindergarten through sixth grade will present skits, sing songs and dance. Parents are invited.



Assemblyman William Lancaster

He's against rapid transit measure, gas rationing

By GEORGE MACLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Assemblyman William Lancaster informed the Claremont City Council Monday that he will vote next June against the ballot measure which would provide rapid transit funding through limited tax bonds for the Southern California Rapid Transit District.

Meeting with city officials at a breakfast meeting, Lancaster said he felt he shouldn't support a transit plan not working statewide.

"We must be careful how we administer federal highway funds for rapid transit," he said. "I don't believe we have come to grips with the problems of rapid transit. We are working on them piecemeal."

Lancaster questioned whether the ballot measure would be passed by the voters.

The assemblyman said the county is "a long way from any meaningful form of rapid transit," and that what is needed is the development of a corridor system which would cross county lines when feasible.

He said freeways have been the savior of the state, but now concepts must be changed.

Mayor Craig McManigal told Lancaster that Claremont is a "bedroom" community, and the council wants its railroad tracks to carry mass transit passengers.

Lancaster commended Claremont for getting involved in problems that are "very real."

He said the U.S. and California haven't kept up their technological development, but have become "reliant on imports. We must become self-sufficient."

Lancaster noted that California, despite its oil industry, must import.

Lancaster said he has misgivings about the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit to go into effect Jan. 1, although he voted for it.

He explained he had introduced a bill which would allow for a separate minimum speed limit for each county.

Lancaster said the Environmental Protection Agency is the result of "real sincere concern, but it is too broad in concept, and handles many problems which could be solved locally."

He said that federal criteria on the energy problems do not necessarily work in all areas.

"I hope we can avoid gas rationing, but I'm not sure we can," said Lancaster. He is against the negative tax approach. "That's the wrong way to levy taxes. They should be levied for constructive purposes," he said.

Turning to bills on the member makeup of the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG), Lancaster said, "We're not getting any place with appointed regional boards. We need redefinition of what we are trying to do. I would favor city councilmen running for SCAG seats."

He reported three agencies are dealing with funding of federal money: RTD, SCAG, and the County board of supervisors, and "I think the local people ought to have some input."

The council shared with Lancaster its support or opposition to 17 current bills in the Legislature relating to finance, environmental quality and land use, labor relations, regional organizations, and annexation.

Opinion

The pure myth of America Inc.

It goes without saying that the United States is on its way to becoming a society run by a few giant corporations.

That's just the trouble — it goes without saying.

The idea is "pure myth" declares Prof. Neil H. Jacoby of the graduate school of management at the University of California in Los Angeles.

"The United States is not now, and is not becoming, a 'corporate economy' in the sense that big business corporations dominate . . .

"Corporate economic power is effectively constrained by market competition. Corporate political power is effectively countervailed by the power of labor unions, farm organizations, professional societies and a host of consumerist and environmental blocs."

It's time to rid our minds of the myths of corporate economic and political omnipotence, says Jacoby. These concepts are false and distorted caricatures of the true nature of the American economy.

Jacoby, a leading U.S. economist and author of "Corporate Power and Social Responsibility," notes that there are more than five million established business enterprises in the United States and that the ratio of enterprises to population has remained stable for half a century — about one to 40.

More than 11 million Americans report income from self-employment on their income tax returns, and as large a proportion of working Americans work for themselves today as did in 1945.

Small business will continue to flourish in the service society of the future, Jacoby predicts.

A generation forgets the point

Remember when ballpoint pens first came out in the late 1940s, how leaky, uneven and expensive they were? Remember how teachers frowned on students using them because "they ruin your handwriting"?

A lot of ballpoints today are still leaky and uneven, and you could probably find a teacher somewhere who is still concerned about good handwriting. But expensive they no longer are, unless you insist on gold plating.

In 1972, no less than 1.3 billion ballpoint pens were produced in the United States, reports the BIC Corp., or about six for every man, woman and child in the country.

Fountain pens are now a rarity, and a whole generation of kids is growing up without ever having seen one. In fact, a return to the fountain pens would mean chaos in banks, restaurants, gas stations, department stores and offices.

Presidents give away dozens of ballpoint pens as souvenirs when they sign an important bill. Even documents of state are now signed with ballpoints and they, too, more often than not are of the disposable variety — just like some treaties.

Taking our schools to tusk

Just as we were about to recommend their dismantling, the word comes in that schools do, after all, make a difference.

The results of a study conducted in 22 countries by the International Association for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement, whoever they are, have been reported and the data, says Education, U.S.A. newsletter, show a clear indication that there is "a school factor at work" in student achievement.

Wow. Only the other day educators were buzzing over other data which suggested that it didn't really matter what kind of school a kid went to — home and family were the critical factors in determining whether and how much he learned.

Well, we've heard from the blind men at the elephant's trunk and now from those feeling the elephant's leg. We await with interest the next report from experts no doubt even now examining another part of the educational anatomy.

Thought for today

Jesus said to him, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but by me. If you had known me, you would have known my Father also; henceforth you know him and have seen him."—John 14:6, 7.

* * * *

To know about Christ is not enough. To be convinced that He is the Savior of the world is not enough. To affirm your faith in Him, as we do in the Apostle's Creed, is not enough. You really don't actively belive in Christ until you make a commitment of your life to Him and receive Him as your Saviour. —Billy Graham, American evangelist.

CIA eavesdrops on Kremlin chiefs

WASHINGTON — We have been accused of compromising an intelligence operation, perhaps even jeopardizing the life of an agent, inside the Soviet Union.

Let us set the record straight.

More than two years ago, we were tipped off that the Central Intelligence Agency had managed to eavesdrop on the private conversations of Kremlin leaders. Some of the transcripts, we were told, were quite titillating.

We checked out the story with a CIA source who had access to the transcripts. He confirmed that the CIA was intercepting the telephone traffic between the limousines of Soviet bigwigs.

Gossipy leaders

Unfortunately, he said, they didn't hold strategy sessions in their limousines. The CIA picked up small talk, however, which provided an insight into the personalities of the likes of party chief Leonid Brezhenev, Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nikolai Podgorny.

The transcripts revealed that the Soviet leaders gossip about one another and complain about their ailments. Their favorite limousine stop was a private clinic where they could get steam baths, rubdowns and other physical therapy.

Brezhnev, who sometimes drinks too much vodka and suffers from hangovers, told Podgorny in a typical conversation that he was suffering from the woes and would stop off at the clinic for a massage. He mentioned a masseuse named Olga.

"Olga! Oh ho!" chortled the Soviet president, who apparently was familiar with Olga.

Kremlin aware

Our source said the transcripts showed that the Kremlin chiefs were aware the CIA was listening to them. Anything they already knew, he agreed, should be safe for the American people to be told.

Therefore, it should do no harm to write about the eavesdropping operation, said our source. He cautioned, however, that the monitored conversations didn't make clear whether the Soviet leaders had figured out how we did it.

We published a careful story on September 16, 1971, about the eavesdropping. "For obvious security reasons," we wrote, "we can't give a clue as to how it's done. But we can state categorically that for years the CIA has been able to listen to the kingpins of the Kremlin banter, bicker and backbite among themselves."

The following December, we quoted from secret White House minutes to show that President Nixon had lied to Congress and the public about the India-Pakistan conflict.

Foolish crimes

This brought the President's gumshoes down on our necks with a vengeance. No newsmen in Nixondom have ever received a more thorough going-over. The undercover work was done by the plumbers, the bizarre para-police unit whose operatives ran around in CIA wigs and committed foolish crimes.

The bewigged ones, among other things, began checking into our account of the Kremlin bugging. This aroused Richard Helms, then the CIA chief, who invited me to lunch on March 17, 1972.

He asked me not to mention the eavesdropping operation in my book, "The Anderson Papers." He acknowledged that the Kremlin leaders knew their conversations had been monitored. But he pleaded with me to keep quiet and urged me particularly never to mention how the conversations were intercepted.

Accordingly, I omitted the references from my book and left it to others to reveal the secret monitoring method. Not until today, after the limousine-listening operation has been widely publicized elsewhere, have we mentioned how it was done.

Whispering campaign

Nevertheless, the White House has seized upon this affair to justify the President's claim of national security in the plumbers case. Aides have been whispering that our story shut down one of the best pipelines into the Soviet Union.

This is strictly a red herring, which President Nixon hopes will distract the Watergate bloodhounds. The truth is that: (1) the monitored Kremlin chitchat was never an important intelligence source; (2) Our September 16, 1971, story revealed nothing the Kremlin leaders didn't already know; and (3) the President's claim of national security simply won't wash.

His motive is perfectly clear. He is vulnerable to charges that he obstructed the investigation of the plumbers. For he has admitted not only that he formed the plumbers but that he ordered Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen not to investigate them.

Now Egil Krogh, the chief plumber, has pleaded guilty to one of the crimes committed by his curious crew. Other criminal indictments have been handed down.

The President's attempt to block an investigation into these crimes, therefore, would appear to be obstruction of justice — which itself is a crime.

PAUL HARVEY

No privacy for elected officials

One in twenty Americans is in a mental hospital—and one in ten ought to be. Does this include our elected officials? Will Rogers called the Congress the "only asylum run by the inmates."

Congress, representing "we, the people," has its share of the combative, depressive, deluded—and drunks. Recently, in a savage attack, Big Labor's George Meany accused President Nixon of "emotional instability."

For better or worse, politicians now face public scrutiny of their most private affairs—including their medical records.

This is a hazardous practice. In 1964, a disreputable magazine reported that a "survey showed a majority of psychiatrists believed Sen. Goldwater 'psychologically unfit to be President.'"

Only 11 per cent of the profession was represented in that poll but it was politically damaging.

Before his election, a physician of considerable repute mentioned that President John Kennedy was afflicted with adrenal insufficiency and received cortisone treatment which "could be factors in the making of major presidential decisions."

Following Chappaquiddick, certain psychiatrists who are always available for public comment analyzed the nine-hour delay between the time of the accident and the report by Sen. Ted Kennedy, questioning his capacity to handle administrative responsibilities.

Sen. Ed Muskie, reacting to exhaustion and a vicious political smear, allowed himself tears which may have cost him the presidential nomination.

President Lyndon Johnson saw his mental health debated in public print. One news magazine headlined: "Is L.B.J. Driving Himself Too Hard?"

Classic, of course, is the dumping of Sen. Tom Eagleton from the McGovern ticket when it was revealed that he had been hospitalized for exhaustion and treated for depression.

Sen. Eagleton's comeback to a position of such esteem that no fellow Missourian even wants to run against him suggests that mental illness is becoming a lesser stigma.

Yet, on the congressional carpet to establish his fitness to be Vice President, Gerald Ford denied ever having consulted a psychotherapist "for psychiatric reasons" and protested, "I am disgustingly sane."

New York's psychotherapist Dr. Arnold Hutschnecker wrote in 1968 that President Nixon appears to be that most desirable type of leader who shows "a controlled reaction when exposed to stress."

Yet it is no secret among his friends and should be no surprise to anyone that, during the depths of the Watergate embarrassment, Mr. Nixon spent some sleepless nights.

Should politicians then be obligated to provide a medical statement of their fitness? I don't know.

Psychiatry is a most inexact science, yet it is reassuring, isn't it, when you get on a airliner to know that the flight deck crew is periodically examined for mental as well as physical fitness?

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . . . letters

Taxpayer wants to know

As a concerned American, worker and taxpayer, I feel it's time I put in my opinion. For the past several weeks letters have been written in strong support for Nixon.

These letters strongly resemble the White House aides' plan used in the '72 campaign, where professional writers would write the letters and good party members signed their names to them expressly for Letters to the Editors columns around the country.

The one that moved me was entitled "Stand up and be counted." The gentleman who signed it stated: "No one can show any concrete facts linking him (Nixon) personally to any dishonesty then (1946) or today."

I would like to know about the fraud pulled on Howard Hughes involving an empty lot in Whittier valued at $13,500. It has been reported by the media that Donald Nixon borrowed $125,000 on it from Hughes and Richard knew about it at the time, and the loan has never been repaid. Is that honesty?

I would like to know about the secret bank account Richard Nixon had in California in the '60's. I would like to know about the taxpayers' money spent by Nixon's orders on the home and boat of Bebe Rebozo in Florida.

I would like to know why Richard Nixon didn't declare or pay taxes on the $625,000 note marked paid in full in exchange for 20 acres on his San Clemente estate.

As a matter of fact the only point I agree with in that letter is the stand up part. It certainly is time for all honest, God fearing, taxpaying Americans to stand up and shout for the resignation of Richard M. Nixon.

If that fails, shout for our elected officials to do their duty and impeach one Richard M. Nixon.

A lot of people are suddenly blaming the Nixon dilemma on the news media reporting phony stories. I remember Agnew was one who claimed that the media was out to get him with phony stories, but if memory serves me right he resigned two weeks later and pleaded nolo contendre in federal court on the same reported phony stories by the news media. —Ken Goodwin, Ontario.

INSIDE REPORT

Israel willing to compromise

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir has firmly but informally passed word to the Nixon administration that Israel would not object to a reopening of the Suez Canal — even without Israel's guaranteed right of immediate passage — as part of a first-stage Israeli withdrawal from the Egyptian Sinai Peninsula.

What makes that private message to Washington so intriguing is that it dramatizes Israel's growing awareness that it must display unprecedented flexibility in the peace talks which formally begin 10 days hence.

No final settlement that did not guarantee Israel freedom of passage through the Suez Canal would be worth the ink it was written with. But what Prime Minister Golda Meir wants President Nixon to understand is that even though her Coalition government is waging a tightening battle for reelection on Dec. 31, and hence is highly defensive about publicizing concessions to the Arabs or the U.S., she understands the extraordinary emergency and the need for compromise.

On variation of the plan now under study in Israel would be the complete withdrawal of Israeli forces from all Egyptian territory on the west bank of the canal to the mountain passes 20 miles east of the canal.

Coupled with that would be Egyptian withdrawal of all but symbolic forces from the east bank of the canal and Israeli consent to reopening the famed canal closed by the Israeli invasion of Sinai in the six-day war of 1967.

Then, the Geneva peace conference would adjourn for several weeks to let both parties carry out this initial step in the tortuous process of transforming 25 years of war to something better. During the adjournment, the UN peace-keeping force would move between the canal and the new Israeli line, and the Egyptians, with the U.S. supplying much of the financing, would start work on reopening the canal.

Hard guarantees to Israel

If both sides managed to survive this initial phase, the peace conference would then be reconvened and negotiations would continue toward a second phase. This would require further Israeli withdrawal, possible discussion of hard guarantees to Israel on free passage of the Strait of Tiran into the Gulf of Aqaba, and many other issues.

Again, the second phase would be another testing period, a slightly more difficult experiment in compromise, during which the Geneva conference again would take a vacation to see how it worked.

"Call it growing old together," said one American expert with intimate ties both to Israel and the Nixon administration. The Israeli object is obvious: Egypt must learn to live with a slow pace of Israeli withdrawal because Israel wants each stage of the process to be provably self-enforcing and to pave the way for the next.

The most serious question raised by this piece-at-a-time strategy is not whether Egypt will accept so slow a pace but whether the oil-rich Arab countries, particularly Saudi Arabia, will accept it.

For Egypt's President Anwar Sadat, the withdrawal of Israel from the canal to the Mitla Pass, the start of work on reopening the canal and the flying of the Egyptian flag over the demilitarized western Sinai would be no small victory. Indeed, for Sadat, the hero of the Oct. 6 war, such progress by the middle of February might place him among the foremost heroes of Egypt.

Easing oil squeeze

There is some reason, moreover, to hope that such preliminary Israeli withdrawal would begin to ease the oil squeeze. Some highly placed officials here have learned from Mideast sources that Saudi Arabia may be running short of cash in the vastly expensive purchase of Soviet military hardware for Egypt. Unlike Soviet resupply of her allies after the 1967 war, when Moscow accepted payment in long-term loans and in Egyptian cotton, Moscow is now believed to be selling its weapons only for hard cash.

If true, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, the most powerful Arab leader by virtue of his control of nearly one-fourth of the world's oil reserves, may be ready to ease his oil boycott in order to refill his depleted treasury (cash then to be paid, ironically, to Moscow for Soviet weapons).

Thus, Israel's confidential ideas about the shape of the Geneva peace conference are worth serious study here and in Cairo. They mark the first glimmer of hard realization in Israel that Oct. 6 was indeed a turning point — that, as White House counsellor Melvin R. Laird said on Dec. 3, "the only friend and supporter Israel has in the world today is the U.S. government" — and the U.S. government wants a settlement.

'MUSICAL SLEIGHRIDE'

Homeowners association elects 1974 officers, states goals for new year

DIAMOND BAR — The Diamond Bar Homeowners Association has elected its 1974 board headed by president Frank Skrah and announced five goals for the coming year to include a study to obtain public transportation.

They are also intent on conducting a study into the possibility of incorporating as a city.

Clinton Park, director heading the public transportation committee of the association, said providing transportation for Diamond Bar students who attend Ganesha High School in Pomona has top priority.

Park said jokingly at a recent press conference at the Diamond Bar Country Club, that he, being from the country, was thinking of starting a stagecoach line to haul the students to Ganesha

"It would get the kids to school, solve the pollution problem and not be too expensive," said Park.

His fellow committeeman, Joe Larutta (1973 president), said efforts were being made to work with the Rapid Transit District to provide transportation into Pomona, not only for school students but for shoppers.

"I feel Pomona should support us in this," he said.

The Pomona school board this fall refused to provide bus service for Diamond Bar students after a long line of residents protested the proposal.

Don Stokes heads the committee assigned to study incorporation. He said there are people in Diamond Bar who support the idea and also some who oppose it, "and we want to have the opportunity of self-determination," he explained.

Other goals outlined were to continue liaison work between the community and the Regional Planning Commission in an effort to retain Diamond Bar's country-living, low-density atmosphere;

to maintain the community's position of opposition to proposed airports at Chino Hills and City of Industry, and to "continue a united effort to provide the residents of Diamond Bar the instrument whereby they may control the destiny of their community."

Skrah said the first general meeting with the new board will be held Jan. 22 at 8 p.m. at the Diamond Bar Country Club, at which time by-laws changes would be proposed.

Others elected to serve with Skrah are Ted W. Staley, vice president; Ginny Case, treasurer; Leonard Leger, secretary; Larutta, parliamentarian; Rose Baldwin, Chuck Hall, Clinton Park, Repar, George "Sid" Rose, and Stokes, directors.

Leger heads the membership committee. Larutta heads the zoning-area planning committee. Rose will direct publicity. Mrs. Baldwin supervises social activities, recreation and ways and means activities. Mrs. Case will be liason to the Miss Diamond Bar Pageant.

Staley heads the domestic and emergency services committee which handles citizen complaints.

Garland Sawyer heads the airports committee. Leger heads the education committee. Repar is in charge of the by-laws study revision group.

At the press conference, it was reported the association, a nonprofit organization, will operate on a 1974 budget of $2,400.

Rowland board names two to personnel commission

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Donald M. Busch and H. Nelson Flack have been named by the Rowland School board to the district's personnel commission.

Busch will serve out the unexpired term of Thomas Dodge who moved from the area. Flack was re-appointed to his second three-year term.

Flack, an eight-year Rowland Heights resident, said he feels a civic and moral obligation to work for a better school district.

He has served on the commission since its inception upon unification of the district in 1970.

Busch, recommended to the school board by the Rowland Chapter of the California School Employes Association (CSEA), will serve out the final year of Dodge's three-year term.

He lives in Rowland Heights and is employed as a telephone supervisor.

The personnel commission acts as an impartial third party in serving the interests of the taxpayers, the school district and nonteaching district employes.

Two evenings of Christmas programs planned in Walnut

WALNUT — "Christmas in Many Lands" will be presented by second-grade students in the classes of Mrs. Angie Stanek and Mrs. Susan Lane at Vejar School in Walnut on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school's multipurpose room.

Also on the evening's program will be a short play, "The Runaway Toys," presented by Mrs. Pat Rolle's second graders, and choral readings, poems and songs performed by Mrs. Lucille Thompson's class.

On Dec. 18, students of the upper grades at Vejar School will present the play "Santa Claus for President." Principal characters will be from fifth-grade classes. Students from Mrs. Carol Dore's third-grade class and Miss Jennifer Rice's fourth-grade class will also participate. That performance will also be staged in the Vejar multipurpose room.

During the programs on both evenings, mixed choirs will sing a selection of Christmas songs under the direction of Mrs. Louise Norris. Refreshments will be provided by board members of the Vejar School Community Club.

Whittier doctor says he'll seek Congress seat

WHITTIER — Dr. Jerry Olivet, a 44-year-old Whittier physician and surgeon, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the 33rd Congressional District.

"I am throwing my hat in the race as early as possible before the primary election to clearly establish my intention not only to run, but to win this spring and in November," Olivet said.

Under the reapportionment, the 33rd District includes the cities of Downey, Norwalk, Whittier, Santa Fe Springs, Cerritos, and the unincorporated areas of Diamond Bar and Rowland Heights.

Cub Scouts plan Christmas meet

DIAMOND BAR — Cub Scout Pack 735 will hold its Christmas meeting Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at Golden Springs School.

Bill Leitch and Hal Hill were awarded plaques for their services as former pack cubmasters at the November meeting.

Giancarlo and Gianpiero Corsi, Ed Bunner, Scott Riggs, Ed Stokes, Mike Spindt, David Dobis, Craig Maier, Richard Hearne and Anthony Martinez were inducted into the pack as Bobcats.

Wolf badges were awarded to Scott Leger and Bill Capener. Rob Ashby and Peter Evans received Bear badges and gold arrows.

Webelos pins were awarded John Hill, Rob Ashby, Tim Scott, Dan Vesey, Bill Angevine, Rance Clouse, and Jon Cavener.

Red suits can pose problem

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If you can keep your eyes off the East and West hands you can decide on the proper way to play today's hand.

You start by winning the first trick with dummy's ace of spades and are faced with the moment of decision at trick two. You are going to lead a red card and take a finesse, but which suit should that red card belong to?

	NORTH
	♥ 5 3 2
	♦ 8 5 3
	♣ A 9 4

♠ K Q J 9 5		♠ 10 8
♥ 9 6		♥ K 8 7 4
♦ 10 7 2		♦ K 9 6 4
♣ Q 10 8 6		♣ 7 3 2
	SOUTH (D)
	♠ 6 5
	♥ A Q J 10 9
	♦ A Q J
	♣ K 5 2

Both vulnerable

West	North	East	South
1♠	2♥	Pass	4♥
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—K♠

When the hand was played, South led a trump. The finesse worked. Then he went back to dummy with the ace of clubs and took a second trump finesse. That worked also, but West showed out and since there was no way to get back to dummy for any more finesses, declarer had to lose one trick in each of the four suits.

He had misplayed the hand, but strangely enough no one has been able to convince him of that fact. He says, "I have been taught to play trumps. Was it my fault that they broke 4-1?"

It wasn't his fault that trumps broke 4-1, but he still should have gone after diamonds. He had only two entries to dummy, but he only needed two diamond finesses. Once they worked he could play ace and another trump and make his contract.

Big feast provided at pet home

PLYMOUTH, England (UPI) — The more than 100 residents of the Plymouth Dog and Cat Home will have a sumptious dinner this Christmas. So sumptious that social workers say it should go to two-legged rather than four-legged unfortunates.

Ken Taylor, superintendent of the dog and cat home, said pet-loving donors have given $500 to lay on a Christmas Day spread of 25 turkeys.

"It's crackers," said Doris Angwin, the Red Cross director.

"The money should be given to people who can't even afford to consider a Christmas dinner. I can name people who would give their eye teeth to swap places with your animals."

Taylor stood firm.

"If I was raising cash for old people or the homeless the public would have given only half as much. The donations come specifically to give our animals turkey at Christmas. Who am I to tell people they shouldn't send the money?" he said.

Moon eclipse startling to astronaut

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab 3 astronaut William R. Pogue was startled to look out the space station window and find part of the moon missing. Mission Control didn't tell the astronauts about the eclipse because they were busy with other duties, but Pogue was eating dinner and saw it.

"Are we experiencing a partial eclipse of the moon?" Pogue asked. "We had a great big ol' full moon up there and all of a sudden we started losing a hunk of it."

Callers from California to Florida asked the Johnson Space Center about the unheralded eclipse and some were curious if the space flight had caused it. "What's happening to the moon?" one woman asked. "It's supposed to be a full moon and it was. I was looking at it and all of a sudden it started turning black. What have you done?"

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be extra safety conscious today if you're working around the home with power tools or equipment requiring heat or flame.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Keep your mind on what you're doing, particularly if driving. Don't take needless risks. Watch your speed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Over the next few days don't become involved in things of a speculative nature. They could prove unreasonably expensive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Career and domestic pressures will be a bit heavier today. You won't have much patience with the family or your public contacts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't put much stock in your hunches. They won't be reliable. Ideas that look good to you now require more careful screening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Before you spend money on your new interest, be sure it's something you'll follow through on and find useful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will be stymied a bit today where personal goals are concerned. Others will not be co-operating as they should. Be patient.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't make any decisions based upon anger or revenge. To do so will only compound the problem and make it more difficult to resolve.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are flirtatious today the wrong person is likely to intercept your signals. You'll have some unraveling to do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Handle your one-to-one relationships very tactfully today. Two people you deal with will each present a problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do not make any sudden changes where your work or career is concerned. This is not a good period to switch jobs.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You tend to be wastful and careless today regarding money, possessions. Be especially prudent and practical.

Dec. 12

Several unusual opportunities will come your way this year. They will be of a fleeting nature. A firm grasp will be required to see that they develop.

Cop-killer recaptured

RODEO (UPI) — An escaped San Quentin convict was shot and captured by deputies Thursday night after he commandered a truck with four persons in it and ran a roadblock.

The convict, Francisco Salas, 41, serving a sentence for first degree murder from Sacramento, was hit in the back and neck by a shotgun blast.

"We knew he had killed a policeman in Sacramento and he was armed and dangerous", said Contra Costa County Sheriff's Lt. Dan Kamrud.

Kamrud said Salas, who escaped from the prison Monday during a visit with his family, sped around the roadblock and "then became cornered by police cars."

The convict was rushed to a hospital to undergo surgery.

Kamrud said the names of the four hostages were not immediately available.

Can't prosecute official who spanked his secretary

CLEVELAND (UPI) — There are no grounds for criminal action against a city councilman accused of tying up and spanking his 17-year-old secretary for making typing mistakes, Chief Police Prosecutor Everett Chandler said.

Police said the parents of the girl, a Euclid High School senior, charged that Councilman John J. Prince, whose term expires next month, punished her six times.

According to Chandler the punishments included tying her, spanking her with a wooden paddle, standing her in a corner and making her repeat, "I am stupid," and taking movies of her while she said it.

The prosecutor said Prince apologized to her last weekend, sent her $100 for extra work she did and exposed the film he took of her.

"The girl's parents were mostly concerned that he (Prince) receive psychiatric treatment," Chandler said.

Rams not taking it easy

RAMS' PRIZE ROOKIE

Lawrence McCutcheon, who was just officially tagged a rookie, passes the 1,000 yard mark in Monday's 40-6 win over the New York Giants. He also scored two touchdowns.

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — From owner Carroll Rosenbloom to the 40th man on the roster, the Rams are a solid football team in the estimation of Merlin Olsen, the All-Pro defensive tackle.

Olsen made this and other observations Monday night following L.A.'s 11th victory of the season, a 40-6 rout of the New York Giants in front of 73,328 lively customers at the Coliseum, and millions more on national TV.

In no particular order, the 12-year veteran listed the following as the ingredients which helped the Rams to the NFC West championship and a berth in the Super Bowl playoffs:

—Depth, youth, and pride.

—Smart football people at the top, i.e. management, head coaching and coaching assistants.

—Talent in key skill positions, i.e., quarterback, running back, and wide receiver.

"We're winning because we're a grinding team offensively and a punishing team defensively," Merlin summed up.

That told the story of Monday night's game which was close only for a quarter.

The Rams wrapped it up neatly with a pair of second quarter touchdowns on a four-yard burst by designated short yardage runner Tony Baker and a 19-yard touchdown pass to Lawrence McCutcheon from John Hadl.

It became a rout in the second half as McCutcheon broke the 1,000-yard barrier for the season and the Giants got careless where they threw the football.

Now 11-2, with one game of the regular season remaining against Cleveland Sunday at the Coliseum, the Rams have left little doubt in anyone's mind they are for real.

LOCAL-NATIONAL
Sports

Head coach Chuck Knox's one-game-at-a-time philosophy notwithstanding, the Rams must be thinking ahead to the playoff opener at either Washington or Dallas (probably Dallas) Sunday, Dec. 23.

The Giants on the other hand have little to worry about except next season.

It was the 10th loss of the year for coach Alex Webster's club, which got off to a flukish 6-0 start in preseason play and then faded to its current 2-10-1 mark, with a Sunday game against Minnesota pending.

"They've just got a lot of good horses," Webster said of the Rams.

The leading horse, of course, was McCutcheon, who received a standing ovation four minutes into the third period when he broke up the middle for 20 yards to surpass 1,000 yards.

A play later, Hadl handed him the ball again and he carried over left guard for 11 yards and a touchdown.

McCutcheon gained 80 yards on 11 carries in the game to make it 1,014 for the year.

Only 76 yards away from Dick Bass' all-time Ram record, McCutcheon is technically a rookie this season, but ineligible for the rookie of the year award because it was discovered too late. Game films from 1972 showed he played in just two games. Ballots for the honor were sent out without his name.

It didn't seem to bother him. "I look at it with mixed emotions," he said, speaking of 1,000 yards. "I haven't changed much in a season, it's just that coach Knox has given me my opportunity."

Knox, the first year head coach, who turned the 6-7-1 Rams of a year ago into the 11-2 Rams of 1973, came in for praise all around Monday night. Even the losers had good words.

"The Rams are really a super-coached team," said Giant quarterback Randy Johnson. "They shut off everything we tried to do."

Johnson knows. So does Norm Snead who spelled him in the second half. Randy threw one interception, and Norm threw three—one of which was returned 49 yards by Isiah Robertson for a Ram touchdown early in the third period.

The Giants had to settle for a pair of field goals by Pete Gogolak—a 15-yarder with 1:41 left in the first period which gave New York a short-lived 3-0 lead, and a 27-yarder in the third quarter which cut L.A.'s lead to 28-6.

New York helped the Rams to two points later on a fourth down situation when center John Hill centered the ball over punter Tom Blanchard's head and out of the end zone for an automtic safety to make it 30-6 before the fourth period began.

Place-kicker David Ray added to the pile of points with a 16-yard field goal on the Rams' first series of the final period.

L.A.'s depth became apparent later in the quarter as backup quarterback James Harris directed a drive which ended in Les Josephson's 13-yard burst around the right side.

Harris completed six of six passing for 64 yards and added an additional 19 yards on two carries scrambling.

RAM NOTES: If the Rams win the opening round playoff game against Dallas or Washington on Dec. 23, they will host the NFC title game in the Coliseum, Sunday, Dec. 30 . . . other playoff pairings announced by the NFL have the AFC Central titlist (Pittsburgh or Cincinnati) at Miami on Dec. 23 . . , the NFC wild card (Washington, Atlanta or Dallas) at Minnesota, and the AFC wild card (five teams have a chance) at the AFC West titlist (Oakland or Denver), on Saturday Dec. 22 . . . altogether, nine teams still have a shot at the playoffs going into the final Sunday of the regular season.

Chaffey Coll. entertains 16 JC cage clubs

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

ALTA LOMA — Defending champion Los Angeles Harbor and streaking Fullerton College are the co-favorites in the 33rd annual Chaffey Invitational Basketball Tournament which gets underway here Wednesday morning.

The Seahawks and the Hornets have identical 6-1 records going into first round games which pit Harbor against Mt. San Antonio at 5:50 p.m. and Fullerton against Citrus in the 9:30 a.m. opener.

Neither MSAC or Citrus are considered championship caliber teams at this point in the season. The Mounties are 2-7 and the Owls are 2-4.

Host Chaffey, winner of four of six contests including a 67-49 victory over MSAC last Saturday, is rated the dark-horse favorite when it meets Los Angeles Valley in the 9:30 p.m. feature. Valley is 2-5.

Other first round pairings have Pasadena (1-4) facing San Diego Mesa (4-3) at 11:10 a.m., Glendale (4-3) meeting Grossmont (3-4) at 12:50 p.m., Golden West (4-3) testing El Camino (2-4) at 2:30 p.m., San Bernardino (3-6) playing Orange Coast (5-2) at 4:10 p.m. and Riverside (5-2) meeting East L.A. (4-2) at 7:30 p.m.

Chaffey was the surprise of last year's event, winning three tournament games in a row to capture consolation honors after getting off to an 0-7 start.

Coach Barney Newlee's team has the personnel and experience to go all the way in the tournament and in the Mission Conference race that begins next month.

All-State forward Bob Kovach and veteran guard Pierre Rankin are the leaders of this year's squad. Kovach (6-6, 215) scored 104 points in the 1972 tourney to rank eighth on the all-time point list.

Kovach is currently averaging about 18 points and 14 rebounds in six games, while Rankin (6-2, 165), a playmaking guard is scoring in double figures.

Both Citrus and MSAC are struggling in early season games.

The Owls feature guard Roy Hickman (6-2, 185), who was an all-tourney selection in 1970. He was out of school for two years before rejoining the team this season.

Only one Mountie player, 6-foot-10 center Gary Nash, is averaging in double figures with a 21-point per game average and about 14 rebounds.

Santo claims he can't play for Cubs again

CHICAGO (UPI) — All-star third baseman Ron Santo says he will not put on a Chicago Cubs uniform again but that doesn't necessarily mean he's retiring from baseball.

"I've told everybody they can put whatever interpretation they want on it," Santo said Monday after telling a television interviewer, "There's no room for me on the Chicago Cubs. I will not put on a Cub uniform again because of what happened over the past week."

What happened last week was that Santo became baseball's first player to take advantage of a new rule that allows senior players to refuse to be traded. After 14 years with the Cubs he said no to a deal that would send him to the California Angels but he mentioned the cross-town American League White Sox as a possible new home.

"Try to get me on the South Side," Santo said he asked Cubs owner P.K. Wrigley and General Manager John Holland. "Money would not be a matter of concern."

"I'm sure (White Sox Manager Chuck) Tanner has shown interest in me," Santo said. "and I feel he would work something out."

Police question Cedeno

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Houston Astros star centerfielder Cesar Cedeno apparently shot and killed a 19-year-old woman just 10 minutes after he checked into a local motel with her early this morning, police said. A police colonel said the shooting appeared to have been accidental.

Cedeno, who fled from the scene in his sports car, turned himself into police headquarters about 10 a.m. (EST) and was being held for questioning.

The police colonel, who asked not to be identified, told newsmen at an impromptu press conference that Cedeno was " very drunk" and apparently had mistakenly fired a shot from a 45 caliber pistol, shattering the head of Altragracia de la Cruz.

Cedeno's American wife, Cora, of Houston, was at the couple's Santo Domingo home at the time, the colonel said.

He said police would decide later Tuesday whether Cedeno would be charged with any crime, but indicated the 22-year-old hallplayer would not be accused of first degree murder.

Carlos Hernandez, an employe of the Keko Motel where the shooting occurred, in one of the poorer sections of the city, said Cedeno and the young woman had checked into the room about 2 a.m. and telephoned for a bottle of beer. Between five and 10 minutes later, he heard the shot, Hernandez said. He said Cedeno telephoned the motel office to report he had shot Miss de la Cruz and then left in his sports car.

While Cedeno was alone when he turned himself into police, his mother and father arrived shortly thereafter. Reporters did not see his wife at the police station. Friends and curiosity seekers had also gathered at the downtown station.

Cedeno has not played in the Dominican Baseball League winter season this year because of a leg ailment.

He had complained to police two days ago about the theft of $5,000 worth of jewelry from his motel room.

Cedeno, the National League's all-star centerfielder in 1972, batted .320 for the Astros each of the last two seasons, and in 1973 his mark was second only to league batting champion Pete Rose. Cedeno stole 56 bases last season and his 168 hits included 35 doubles and 25 home runs. He drove in 70 runs.

Frequently compared to Willie Mays by former Houston Manager Leo Durocher, who managed Mays in New York when Mays was a young player with the Giants, Cedeno broke into the majors in 1970 at age 19 and hit .310 in his rookie season.

He led the NL with 40 doubles in 1971, when he batted .264. In 1972 he shared the lead in doubles with 39, scored 103 runs and drove in 82 runs, his career high.

Local stadiums get CIF games

Temple City will play North (Riverside) for the CIF 2-A football championship at Mt. San Antonio College Friday night, it was announced Monday by the CIF office.

Citrus College will host the 3-A title match between Monrovia and Crescenta Valley. In the other games, Los Altos and Crespi will play for the 4-A championship at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum while Paso Robles travels to Imperial for the 1-A game at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The 4-A, 3-A and 2-A games will start at 8 p.m. Friday.

Slumping Lakers start trip

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The slumping Los Angeles Lakers open a three-game road trip here tonight, hoping to break a three-game losing streak.

Losses to Seattle, Golden State and Capital during a long weekend have put the Lakers one-half game behing the Warriors in the NBA's Pacific Division. Los Angeles has lost five of its last six games.

The Lakers, who return home next week for games with Milwaukee and Boston, have been slowed by injuries recently. Bill Bridges has missed 13 games with muscle spasms, Jerry West is nursing a reinjured abdominal muscle pull and Stan Love missed the Bullets' game Sunday with a hip injury.

The Lakers, at 17-12, now have the fifth best record in the Western Conference, ranking behing Milwaukee, Chicago, Golden State and Detroit. To make the post-season playoffs, they would have to finish in the top four.

The Lakers travel to Detroit Wednesday night and close out the road trip in Chicago on Friday. They return home Sunday to host Boston, the Atlantic Division leader, and then play Milwaukee, leader in the Midwest Division, on Tuesday.

Las Vegas impressive

North Carolina wins big

By United Press International

Things went as expected for fourth-ranked North Carolina Monday night but not for No. 8 Providence.

North Carolina, sparked by Olympian Bobby Jones' 21 points, blasted Kentucky 101-84, the Wildcats' third straight loss. Jones also had 12 rebounds and four assists. Kevin Grevey had 23 points to lead Kentucky, which has never lost four games in a row.

Providence was stunned by Western Kentucky's unbeaten Hilltoppers 89-84. Mike Odems had 20 points, Johnny Britt 18 and Ray Bowerman 16 as Western Kentucky took the lead with six minutes left and then played rugged defense the rest of the way.

Kevin Stacom had 19 points for the Friars and star Marvin Barnes was held to 16.

In the only other game involving a ranked team, Alabama (No. 11) overcame cold first half shooting to down Virginia Tech 75-64. The Tide hit only 32.6 per cent in the first half but took the lead with 11 minutes left on Charles Cleveland's tipin. Alabama then hit eight straight points to break open the game.

Elsewhere, William Johnson's 12-foot jump shot with 25 seconds left lifted Texas Tech to a 75-73 upset of Houston, the Cougars' first home loss after 31 straight victories. Johnson had 18 points while Louis Dunbar, who missed a shot with eight seconds left, had 28 for Houston.

Nevada-Las Vegas, which figures to be one of the nation's top cage powers once its freshmen stars get a little experience, may have already jelled into an awesome team.

The Rebels hit 57 per cent from the field to win at Oklahoma City 84-59 Monday night with Bob Florence leading the way with 29 points.

Some more of the West's best get into the act tonight when 12th-ranked Long Beach State hosts Loyola and PCAA contender Pacific calls on WCAC contender Santa Clara.

Elsewhere Monday, Nevada-Reno took its third straight road loss after opening the season with two dazzling wins, including an upset at Stanford. Utah State bounced the Wolf Pack 91-75 with Dave Webber scoring 17 for the losers but fouling out with about nine minutes to go.

UC-Santa Barbara, another PCAA toughie, made it three in a row with a 68-66 squeaker over Southern Methodist. Freshman Tex Walker came off the bench to hit 14 and lead the Gauchos.

Pepperdine played well at Dayton but lost 69-61 even though the Waves made half their shots from the floor. Pepperdine, now 0-4, was led by Allen Jones with 20 points and 14 rebounds.

Kings attempt to snap jinx

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Winners of three straight games after snapping a 10-game winless string, the Los Angeles Kings attempt to break another winless streak here tonight.

Los Angeles, which tied the North Stars 1-1 at the Forum last Dec. 1, has not beaten Minnesota since March of 1970. In 20 contests, they have lost 17 and tied three.

The Kings and goalie Rogie Vachon shut out Atlanta 3-0 Sunday for their third win in a row. They are now 8-14-4 for 20 points, ranked in fifth place in the NHL West.

The Kings return home Thursday night to host the New York Islanders. They meet Montreal at the Forum on Saturday.

Wooden remaining calm about N.C. State

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Saturday's showdown between college basketball powers UCLA and North Carolina State is exciting most cage fans but UCLA's John Wooden is remaining calm about the whole thing.

Wooden told the Southern California Basketball Writers he is approaching the game between the nation's top-ranked teams the same as any other game. In fact, Wooden even gave his team a day off from practice Monday.

"With just one game this week, I thought it would be wise to take a day off," Wooden explained. "We want to win this game, of course, but I don't believe it is as important to us as it is to North Carolina State."

UCLA will be risking its 78-game win streak while the Wolfpack carries a 29-game streak. Both teams enjoyed undefeated seasons last year but never met since N.C. State was on NCAA probation.

"This is a different year, a different team," Wooden answered a question if Saturday's game will prove who was best last year.

Wooden doesn't feel his Bruins are playing as well this season. Asked if UCLA is as strong now as it was at the end of last year, the veteran coach said, "Goodness, no. We're not as good right now as we were at this time last year, let alone at the end of the campaign. We lost a lot when Larry Farmer and Larry Hollyfield graduated."

Wooden stressed the conference games take top priority. "We want to be at our top strength when we open conference play," he said.

But Wooden admitted Saturday's game might be different if the situation was reversed. "But they're not reversed and I hope we can keep it that way," he grinned.

Long Beach State's Leonard Gray was selected the University Player of the Week for making 11 of 18 shots and grabbing 24 rebounds in the 49ers' games at Colorado and San Francisco.

The 49ers (2-1) were upset at Colorado but came back to nip San Francisco on the road. Long Beach hosts Loyola tonight then travels to Canisius Thursday and Long Island Saturday in an Eastern trip.

"I thought the 30-second clock at Colorado was great," Long Beach coach Lute Olson said. "It gave the crowd a super game to watch."

USC coach Bob Boyd is concerned about the Trojans' shooting. "I am surprised we are shooting only 44 per cent," he said. "It alarms me. Bruce Clark has been our most surprising player. His good start this seaason should give him the confidence to have a big year."

The Trojans (2-1) host Santa Clara Friday night and Arizona State Saturday night at the Sports Arena.

Loyola's Dave Benaderet had some kind words about sophomore Don Bartell, a Damien High graduate.

"Bartell will be playing more," he said. "While Don doesn't look that impressive to some people, he is a smart player. We will be depending on him."

Cal State Los Angeles' Bob Miller is pleased with the play of freshman Terry Tate and Michael Ingram plus the efforts of Citrus College transfer Willie Jackson.

"Potentially, we could have our best team," Miller said.

Ohio State's Hicks judged best lineman

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Hicks of Ohio State, winner of the 1973 Outland Trophy as the nation's best interior lineman, added another coveted prize to his list Monday when he was named college football's Lineman of the Year by the United Press International.

The 6-3, 258-pound senior offensive tackle was a runaway winner in the balloting of 150 sportswriters and sportscasters from across the nation. He received 84 votes to easily outdistance middle guard Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma, who got 32 votes.

Randy Crowder of Penn State, a defensive tackle, was third with six votes and middle guard Tony Christiani of Miami (Fla.) was fourth with four votes.

Hicks, whose powerful blocking was integral in the Buckeyes' outstanding running attack, received the highest rating marks of any Ohio State lineman in nine of the team's 10 games.

Stags, Sagehens, Leos keep busy

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

All three local members of the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) are at home tonight in non-conference games.

Claremont-Mudd (2-3) hosts Chapman College (0-3) in a change of schedule. It was previously announced that Cal Lutheran would be the opponent.

Across campus, Pomona-Pitzer (2-2) takes on Southern California College. In La Verne, the Leopards (0-2) meet the University of San Diego (1-3) at Bonita High.

C-M will be out to break a two-game losing string. Chapman has lost 23 straight. After going 2-1 the first week of play and defeating Biola and Cal Baptist to take third place in the Redlands Tournament, the Stags dropped a return engagement with the Lancers at C-M last Tuesday and then "turned over" an 81-80 loss to Pt. Loma (formerly Pasadena College) in San Diego Saturday night.

The biggest problem facing Ted Ducy probably is to see that his team has forgotten the frustrating loss in San Diego and is not thinking ahead to Friday night's encounter with Azusa Pacific, another "return engagement."

At Pomona College's Memorial Gym, Les Nagler will send his young team against an SCC team that thus far hasn't shown the stregth flashed last year.

Nagler will start the same lineup that was so successful Saturday night in dealing Cal Lutheran an 81-64 loss in Thousand Oaks.

Norm Carter will again be back at guard where he starred last year. Carter will be paired with 5-8 freshman playmaker Scott Pease.

Bob Hoehn, a 6-6 sophomore transfer from the University of Arizona by way of the U.S. Navy, will be at one forward with Brandon Boyd at the other and freshman Geoff Northrup at center.

Oddly, the lineup Saturday was not the one Nagler had planned. Originally he had decided to start 6-7 junior Dave Coleman at center and move Northrup to forward with Boyd. Garry Steward (6-1) was slated to start with the 6-2 Carter at guard as Nagler sought to get as much height as possible into the lineup to improve the Sagehens rebounding.

However, Coleman was ill and could not play so Hoehn was inserted at forward. Nagler knew the Kingsmen would be using the zone defense and wanted the playmaking ability of the 5-8 Pease in the lineup.

"We'll go with this group of starters as long as we continue to play like we did, especially in the second half, Saturday night," Nagler said.

At Bonita high, La Verne will be playing its first game in a week when the Leopards take on USD. "I thought it would be better for our young players to be able to get in a lot of practice rather than playing a lot of games early in the season," remarked coach Art Bias.

Although the Toreros have won but once, they pose a much more erious threat than their record would indicate. The losses have been to San Francisco, San Jose State and Whittier.

Prep roundup

Pomona, Upland both win

Pomona and Upland opened the Corona-Norco Tourney with wins, Chaffey edged South Hills, and Ontario surprised Montclair in Monday's basektball action.

Pomona dumped Redlands 83-75 in a high-scoring affair, Upland routed outclassed La Sierra 81-45, Chaffey went into overtime to beat South Hills 65-64, while Ontario bested Montclair by a 65-56 count.

Derrick Thomas, Mike Yarbourough, and Jerome Holliman led the Devils to the tourney win. Yarbourough led a big third quarter effort for Pomona, as he scored nine of the Devils 24 points in that period. Terry Catum and Mark Modes each had 17 for the losers.

The Devils will now face Alta Loma today at 4 p.m. in second round action. Alta Loma got by Moreno Valley 75-71 in Monday's opener.

Upland had no trouble at all in besting La Sierra. The Highlanders opened a 29-12 first quarter advantage and coasted from that point. Curt Oldenkamp led all scorers with 17 points, 12 of those in the big first period.

Stu DuVall added 14 more for Upland, while Ken Weekes came off the bench to toss in eight points.

Upland will continue play in the tourney against co-host Norco at 5:30 p.m. Norco bested Nogales 69-65 in Monday's game.

Chaffey used two free throws by Mike Partington to tie South Hills with three seconds remaining in regulation time. Harley Stark then hit for three overtime points while reserve guard Rick Antoni threw in the game-winning hoop for the Tigers.

Chaffey is now 4-2 on the season and will face Ontario High on Friday.

Ontario, behind a 20-point effort by Jim Donaldson, downed Montclair 65-56 in a game played at Ontario High.

The Jaguars trailed at the half 28-25 but put together a 22-14 advantage in the third quarter. Donaldson was responsible for 10 of those points.

Larry Guess added 12 for Ontario, while Gerard Bryant led the Montclair scoring with 16 points. Ontario won its' first game of the year, and now holds a 1-2 mark. Montclair drops to a 2-3 ledger.

The Cavaliers will travel to Azusa to participate in the Azusa Tourney, opening Wednesday against Rosemead at 6:30 p.m.

Royals drop doubleheader

POMONA — The Pomona Royals, a girls softball team, dropped both ends of a doubleheader Saturday against the Anaheim Imperials.

The Royals, who are now 3-17 for the season, lost a 12-7 decision in the first game and then were trimmed, 13-11, in the nightcap.

Both games the Royals held a lead only to see it disappear in the final inning.

Pomona took a 3-1 lead after the first inning of the first game and led by a 7-6 margin going into the last inning. Anaheim then exploded for six runs in the seventh to win.

The Royals had a 9-7 lead going into the last inning of the nightcap, but again Anaheim came up with six runs in the final frame to pull it out.

Odette Simpson went three-for-four at the plate for the Royals in the second game, driving in two runs and also stealing two bases. Dorothy Dunn, who went one-for-three in the first game, had one hit in two at bats in the nightcap, driving in a pair of runs and sacrificing once.

The Royals will now face Mission Viejo at 1 p.m. Saturday in Mission Viejo.

Cavs, Tigers win in soccer

Both Montclair and Chaffey came away winners in Monday's soccer action. Montclair downed Azusa 3-0 in the Cavaliers first game of the young season, while Chaffey scored a 6-3 Inland League win over Riverside Poly.

Rick Adams, Edison Singulingga, and Chou-Wa Pae scored the goals for Montclair, while goalie Frank Garcia posted the shutout. Singulingga is a transfer from Indonesia while Pae is from South Korea.

Jack Castillon and Doug Holsclaw scored two goals apiece to lead the Tigers to victory, while Jeff Roper and Tony Jordan tallied once each. The win gives Chaffey a 1-0 mark in league and the Tigers stand at 2-3 for the season.

Montclair and Chaffey will face one another Wednesday in a contest scheduled for 3:00 p.m. at Montclair High.

Poly stages fund dinner

POMONA — Cal Poly will stage its second annual scholarship fund raising dinner this evening at Griswold's Inn in Claremont.

The dinner, sponsored by the Cal Poly Associates, will help raise funds for athletic scholarships at the university. The evening begins at 6:30 p.m.

Actor Ed Nelson, president of the Associates, will serve as the master of ceremonies.

Efforts were made to have Floyd Little, star running back the Denver Broncos, present tonight but the plans were cancelled because of the Broncos' championship showdown at Oakland Sunday.

Ken Myer, who serves on Chuck Knox's staff with the Los Angeles Rams, is slated to be present with Gordon Maddox, who helped cover the 1972 Munich Olympics for ABC-TV, and Olympic sprinter Barbara Farrell.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
T.S. No. 73-12483

On January 10, 1974, at 10:00 A.M., FEDERAL NATIONAL MORTGAGE ASSOCIATION as duly appointed Trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust dated October 25, 1972 recorded November 1, 1972, as inst. No. 2422, in book T7883, page 489, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, State of California, will sell at public auction to highest bidder for cash (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) at the entrance of the Los Angeles County Courthouse at 501 West First Street, in the City of Los Angeles, California, all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property situated in said County and State described as:

Lot 11 of Block "L" of Grigsby Court, as per map recorded in Book 7, pages 66 and 67 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 685 North Reservoir Street, Pomona, California 91767.

The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein.

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, to-wit: $18,952.60, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

Leads to 'maxi-maxi' prisons?

Prison rules get tougher

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — Saying the "slayings are over," corrections officials today began evaluating the "safety factor" of 8,000 inmates before easing a general week-long lockup at four of California's toughest prisons.

A San Quentin Prison spokesman said about 500 inmates a day would be classified on "how safe we feel they can be," a process that will take about a week.

"We hope to end the lockup as soon as the classification is completed," the spokesman said.

Similar procedures began at Folsom, Soledad and the Deuel Vocational Institute, where officials suspended inmate privileges Dec. 1 in a "get tough" move to end a series of over 300 stabbings and 56 deaths in the past three years.

A new "operation" plan to beef up security at Folsom Prison was scheduled to go into effect Tuesday. Other controls include dispensing medicine at a guarded office instead of the hospital, changing evening classes to daytime, only allowing showers every other day instead of daily and eliminating cargo traffic in the main security area.

"Things will probably never be normal again," said Folsom's warden, J.B. Gunn. The plan must be ratified by the State Department of Corrections.

Some easing of restrictions took place during the weekend with Folsom allowing prisoners into the exercise yard on a "controlled basis" with extra guards. At Deuel, inmates were allowed television privileges.

Protests have mounted over the clampdown on prisoners' rights. Jessica Mitford, author "Kind and Usual Punishment" said the tough policy was designed to lead to the building of a maxi-maxi" prison to replace San Quentin, a charge that was denied by officials.

A march and rally was held in San Francisco Sunday by 80 supporters of a move to get better treatment for homosexual inmates.

An organization called "Inside out" said 15,000 signatures would be presented to the state calling for an end ot the practice of denying parole to homosexuals, an end to involuntary segregation of gay inmates, equal access to recreation and job training programs, and the right to form gay social, religious and political organizations within the prisons.

State Corrections Director Raymond Procunier initiated the tough restrictions at the four prisons following the slaying of a guard Nov. 27 at Deuel. He blamed inmate rival gangs for much of the violence.

"From now on, we're going to go back to running these place instead of the inmates running them for us," said Procunier. "The slayings are over."

Flournoy keynote speaker at LVC Associates dinner

LA VERNE — Houston I. Flournoy, state controller and Republican candidate for governor, will be the keynote speaker at La Verne College's annual Associates Dinner Thursday at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles.

The dinner is held in appreciation of those who have given continuing financial support to the college.

Master of ceremonies for the evening will be Jay Rodriguez, a native of La Verne, who is administrator of community relations for KNBC-TV.

Entertainment will be provided by member of the Hui 'O Hawaii Club, a group of Hawaiian students performing nattive music.

Griswold's
"Where Food is Made with Butter 'n' Love"

The outdoor lights may be missing, but the holiday spirit is really noticable. Griswold's bakers are experimenting with new tempting decorated dessert ideas. The gift shops are filled with gifts, cards, and food packs to brighten everyone's holidays. The Smorgasbords are getting ready for their delightful traditional Swedish dinners from Dec. 19 to 23.

The Old School House in Claremont will celebrate Las Posadas. This tradition from Mexico is a candlelight procession depicting Mary and Joseph's journey into Bethlehem and their search for shelter. After the procession, a joyous breaking of the pinata sets the children scrambling for candy treats. Las Posadas is celebrated nightly from 6:30-7:00 Dec. 16-23.

Life harder at Folsom Prison

FOLSOM (UPI) — A week-long general lockup at Folsom Prison has ended, but Warden J.B. Gunn says tough new security measures are soon to follow.

The proposed restrictions, which will take effect Tuesday if approved by state Corrections Director Raymond Procunier, will impose more stringent controls on prison work areas, showers and the general movement of inmates.

The round-the-clock lock at Folsom was relaxed during the weekend, with inmates being permitted into the yards on a "controlled" basis. Duty Officer Rudy Esposti Sunday said the prisoners acted in "exemplary fashion."

The new Folsom restrictions were in line with Procunier's new get-tough policy, announced following the Nov. 27 slaying of a guard at Deuel Vocational Institution.

They call for greatly increased security manpower, and this means "people working overtime on their days off," Gunn said.

Among other things, evening school classes will be held during the day, prisoner will shower every other day instead of daily, medicine will be dispensed from an office facing the main yard instead of at the hospital, and vehicle traffic into the main security area will be eliminated.

La Puerta offers Yule concert

CLAREMONT— Students at La Puerta Intermediate School will present their annual Christmas concert Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the school, 2475 Forbes Ave.

The chorus will sing "March of the Three Kings," "What Child is This?' and "Little Drummer Boy," and will be accompanied at the piano by Rebecca Rose, an eighth-grader.

The Intermediate Band, composed of students from La Puerta and El Roble schools, will play "Silver Bells," "Its a Small World," and "Ding, Dong, Merrily on High."

Alcoholism and teens is topic

CLAREMONT — "Alcoholism and the Teen-ager" will be the topic of discussion for the Claremont Coordinating Council meeting Wednesday noon at Griswold's.

The San Gabriel Valley Alcoholism Council will present a film on alcoholism among teenagers.

Suspect arson in $350,000 blaze

5 firemen hurt as Woolworth gutted

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — An early morning blaze swept through the F.W. Woolworth Store on the Pomona Mall today, causing an estimated damage of $350,000 to the building and its contents.

It was the largest fire of the year here, and firemen said they suspected arson.

They said their suspicion was based on investigation showing that the fire started in two locations about 30 feet apart—one along the north wall of the building and the other along the wall in front of the stairway leading to the basement.

Investigators said they also were sifting through the rubble searching for flammable material which may have been left near the origin of the fire.

Fire Inspector Tom Fee said the possibility of arson was strengthened by the string of fires which had broken out in the downtown area during the past several months.

The fire broke out some time after 3 a.m. It was spotted at 3:32 by Police Officer Jim Holmes, who was patrolling the area, and he turned in the alarm. The fire was contained at 4:05 a.m. and was finally extinguished less than an hour later.

In addition to a dozen units from the Pomona Fire Department, help came from Montclair, Chino, La Verne, Ontario and Claremont. Some 45 firefighters battled the blaze at its height, according to Fire Chief John Fowlkes.

Five firemen were injured, two requiring attention at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Treated for second and third degree burns were Capt. Junius Murray. Cut by flying glass and requiring stitches on his hand was Capt. Ed Butler. Treated on the scene for minor cuts were Firemen Bill Travis, engineer Ted Fleetwood and Capt. Richard Moore.

Fire Chief Fowlkes said when the first units arrived under the command of Battalion Chef Paul Murphy, it found the flames already at full force.

He said the doors and windows were locked and the firemen were attempting to force the back door open when pressure from the inside blew out a panel of glass in the rear. As the air rushed into the store, the front glass pane exploded moments later. By the time firemen got inside, everything on the main floor was in shambles.

However, the firefighters were able to confine the fire to the main floor. The second floor, where the store offices are, suffered only heat and smoke damage. The basement which was equipped with automatic sprinklers, sustained only water damage, according to the fire chief.

An intensive effort on the part of the firemen kept the blaze confined to the Woolworth building. There was only minor smoke damage reported to the exterior of the building housing the John P. Evans store.

The estimate of the damage was set by Gary Pleman, manager of the store. Investigators were attempting to locate the owner of the building, Edwin S. Naly of Los Angeles this morning.

The fire was the second one at the same Woolworth location within 14 years. The Woolworth company had rebuilt and modernized the store after a blaze virtually destroyed it in 1959, according to fire department records.

Today's blaze was the second major fire here within nine days. The fire department is still investigating the possibility of arson in a $110,000 conflagaration which burned down a city-owned building Dec. 1 at First and Gordon streets.

The two fires are part of a string of seven large and small blazes in the downtown area during the past six months and Fee said today that he and his men are sifting through the rubble for evidence that might tie the latest fire to the others.

High praise was given to the fire department for the work it did today by

Yule energy ruling

Indoor lighting OK, outdoor no

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans may use indoor Christmas tree lights this holiday season, but ornamental lighting of private residences as well as commercial lighting, is banned, the nation's energy chief, William E. Simon, said today.

In a statement, Simon said he felt a ban on indoor Christmas tree lights "would be carrying energy conservation above and beyond the call of duty."

But he said "promotional, display, and ornamental lighting by commercial establishments, and ornamental lighting of homes and apartments will be banned as soon as I receive the authority to enforce this regulation."

Simon urged families to "turn off lighting in other parts of the house to compensate for electricity to be used to light Christmas trees."

He also urged "everyone to eliminate exterior lights around their homes this holiday season, and to limit the use of Christmas tree lights to those times when the family is together for the holiday festivities."

House ties Jews leaving Soviet Union to U.S. loans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted today to cut off all U. S. loans to the Soviet Union until Jews and other minorities are allowed to leave Russia freely.

The credit ban was attached to a landmark trade reform bill which already included a section to deny President Nixon the right to lower tariffs on Soviet goods — through the granting of "most favored nation" trade status—until the Soviets allowed free emigration.

The trade sanctions, introduced by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, apply to all Communist countries except Poland and Yugoslavia, but are aimed mainly at Moscow.

The cutoff of credits, if finally enacted, would be a blow to the Soviet economy because experts say the Kremlin relies heavily on U. S. credits through the Export-Import-Bank and the Commodity Credit Corporation.

But President Nixon has let it be known that he would veto the trade bill if it contained such restrictive amendments.

In the past year, the Soviets have received $250 million in U. S. credits. The Commodity Credit Corporation aided the Soviets in the controversial 1972 grain deal.

Energy revisions brighten U.S. picture

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The President's top economic adviser said today the country may be somewhat better off in energy than predicted.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, told a subcommittee of Congress' Joint Economic Committee that the administration would amend its estimates in a few days.

"The calculations which we at the Council of Economic Advisers have made about the economic impact of the shortage are based on estimates available last week," Stein said.

"In the last few days there has been some information suggesting that the shortage may be smaller than we have thought.

If so, that would certainly be good news and would call for some revision of the estimates."

Some oil industry officials are said to have estimated the oil shortage this winter at considerably less than the administration has estimated.

However, a top spokesman for the industry warned today that whatever the severity of the shortage, it will not end when winter is over.

Frank N. Ikard, president of the American Petroleum Institute, predicted the United States will be short of fuel "this winter, next winter and the winter after that."

"We are going to have to go on an energy diet ... The party is over, and there won't be another for a long, long time," Ikard said.

Both public and private officials stressed that shortages would not end when Arab oil begins to flow to the United States again. Saudi Arabia's oil minister suggested that the embargo on U. S. oil could end within a month, provided Israel pulled back from Arab lands.

Playboy sues pair over ban on mag

CHICAGO (UPI) — Playboy Enterprises is suing two Shelbyville, Ky., officials, claiming a ban on the sale of "Playboy" and "Oui" magazines in Shelbyville is unconstitutional.

Tight security as Kissinger's life threatened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States received reports of a possible assassination attempt against Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger during his European and Middle East tour, prompting tight security precautions, it was discosed today.

Extraordinary security measures —including arming of guards with submachine guns —were taken at London's Heathrow Airport prior to Kissinger's arrival later today from Brussels where he attended North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) talks.

Official U. S. sources said reports of a threat on Kissinger's life came from foreign intelligence sources. They refused to say how much validity the Secret Service attached to the reports, but noted that such threats could never be taken lightly.

Neither the Secret Service nor the State Department would comment on the reported plot.

Unusually heavy security measures were noted around Kissinger in Brussels, and he was not seen nearly as much in public as usual.

In London, an airport security source said the airport guard was "bigger than anything laid on for President Nixon" during a short stop there in 1969.

Washington officials said the warning of a plot against Kissinger was received shortly before he left Saturday for his two-week tour of 11 European and Middle East capitals, and security planning for the usually free-wheeling secretary was quickly intensified.

It's official; Rocky will quit

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today he is resigning in a move that most political observers viewed as a prelude to a quest for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination.

The governor, however, denied he was actively seeking the presidency. However, he left dangling any decision on seeking the GOP nomination by saying it would be late 1975 before he made up his mind.

Rockefeller said he will step down Dec. 18 and Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson would be sworn in the same day.

CHP ready for blockade by truckers

CLAREMONT — Officers at the California Highway Patrol office here are prepared should any truck blockages occur on local freeways.

"We will ask the drivers of any stopped trucks to move their rigs. If they fail to comply, the drivers will be arrested and their trucks will be towed away," said Lt. Kenneth Warren.

Should such incidents occur, the office plans to use every available officer. This would include calling in off-duty personnel, he added.

In addition, officers would receive assistance from city police and sheriff's deputies.

"Our concern is to keep the freeways open and the traffic moving," emphasized Warren.

The statement was in response to a threat by some truckers of tying up the Southern California freeway system today.

Police said their intelligence reports had warned them that the chief probable target is the Newhall Pass area into the San Fernando Valley and the "stack," the downtown interchange where the Hollywood, Santa Ana, Pasadena and Harbor freeways come together.

Linked to White Front burglary

Tip foils Upland robbery; 2 suspects held

UPLAND — The arrest of two men attempting to rob Ralph's Sporting Goods store, 305 N. Second Ave. Monday evening led to recovery of a large amount of property stolen from the Ontario White Front Store last week in a burglary, police reported.

Stephen Vincent Bahl, 21, of Alhambra, and Leonard Joseph Popowich, 19, of 515 E. Fifth St., Ontario, were arrested by Upland Police Officers Coy Estes, Virgil Bramlett and Robert Smeaton inside the Upland sporting goods store about 6:30 p.m.

Lt. Estes reported that the two men were observed inside the store wearing ski masks and jackets by officers after they were called to the scene by the store owner's wife.

According to Upland police, Mrs. Ralph Laycock called the police department when she observed a "weird" man walk into the store wearing a ski mask. Mrs. Laycock, suspecting a robbery, went into the back room of the store and called the police.

The officers, while searching the suspects, found a sawed-off rifle and a sawed-off shotgun. A check of the serial numbers on the weapons revealed that they had been stolen in a burglary at the White Front Store in Ontario last week.

Detective Capt. Howard Seay said this morning that the two men, after their arrest on suspicion of armed robbery, admitted to the White Front store burglary. The burglars there sawed a hole in the roof and lowered themselves into the sporting goods department. More than $3,000 worth of rifles, shotguns, sleeping bags, ammunition, stereo receivers and stereo components were taken.

Ontario Police Detective Roger Remlinger said after talking to the suspects at the Upland Police Department, that officers went to 1161 W. I St. in Ontario, and recovered more of the stolen White Front property. Later police made arrangements with several people suspected to receiving some of the stolen White Front property to return it to a local police or sheriff's department. A few hours later several of the stolen weapons turned up in the bushes near the West End sheriff's substation.

Remlinger said this morning that the department expects to recover most of the property stolen in the White Front burglary.

The two suspects in the case are booked in the West End Jail this morning on suspicion of armed robbery and being in possession of illegal weapons.

Poll shows Reagan, Ted have big leads

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Democratic Sen. Edward Kennedy now have "sizeable" leads in popularity with the voters for their party's presidential nomination in 1976, the California Poll said today.

Nixon, GOP chiefs map '74 election strategy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon conferred today with key Republican strategists to weigh the impact of Watergate on GOP chances in the 1974 congressional elections and his possible role in the campaign.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford, who is expected to play an active role in the campaign, also participated in the meeting, which was requested by GOP National Chairman George Bush.

Also at the session were Sen. William Brock, R-Tenn., chairman of the Republican Senate Campaign Committee, and Rep. Bob Michel, R-Ill., his House counterpart.

"We are laying the ground work for the congressional campaign," a Republican National Committee spokesman said of the session.

In advance of the White House meeting, Bush said he thinks the Republicans are going to "confound the critics and pundits" in the midterm elections and "hold our own, pick up seats."

"Don't judge the '74 elections by some crisis of the moment on Watergate," Bush said, adding that "gut issues" such as the end of the draft, the energy situation, joblessness and the cost of living will prove more important.

Bush was interviewed on the Public Broadcasting Service.

A presidential spokesman said Nixon was interested in "Republicans being elected" in congressional elections. He said Nixon's role was still in the development stage and that participation of the President in a campaign "takes many forms."

In addition to the meeting on election strategy, Nixon invited Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., to the Oval Office later, along with two Texas organizers of a group called the Committee to Support the President, Othal Brand and James Griffin.

The White House meeting apparently was hastily arranged. Bush was in Texas for a fund raising event when it as announced Monday and Brock flew in from Tennessee to attend.

This was the first party meeting in which Nixon has taken an active role in assessing GOP chances in the forthcoming elections. The election will be held during a year when the possibility of impeachment of Nixon is being examined and while there is some feeling within his own party that he should resign.

Brock is on record as saying that as a result of Watergate, the voters will be interested in looking at the candidate instead of the party.

A few potential candidates like Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., who had considered opposing Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., have tested the political water and decided not to risk it. So far Stevenson is unopposed in the November election.

The presidency is not at stake in the election but there is a question among the party leaders whether Nixon should actively campaign for Republican candidates next year. Ford is expected to hit the road early in support of the GOP contendors.

Some Republican sources express little hope of winning control of the Senate where Democrats outnumber them by 57 to 43 or the House where the Democrats have a majority of 243 to 190.

Their strategy apparently will be aimed at holding down their losses and keeping the seats they already have.

NO CONCESSION TO POLICE

Gov. Francis W. Sargent Monday vetoed a bill to reinstitute capital punishment in Massachusettes. Here Sargent is shown in Boston State House earlier as he faced some 300 police officers demanding he sign a bill restoring the death penalty. Many of them had attended funeral of slain Boston officer.

In arrest cases

Police can search with no warrant, court rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 6 to 3 today that police can thoroughly search a person under arrest without a warrant.

In an opinion by Justice William H. Rehnquist, the court said search in such a situation need not be governed entirely by whether the arrested person may be armed or whether he may possess evidence of a crime.

The court in 1968 established standards for a reasonable search when cause for arrest does not exist. But Rehnquist said those standards do not apply in the case of an actual arrest.

Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall dissented. The three usually stand together in individual liberties cases.

The ruling came in two cases challenging searches under the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution, which protects individuals against "unreasonable searches and seizures."

Rehnquist said in the case of a lawful custodial arrest a full search of the person is an exception to the warrant requirement and is also a legally "reasonable" search.

Conflicting decisions in Florida and the District of Columbia involved traffic violators who were found to have either marijuana or heroin in their clothing.

The Florida case concerned the arrest in Eau Gallie of a man named James E. Gustafson for driving without a license. When he was searched, marijuana was found on him.

The same type of situation occurred in Washington when Willie Robinson Jr. was arrested for driving after his license had been revoked. Heroin was found on him when he was searched.

The U. S. Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia ruled 5 to 4 that the search of Robinson had gone too far—that it should have been confined to a patdown for weapons permitted in nonarrest investigations.

The Florida Supreme Court ruled the opposite way in the case from that state.

In a dissenting opinion, Marshall said the court majority was turning back on fundamental principles that had characterized Supreme Court opinions under the Fourth Amendment over the years.

"The majority's approach represents a clear and marked departure from our long tradition of case-by-case adjudication of the reasonableness of searches and seizures under the Fourth Amendment," Marshall's dissent said.

Hughes link with Nixon's brothers key to Watergate?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators believe the motive behind the Watergate break-in may have been information linking President Nixon's brothers with billionaire Howard Hughes rather than intelligence on Democratic political strategy.

They also say that F. Donald Nixon, one of the President's brothers, was put under electronic surveillance by the administration because of his contacts with Hughes associates.

Transcripts filed in U.S. District Court Monday advanced the theory that the break-in was related to a number of matters involving Hughes, including reports that his associates wanted the federal government to stop nuclear testing in Nevada.

The transcripts, verbatim accounts of secret testimony given the Senate Watergate committee by several Hughes aides, were part of a suit to block further executive session interviews with 16 Hughes associates who have been subpoenaed.

The transcripts advance the theory that the June 17, 1972, break-in, paid for by Nixon reelection campaign funds, was intended to learn what information then Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien had concerning business dealings between Hughes and F. Donald Nixon and Edward C. Nixon, the President's brothers.

The committee papers indicate the burglars were also looking for information O'Brien had on allegations that Hughes associates tried to influence the Nixon administration in three areas: the dropping of an antitrust suit blocking expansion of Hughes' Las Vegas empire, presidential approval of the sale of Air West airlines to Hughes, and an attempt to stop AEC tests in Nevada.

It has been alleged that Hughes associates gave $100,000 to Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, which coincided with favorable government decisions.

O'Brien had been a partner in a West Coast advertising agency that represented Hughes Tool Co.

According to the transcript, Samuel L. Dash, chief committee counsel, said in the secret session:

"Mr. O'Brien's files were the subject of search in the breakin of the Democratic National Committee. It now appears from testimony that we are receiving that the relationship that Mr. O'Brien has with the Hughes Tool Co...and his own personal knowledge of any relationship between (Hughes former aide) John Meier and Mr. Donald Nixon...may have been the basis and reason for the break-in...and for the wiretapping on Mr. O'Brien."

Wages, prices freed

Lift auto industry curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a major step toward lessening control of the economy, the Cost of Living Council (CLC) has lifted wage-price controls from the automobile industry in return for a promise from most car makers to hold the line on small car prices.

It was by far the biggest action to date in the CLC's steady campaign to wind down the two year old stabilization program without kicking off a new round of inflation.

The move was expected to give a boost to the battered stock market, since performance of the auto industry has vast repercussions for the overall economy.

The council's surprise announcement Monday included an unusual "commitment" from the bulk of the industry that one of the Big Four manufacturers, Chrysler Corp., refused to sign.

However, the other three— General Motors, Ford Motor Co. and American Motors Co.— pledged to boost retail prices on their 1974 model compact cars by a maximum $150 and not to raise vehicle prices again during the model year "unless forced to by unforeseen major economic events."

Ford and GM also agreed to limit increases in wholesale prices—what dealers pay the manufacturer for new cars—to no more than $150 per vehicle and AMC said it would hold the line at $100.

"We tried to get Chrysler Corp. to make the same commitments the other companies did," said CLC director John T. Dunlop. "They decided not to do so."

Nevertheless, Dunlop said Chrysler would share in the benefits of decontrol, which include freedom from profit margin restraints and filing lengthy quarterly reports to the CLC.

"We believe the American consumer and the restraints of the market place will act to keep their (Chrysler's) prices in line," Dunlop said.

Chrysler Corp. said it did not join the others in their commitment because it could not agree with the council on the definition of a "major economic event." It said its cars would remain competitively priced.

The energy shortage, which has precipitated a sudden shift to smaller cars by consumers, was a key factor in designing the council's price plan. Without the small car ceiling, prices on economy models would likely jump far beyond the $150 limit since the demand is great and the supply scant.

"The ceilings ... will assure that buyers of small cars will not have to bear a disproportionate share of the price increases effected by the companies," Dunlop said.

Eternal flame for Viet vets turned off

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — An external flame lighted in March by a returned Vietnam prisoner of war was extinguished Sunday to conserve energy during the national fuel shortage.

Prosecution swept under rug to shield administration?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional subcommittee has been told that the federal government may have delayed prosecution of a black doctor for "grand larceny" of more than $1 million in federal funds to avoid "embarrassing" the Nixon administration.

Curtis Prins, chief investigator for the House Banking Committee, said Monday an audit of Dr. Thomas Matthew of New York City, conducted by the Small Business Administration (SBA), was turned over to the Justice Department for criminal action two years ago, but no federal action has been taken.

Prins charged that Matthew was selected by Nixon as a prime example of 'black capitalism" and that the President negotiated with Matthew through liaisons on his staff, especially Robert Finch, a former presidential adviser and secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He presented evidence indicating that Nixon decided to make Matthew's New York business ventures into a "pilot program" for black capitalism, and that the White House then organized a number of federal agencies to generate federal financial backing for Matthew.

The fund mobilization began in April, 1971, Prins said, under the direction of Anthony Chase, then deputy administrator of the SBA, and by June 23, 1971, some $1.8 in loans and contract assistance had been pledged to Matthew.

By November, 1971, it became apparent that the money was being mismanaged, and an SBA audit of Matthew's finances revealed "grand larcenies" of the federal money, Prins charged. It was then that the Matthew file was turned over to the Justice Department for criminal action, but no federal charges have been filed although the state of New York convicted Matthew on 61 counts of mismanagement of Medicaid money.

One memo offered in evidence by Prins involved a meeting between the New York district attorney who was prosecuting Matthew and Marvin Shelton, the SBA official who conducted the audit on Matthew. Shelton said the only reason the federal government was delaying prosecution of Matthew was "to avoid embarrassment to an administration that had paroled Matthew and held him out as an example of black capitalism."

Earlier testimony revealed that Nixon freed Matthew from jail on tax evasion convictions with a presidential pardon issued in late 1969.

Woolworth . . .

John Evans, owner of the men's store next door.

Evans said there was some fire loss to a few areas on the exterior of his building, but there was no way, so soon, to estimate the size of the loss.

He and his store manager, John Pokorny, issued a joint statement in which they "commended and complimented" the fire department "because without their swift and efficient actions the whole general area might have easily come down."

'Mad bomber' to be released

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Metesky, who planted 22 homemade bombs in buildings and phone booths around New York for 16 years, now says he's "very, very sorry" about the campaign of terror, which he claimed was sparked by his anger at the Con Ed electrical utility.

Metesky will go free in a few days under a recent court ruling that defendants judged incompetent may be kept in mental hospitals no longer than two-thirds of what their maximum prison sentence would have been.

Metesky, who began his bombings in 1941, was held at Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane for a little more than 17 years and at Creedmoor State Hospital for the past 7 months.

It makes 'cents'--aluminum pennies instead of copper

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department said Friday it could save dollars by making cents out of aluminum instead of copper.

Mrs. Mary Brooks, director of the Mint, said the Treasury Department had requested congressional authority to permit the change. "With copper prices fluctatuating around $1 per pound, the metal cost of the cent is about 0.7 cent. Manufacturing and transportation expenses amount to approximately 0.2 cent for each piece, making the cost of the 1 cent piece 0.9 cent," the Treasury said in a statement

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz wrote Vice President Gerald R. Ford proposing legislation to change existing laws which require that the 1-cent piece be made from an alloy that includes 95 per cent copper and 5 per cent zinc.

"The draft bill would authorize the secretary to change the alloy to not less than 96 per cent aluminum.

Schultz said if the price of copper rises to $1.50 a pound, "the metal value of the coin alone will exceed 1 cent and thus hoarding of pennies will become profitable," Schultz said. The price of copper at the beginning of the year was 50 cents a pound.

The Department said changing from copper to aluminum would result in a savings of at least $40 million. A pound of aluminum currently sells at 30 cents and the Mint can produce 500 one-cent pieces from a pound of aluminum, compared to 150 from a pound of copper.

GM to shift to small cars

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Due to the threat of gas rationing, rising fuel prices and competition from imported small cars, General Motors is shifting production to smaller cars, a GM executive said Friday.

Richard Gerstenberg, chairman of the board of GM, said that in 1965, small cars accounted for only 32 per cent of GM's production. In 1973, however, that figure climbed to 56 per cent.

She tipped him with pawn tickets

Delivery boy who befriends ailing widow is heir

NEW YORK (UPI) — A grocery store delivery boy who cared for an ailing widow says he made more than $50,000 from the pawn tickets she gave him instead of tips, and when she died, she named him her sole heir.

"It's like something I guess you dream about that really comes true," said Jackie Bianchi, 19, who works at a supermarket on Manhattan's upper East Side. He said Monday that he first started visiting Mrs. Thomas Field five years ago, when he delivered groceries to her apartment.

When the widow, whose income was limited to a $500 monthly payment from a mortgage, ran out of money, she would tip him with pawn tickets, he said. The tickets turned out to be for jewelry and silver from her estate.

Mrs. Field had lived in a Fifth Avenue mansion until the late 1950s, when her husband, an inventor, died. Then she moved to an apartment, but because she was sick and afraid to light a fire in the crowded kitchen, he would cook for her and run errands whenever he could, Bianchi said.

The delivery boy and his parents pooled their resources to redeem the first pawn ticket for $2,000. It turned out to be a diamond ring appraised at $7,500 by Cartier, he said. Next was a $5,000 ticket for a whisky crate packed with silver. A sale at Sotheby Parke-Bernet gallery netted $56,000, which Bianchi said he put into a trust.

When Mrs. Field died she named Bianchi heir to the contents of her apartment, which he estimated was worth $15,000, and the $500-a-month mortgage dividend.

Bianchi, a sophomore at Bernard Baruch College, still works full-time for Finast Supermarket, where he first met his benefactor.

"Even if she wasn't wealthy I still would have helped her out and everything," he said. "It just pays to be nice to everyone, I guess."

Romania visit is accepted

WASHINGTON (UPI) President Nixon has accepted an invitation from President Nicolae Ceausescu to make an official visit to Romania but no specific date for the visit has been set, it was announced Friday.

The Ceausescu invitation and Nixon's acceptance were disclosed in a joint U.S.-Romanian communique issued at the White House after Ceausescu's two days of talks with Nixon.

Skylab running into more woes

HOUSTON (UPI) — Flight controllers said Friday one of Skylab's two good stabilizing gyroscopes was acting like another gyro that broke down a month ago and the erratic apparatus was being watched with "concern but not alarm."

Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said if a second of the indispensable stabilization devices were to fail, the Skylab 3 crew would have to return to earth within two weeks. He emphasized, however, that there is little chance of a second gyro failure at present.

Head-on crash injures two; 1 driver held

CHINO — Two persons were injured here Monday when two cars collided head-on on the Corona Expressway near Euclid Avenue and a third person was arrested.

Harold Dastrup, 42, a driver, and Marilyn Dastrup 38, a passenger, both of Corona, were taken to Chino General Hospital. Mrs. Dastrup was admitted and her condition is satisfactory. Dastrup was treated and released.

Tony Patterson, 38, of 4838 Monte Vista Ave., the second driver, was booked at the West End sheriff's jail on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Patterson was going south on the expressway when his car crossed over the center line and collided with Dastrup's northbound vehicle, reported the California Highway Patrol.

Dastrup said he was following a car, which swerved into the center median when the oncoming auto crossed over.

Chino zoning discussion set

CHINO — A group of citizens will meet here tonight to discuss zoning in the southwest part of the city prior to hearings next week at the City Council meeting.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the Contact station on 5212 D St. Gale Carr, city planning director, will be the guest speaker.

JUDGE PAUL EGLY

Egly named to top court assignment

POMONA — Judge Paul Egly has been named presiding judge of the Pomona Superior Court for the coming year.

Judicial assignments were revealed Monday by Alfred J. McCourtney, presiding judge for the county's Superior Court system. Egly was assigned to a civil trial department here last year.

The current presiding judge, Robert Firth, has been transferred to the systems central division in the writs' and receivers department.

No other local judges were transferred, with the result that Carlos M. Teran, Howard D. McClain, Glenn M. Pfau, August J. Goebel and Francis J. Garvey will remain. Retired Judge David D. French, on special assignment here, is also expected to remain.

No replacement for Firth was assigned, however, leaving the local court one judge short of its 1973 total.

Egly was born in Fullerton and attended UCLA until 1942 when he entered the army. He returned in 1945 and was graduated in 1946. He earned his law degree at George Washington University in 1949.

He subsequently was admitted to District of Columbia bar, the United States Court in Germany, the state of California bar and the ninth Circuit Federal Court.

Egly practiced in Europe, Los Angeles and Covina and was appointed to the bench at Citrus Municipal Court in West Covina in 1963 by Gov. Edmund G. Brown. He was promoted to the Superior Court bench by Gov. Reagan in 1968 and was assigned go the Pomona Superior Court in 1969.

Egly currently is dean of the law school at La Verne College.

L.A. suspects are linked to Ontario theft

ONTARIO — Two men, arrested after trying to use a stolen credit card in a Los Angeles store, are being held in Los Angeles County Jail for questioning in the Monday night robbery of an Ontario man near the Brookside Winery on Archibald Avenue.

Los Angeles police told Ontario detectives that they had arrested the men, identified as Felix Acevedo and Alex Nevarez, both of Los Angeles, after they had tried to use a credit card belonging to Joseph Berton Guidry, 30, of Ontario.

Guidry a few hours earlier had called Ontario police to report a robbery. Guidry said he picked up two hitchhikers about 7:30 a.m. Monday in Covina. He said he drove the two men to Ontario when one of them suddenly pulled a knife and told him he was going to be robbed. Guidry said the two men took his wallet containing a few dollars and credit cards. Then at knifepoint, the men ordered Guidry to write a blank check for $100. Guidry said he wrote the check and gave it to the men who drove off in his van.

Los Angeles police said they also recovered the maroon van owned by Guidry.

Ontario detectives planned to go to the Los Angeles jail this morning to question the suspects.

Fire damages Valinda home

VALINDA — A fire, confined to the garage by firemen, did an estimated $1,000 damage at 15957 E. Meadowside Drive early today.

The occupant, Gordon Krolikiewicz, 21, got his wife and child out of the house unharmed and firemen doused the blaze quickly. Authorities blamed the fire on faulty wiring.

Hughes Airwest reducing flights

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hughes Airwest says the fuel shortage is forcing it to reduce flights by 10.6 per cent beginning Jan. 7.

The airline said Monday that weekly departures will be trimmed from 3,165 to 2,831. Airwest serves 66 cities in eight Western states, Mexico and Canada.

Poly instructor, aide guilty of pot charge

POMONA — Two women, originally accused of illegally possessing hashish, pleaded guilty Monday in Pomona Superior Court to marijuana possession.

They are Gail S. Konkle, 35, assistant professor of mathematics at Cal Poly, and her secretary, Jean Connolly, 36. Commissioner Gerald K. Malkan scheduled their probation hearing and sentencing for Jan. 14.

The women were arrested last March following the delivery to their apartment at 707 N. Park Ave. of a package of ashtrays from India which also contained hashish, investigators said. The package had been intercepted by U.S. Customs Service agents who reported finding hashish inside the hollow framework of the box.

Officers, who possessed a search warrant when they entered the apartment, reported that they also found some marijuana there.

The women entered the plea when they appeared for trial.

Laughing pair rob store

UPLAND — Two laughing men, one carrying what police believe to be a toy pistol, walked into the Circle K Store at 1111 E. Ninth St. here Monday and robbed the clerk of a small amount of cash, police reported.

Police said the men, both described as 18-year-old Negroes, wearing stocking masks, entered the store about 9:53 p.m. One of the men laid a white pistol on the counter and ordered the clerk, Annette Brees, to open the cash register.

The two robbers took a small amount of cash from the register and fled the store.

Miss Brees told police that the two robbers continuously laughed during the robbery, as if they were "high" on something.

Theater group due at MSAC

WALNUT — The 15-member ProVisional Theater Foundation of Los Angeles will present "Dominus Marlowe—A Play on Doctor Faustus" in Gymnasium 3 at Mt. San Antonio College at noon Wednesday. Tickets are 25 cents.

New paper reviews have called "Dominus" an existential vaudeville with song and dance.

The group performed "XA: A Vietnam Primer" to a capacity audience at MSAC last year.

Claremont in stand against EPA plan

CLAREMONT — The City Council Monday ordered City Manager Keith Mulrooney to file with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) the council's objections to the proposed transportation control plan, and the council's reaffirmation of Claremont's support for "realistic measures to clear the air."

The council also ordered the staff to file with the EPA copies of Claremont's interim energy control plan and smog alert plan when they are available.

Mayor Craig McManigal signed a deed turning over to Los Angeles County the Harvard Avenue property upon which the county will build its new $800,000 library. Upon receiving the deed, the Board of Supervisors is expected to award a construction contract for the building.

S.D. plan vote awaits new testimony

SAN DIMAS — The City Council and the Planning Commission will meet tonight to discuss new testimony before the council decides to give final approval to the city's new general plan.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the council chambers.

At its regular Monday night meeting, the council gave tentative approval to the plan after hearing testimony from representatives at Vinnell-Pauley Corp. Albert C. Martin and Associates, the Via Verde Homeowners Association and other concerned citizens.

The testimony provided by the groups caused the council to withhold final approval until it met again with the Planning Commission to discuss the points raised in Monday's testimony.

The general plan is a guide for future development, and is based on an extensive survey report of existing conditions in the city.

She is survived by a daughter, Ginger Friedman; a son-in-law, Stuart Friedman; and grandchildren Bruce and Erica Friedman, all of La Verne.

Oakdale Mortuary, Glendora, was in charge of arrangements.

Ford plant to resume work

PICO RIVERA (UPI) — Ford Motor Co.'s plant here will resume operation Dec. 19, calling back to work more than 2,300 workers who were laid off when Ford's Canada facilities were struck, creating a shortage in engines.

Nearly 20,000 hourly workers will return to work next week here and at six other Ford Assembly Plants. Ford shut down the seven plants and curtailed operations at 10 other facilities when a shortage of engines resulted after a strike against its facilities in Canada.

Ford officials said Monday operations will resume because the labor dispute in Canada has been settled.

NO TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS — A twisted bicycle, blown out of the store by an explosion, symbolizes the thousands of toys that literally went up in smoke this morning in a $350,000 fire at the F. W. Woolworth store on the Pomona Mall. Only the shell of the store remained as the sun rose this morning.

AISLES OF RUBBLE — Inside the store only rubble lies where merchandise used to be. More than $150,000 of the damage was to the inventory, another $100,000 loss was listed for the fixtures.

About people

Successful 2nd time around

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — The Rev. S. Howard Woodson Jr., a Negro who previously ran unsuccessfully for speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, was elected to the post Monday and said his election "speaks to black youth all over America that by persistence the opportunity does come."

Woodson, 57, of Mercer County, N.J., was elected by Democratic assemblyman who swept to power in both houses of the state's legislature last month in a party sweep of the statehouse.

Discoverer of comet is seasick

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lubos Kohoutek, discoverer of the comet that bears his name, took a cruise on the Queen Elizabeth 2 with his wife to view the comet, but was reported seasick Monday.

Kohoutek and 1,200 others left New York Sunday on a special cruise, following the weather to try to get the best possible view of the comet. By Monday afternoon, the ship had not found an ideal site, and Kohoutek got sick.

But his wife Christine said they were still hopeful.

Nixons to spend Yule at W.H.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Richard M. Nixons will spend Christmas in the White House, and according to first lady Pat Nixon, they are not going to let the energy crisis dampen their holiday spirits.

Mrs. Nixon, who received an 18-foot Christmas tree Monday, said it will have some lights on it despite the national austerity program to conserve energy. The tree will be placed in the traditional site in the Blue Room. Mrs. Nixon said the first family will not be flying out of town and would spend the Christmas holidays at the White House.

"People are staying home, buying trees and enjoying it more," she said. "We love Christmas in the White House and we will be here. We love the decorations and we hope to have all the family with with us.

Allende's widow in new appeal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Hortensia Allende called on the U.S. government Monday to halt all trade with Chile, and stop shipments of American arms to the new military government.

Mrs. Allende, wife of Chilean President Salvador Allende who died in the revolt that toppled his leftist regime, is making a speaking tour of North America, blaming Washington and the CIA for the change of governments in Chile and appealing for American support.

Press award goes to woman

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Katharine Graham, publisher of the Washington Post, has become the first woman to be named recipient of the John Peter Zenger award for distinguished service to freedom of the press, given by the University of Arizona.

"The reputation of the Post was on the line during those long, lonely months when one newspaper carried the brunt of the Watergate investigation," her nomination said.

The 19 former recipients of the award suggested the nominees, who were voted on by more than 300 newspaper editors. The award will be presented Jan. 12, during the annual convention of the Arizona Newspaper Association in Scottsdale, Ariz. It is named after a colonial American publisher who stood up to the British Crown and won his case in court, a milestone in the history of press freedom in the United tstates.

Singer files suit on civil rights

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Soul singer James Brown filed suit in federal court Monday complaining Knoxville police violated his civil rights last December during a scuffle between members of Brown's troupe and officers in a parking lot.

Brown, who filed the suit with two associates, is asking $1 million in damages for "violation of his civil rights, false arrest, malicious prosecution, assault and battery and outrageous conduct." His two associates are asking for $500,000 each.

Named as defendants were Mayor Kyle Testerman, Safety Director Duane Ausetts, Police Chief Joe Fowler, six policemen or former officers, and Civil Service Director Preston Phelps.

Janssen behind in his alimony

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Actor David Janssen was held in contempt by a Superior Court judge Monday for falling $35,625 behind in alimony payments to his former wife, Ellie.

Janssen, 48, star of the television series "The Fugitive," and Mrs. Janssen, 47, an interior decorator, were divorced in 1970 after 10 years of marriage. Janssen was ordered to pay her $3,750 a month.

The judge gave Janssen until Dec. 27 to pay the money or face additional penalties, said Mrs. Janssen's lawyer.

Two military satellites to be orbited

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A Titan 3C rocket is scheduled to carry two satellites into orbit this evening to shore up U.S. military communications around the world.

The 1,300-pound satellites will be positioned over the equator in a stationary orbit about 22,000 miles from earth. Each one is capable of carrying 1,300 conversations.

The Air Force project, costing an estimated $40 million will replace two communications satellites launched in Nov. 1971.

An Air Force spokesman said the power distribution system in one of the earlier satellites failed in Sept., 1972, and a geomagnetic storm may have taken its toll on the other one last June.

Still no progress in food talks

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — No progress was made Monday during the first day of bargaining since food industry employes walked off their jobs last Monday against 61 supermarket chains.

Talks between management and the meatcutters' union were planned for today.

Negotiations Monday, the first since Dec. 1, involved the Teamsters Union and the Food Employers Council. Further bargaining between the two groups was not scheduled.

Cost of living raises were reported to be the major obstacle to an agreement between the Food Employers Council and the Food and Drug Council, the labor group's umbrella organization.

Mediator Richard Hughes, who oversaw the talks with the Teamsters, said both sides claimed a lack of willingness by the other to bargain.

A spokesman for the employers' council said meaningful talks could not begin until the Teamsters "boil down their demands."

Since the strike-lockout, most markets have remained open. Food shortages in a variety of items were reported, but a widespread lack of food supplies was not anticipated.

Zonka on the rocks new shipboard drink

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — It took four hours Monday to get all 598 passengers off the stranded Italian luxury liner "Federico C" but no one seemed unhappy about the delay.

The liner still was stuck fast to a sandbar early today and another effort was scheduled to maneuver the 606-foot vessel free.

"My husband will never believe this," said Dolores Brown, a Chicago housewife, as she checked through customs at Port Everglades.

Mrs. Brown and the others spent their three days and two nights of unscheduled extended vacation partying, relaxing on the sun deck, and hoping someone would tell their relatives back home what had happened.

The 20,000-ton liner was trapped moments before it was due to enter the port after a seven-day Caribbean cruise.

Costa Lines gave the passengers all the free food they wanted during the extended stay, but they held the line on alcohol. Saturday night the guests were served drinks on the house for three hours.

Some passengers created a new cocktail called "zonka on the rocks" in honor of Capt. Maffo Zonka who was at the helm when the ship went aground.

"Some of us had parties in our rooms, but the biggest thing was card-playing," said Gail Canata, of Chicago. "I won $100 in a card game the last night."

CLAREMONT BIKE AUCTION — Lyn Hood, communications officer for Claremont Police Department, shows off sword which will be auctioned off Saturday at 10 a.m. along with 100 bicycles seen hanging in background. The annual auction of bikes, jewelry, luggage, cameras, tape recorders, wallets, watches, stereo tape equipment radios, clothing and an accounting machine will be conducted at the rear of city hall, 207 Harvard Ave. Items may be viewed before 9 a.m.

Colors, signs for motel up for Claremont review

CLAREMONT — Motel 6 representatives will make a second appearance before the city's architectural commission Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to see if modified color and signs for the proposed 112-unit motel on the north side of Foothill Boulevard between Mills and Padua avenues will receive a favorable review.

Commissioners had tabled the matter at their Nov. 16 meeting because they didn't like the dustry rose color proposed for the stucco or the turquoise proposed for the 112 door .

The city staff reports new colors of calfskin on the stucco and aqua on the doors "still appears too harsh," and prefer a light brown and a softer shade of blue.

The commissioners also were concerned about the white rock roof for the four two-story buildings on 2.3 acres. The applicant now proposes white composition shingles, but the city staff is recommending a dark roof.

The staff also is concerned about the over-all size of an 11-foot-high Motel 6 logo mounted on a 7½-foot high tucco base, and would have an overall 17-foot 6-inch width.

The commission also will review architectural and sitte plans for a Republic Federal Saving and Loan building at Foothill Boulevard Regis Avenue, landscaping and grading plans for an Armsttrong 37-unit residential unit development on Indian Hill Boulevard south of the proposed Foothill Freeway right-of-way, review the architectural and site plans for the third phase of a residential unit development for Rosemount Estates west of the north end of Indian Hill Boulevard, and will consider a request for a 3 by 8-foot sign for Claremont Cameras at 819 W. Foothill Blvd.

Vandal damage to school set at $55,000

Energy woes darken halls at Pomona school offices

POMONA — The energy crisis finally is catching up with the Pomona Unified School District.

Hall lights at the District Education Center already have been cut by 50 per cent.

And to initiate further energy conservation, other recommendations will be made by the administration to the school board when it meets tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The first is that a 55-mile-an-hour speed limit be established for all district vehicles, including driver training cars.

The second is that thermostats throughout the district be set at 68 degrees where possible.

A third recommendation is that all unnecessary lighting at teaching and work stations be lowered. This recommendation excludes security lighting.

In addition, an employe car pool survey will be made by students at Garey High School to determine if car pooling could take place among employes on a voluntary basis.

Also, the lunch period will be cut from 60 to 30 minutes for personnel working in the District Education Center effective Dec. 20, to reduce utility usage in the building which will be kept open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

California tops in fees for fishing

NEW YORK (UPI) — California topped the other 49 states in revenue from hunting and fishing licenses last year, earning $16.8 million from such fees, the Tax Foundation, Inc., said.

Pennsylvania was second on the list, receiving $12.6 million from hunting and fishing licenses, and Michigan was third with income of $11.7 million.

Hawaii was at the bottom of the list with $120,000 in revenue.

Claremont council studies rent, sale sign ordinance

CLAREMONT — The City Council tonight will consider an ordinance that would allow one "for rent," "for sale," "open house" or similar sign on the property to which it refers.

A "rider" containing additional information could be attached to the sign as long as both signs do not exceed six square feet, and the combined signs are not more than 4 feet tall.

The proposed ordinance is the result of study by the planning and the architectural commissions.

The council will also discuss a proposed $31 million capital improvements program scheduled by the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District and may issue a policy decision.

The council will consider a Parks and Recreation Commission recommendation that a proposal by Eckbo, Dean, Austin, and William to develop a master plan for Sycamore Canyon-Higginbotham Park at a cost of $10,500 be accepted.

Supervisors vote 69% raise for themselves

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The county Board of Supervisors have voted to give themselves pay raises of 69 per cent, from $14,200 a year to $24,000.

The pay increase is subject to approval by the federal Cost of Living Council.

Average home income $11,286

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Income of all households in the United States averages $11,286 annually, the National Consumer Finance Association said.

Households headed by a person between 45 and 54 years old had an average income of $14,719 last year, and these accounted for 24.5 per cent of all household money income. By contrast, those headed by persons under 25 years of age had average annual income of $7,716 or 5.5 per cent of total household income.

Women paid less for the same work

NEW YORK (UPI) — European women working in the food, textile and clothing industries are earning far less than their male coworkers, the European Economic Commission said in arecent study covering 1968 to 1972.

Chemical Bank in its Report from Europe said the EEC found differences in hourly earnings between men and women vary as much as 27 per cent in Holland, 22 per cent in Belgium, 20 per cent in Germany, 15 per cent in France, and 13 per cent in Italy.

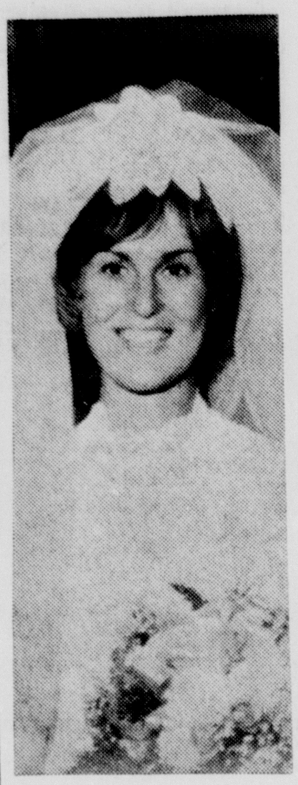
Linda Hunter weds Bernard Layaye

After a honeymoon in Las Vegas, newly wed Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Layaye will make their home in Paso Robles.

The bride is the former Linda Sue Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter of Chino. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Layaye of San Miguel.



MRS. BERNARD C. LAYAYE

The couple exchanged vows in a double-ring ceremony at the United Methodist Church in Chino. Officiants were the Rev. Stanley Creighton and the Rev. Hilary Hobrecht.

The bride wore a floor-length, empire gown of chantilly lace over satin. It was fashioned with a high neckline and long, fitted sleeves. A headpiece of lace petals held the bride's waist-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of bronze and yellow daisy mums, yellow roses and white carnations.

Miss Sally Hunter was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Hunter and Miss Denise Layaye.

Kate Hartshorn was flower girl and John Hartshorn was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Robert Layaye. Ushers were Gary Rice, Steve Adam, Jack Labesque and Pat Labesque.

A reception at the DES Hall followed the ceremony.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Losing man friend

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I seem to be going opposite the trend of many young women today in that I want to get married. But I can't find a man. Most of my girl friends don't want to get married. They are living with men, and are very happy about their arrangements. This is just no good for me, although I'd really settle for anything at this point. I'm very lonesome and bored and I just can't get along without some strong figure in my life. Every time I meet a man, I try to subtly suggest some serious permanent relationship, not necessarily marriage, but at least, something that will last. I've almost never had more than two dates with any fellow and it's not because I'm not warm and friendly. I never criticize them or argue with them so it seems strange that I could irritate them or hurt their feelings. I'm also not a perfectionist as you can tell from this letter and I'm not waiting for the impossible — the knight in shining armor. — L.M.

Dear. L.M.: It is much easier to live with someone else if you have first learned to live with yourself. Too often people look for others to complete what is missing in themselves. Relationships based solely upon need for fulfillment through others do not have a high rate of success.

Most men sense boredom and desperation in women and it frightens them, for few men can, or desire to, accept full responsibility for the total happiness and welfare of another human being. Successful marriages and relationships of mutual love are based on sharing, not on dependency. More and more men are beginning to realize this and while they may fear dominant, strong women, they are also leery of women who seem overly submissive.

When a man meets an overly eager woman he may feel she is merely seeking a male, any male. This is hardly flattering to him. He is then being used as an object in much the same way that men are said to use women. Almost everyone likes to be thought of as an individual and appreciated for his or her individual traits.

By placing so much emphasis on a permanent relationship you are not allowing yourself and a young man time to get to know one another. You are setting up almost impossible hurdles because you cannot promise permanence if you know nothing about the person to whom you are committing yourself. Nor can anyone else. It is unrealistic. It would be far better to concentrate on friendship, on trying to discover another person's special interests and hobbies, and how they relate to your own interests, and on simply enjoying and sharing the moments, rather than looking for permanent commitments built without foundation.

If you are bored and lonely, try to organize your time so that you learn something new every day and pursue and develop new interests — bird-watching, photography, carpentry, painting. The more interests you have, the more interesting you will be to yourself and others and you may suddenly find that you have many new friends, male and female.

It is important for a woman not to be possessive in her relationships with men. If you want a man to propose, you must not throw yourself at his feet or scare him away. Make sure you know him and he knows you well before you enter into any serious relationship. You may discover that you are not as eager to marry him as you thought and it's best to discover this before you walk down the aisle.

TODAY'S Women

Chorale performance planned

A program of familiar and unfamiliar Christmas vocal selections will be presented by the Citrus College Chorale at the Claremont Women's Club meeting Wednesday.

The program will follow a noon luncheon at the clubhouse, 343 W. 12th St. The luncheon will be prepared and served by the December service group with Mrs. James Cox as chairman. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. A. W. Clarke at 624-6387, or Mrs. William Seanor at 624-9361.

The Citrus College Chorale is under the direction of Martin Greene.

The book section of the Claremont club will meet Dec. 21 at 10 a.m. at the clubhouse. Members will read or tell Christmas stories.

Jay-C-ettes chart yule party

Pomona Jay-C-Ettes have completed plans for their annual Christmas Champagne Party to be held at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at McConnell Hall, Pitzer College, Claremont.

Each couple will bring a new toy for a boy and a girl. A "Surprise" Santa will collect the toys which will be donated to the Christmas Clearing House.

A Christmas tree, from the Pomona Jaycees Christmas Tree Lot, will be decorated during the party and given away with the toys.

Music will be provided by Charlie Cogswell.

Mrs. Robert Hayes is chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Roy Stunrod. Mrs. Bob Castaldi is in charge of decorations.

Collectors install officers

Western World Collectors Association recently installed officers for the year.

President is Mrs. Shirley Mae Onstot. Other officers are: Mrs. R. Lashbrook, vice president; C. L. Onsttot, treasurer; D. A. Lashbrook, recording secretary; B. Lashbrook, librarian; Wilma Brenner, ways and means chairman.

At a meeting at 100 E. Main St., Ontario, on Sunday Mrs. Yvonne LaFond will be the speaker.

Mrs. LaFond, a doll collector, has just returned from an extensive trip throughout the eastern part of the country and will bring a number of her collector items.

Meetings are open to the public.

Auxiliary sets dinner meeting

The national president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Fleet Reserve Association will be guest at the meeting of the Fleet Reserve Association, Pomona Valley Branch 211, Wednesday.

She is Mrs. Agnes Martin of Unit 60, Norfolk, Va.

The meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 13133 Central Ave., Chino.

The auxiliary will serve a dime-a-dip dinner and a mini bazaar with many articles for Christmas presents.

Square dancers will sponsor Jingle Bell Hop

Sawdusters Square Dance Club will sponsor a Jingle Bell Hop Saturday at the Yorba Elementary School, 250 W. La Verne Ave., Pomona.

Chino church setting for recent nuptials

Chino Valley Reformed Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Anna Hogerhuis and Steve Van Hofwegen.

The Rev. Robert Van Earden officiated at the ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Klaas Hogerhuis and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Van Hofwegen, all of Chino.

Carrying a cascade of mums and orchids, the bride wore a traditional gown of rosepoint lace fashioned with a sabrina neckline of pearled lace scallops, hand-beaded bodice and fitted sleeves featuring pearls and sequins and a cascade of ruffles sweeping into a cathedral-length train.

Her veil was held by a lace and pearl wraparound hairpiece. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Hilda Hilak served as matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Leann Bothof was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Aday and Mrs. Joanne Hogerhuis. Lanie Hogerhuis, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl, and Brian Hogerhuis, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Lighting candles were Mrs. Clary Lanting, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Irene Van Hofwegen.

Gary Van Hofwegen stood as best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Jim Van Hofwegan, brother of the groom; Myer Lanting and Miek DeBoom. Ushers were Carl Hogerhuis, brother of the bride, and Doug Hilak.

Mrs. Sandy DeBoom, sister of the groom, and Andrea De Boom were in charge of the guest book.

First Christian Reformed Church, Chino, was the setting for the reception.

"Breakfast with Santa" is the theme of the annual children's Christmas party sponsored by the Pomona Valley Mothers of Twins Club.

Mrs. David Williams is chairman of the event beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday in Taylor Hall, Claremont.

"Mr. Miracle" will entertain the youngsters. Assisting with party plans are Mmes. Bruce Allyn, president, Richard Hart, Eddie Lakkees, Matthew Quay, Norburt Becker, Robert Liles and Dennis Ballardo.

The women in the club will gather on Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Howard Wright, 1792 Buffington St., for their Christmas party. Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres will be served and gifts exchanged. Hostesses will be Mmes. Becker, Lakkees and Liles.

For information about the Mothers of Twins Club, call Mrs. Eddie Lakkees, 593-2021.

Cover the food chopper with a clear plastic bag. This will keep it clean and ready for use.

To clean hard to get at spaces, fasten a piece of cloth to a yardstick with a thumb tack.

Haldeman named in civil suit

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — A deposition will be taken next month from former presidential aide H. R. Haldeman in connection with a civil suit pending here, attorney George S. Daly Jr. said Monday.

Haldeman is named along with the U.S. Secret Service as a defendant in an $840,000 civil suit filed by 14 persons who say they were illegally denied entrance to a speech by President Nixon in 1971.

Nixon spoke at the Charlotte Coliseum as part of ceremonies honoring the Rev. Billy Graham.

Daly said he plans to go to Los Angeles next month to take testimony from Haldeman.

Haldeman's name was added as a defendant in the suit when it was disclosed earlier this year that he approved security measures for Nixon's Charlotte visit.

Daly maintains that Haldeman could be found in contempt of court if he refuses to answer questions concerning security measures for the visit.

Move on more access to tract awaits police and fire reports

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The City Council decided Monday night to wait for recommendations from the police and fire departments before acting on proposals to provide additonal access to the Kellogg Park I tract in northwest Pomona.

Councilman R. T. French, on whose motion the decision was made following a lengthy hearing, said he is not convinced the additional access is needed or desired by the residents.

He said he wants the police and fire departments to recommend whether additional access is considered "absolutely necessary" from the standpoint of providing emergency services to the tract, bounded by the San Jose Wash Channel, Ganesha Boulevard and the Corona Freeway.

Presently, the only ingress and egress to the tract is at Arroyo Drive at Ganesha.

Kellogg Park I residents petitioned the council in 1970 for additional access, and following city staff studies, three proposals were submitted to the council for consideration.

One proposal that involves the extension of Orange Grove Avenue into Gleneagles Avenue is estimated to cost $75,000.

A second proposal to construct a bridge structure over the San Jose Wash at the west end of Laurel Avenue, would connect the Kellogg I tract and the Valwood I tract. This project is also estimated to cost $75,000.

The third proposal calls for an additional street connection to Ridgeway Street near the intersection of Cornelia Street and Belinda Avenue. The estimated cost for this is $27,000.

Residents from both the tracts spoke at the hearing.

Residents spoke in favor of and against additional access to Kellogg. Some favor the Orange Grove Avenue proposal.

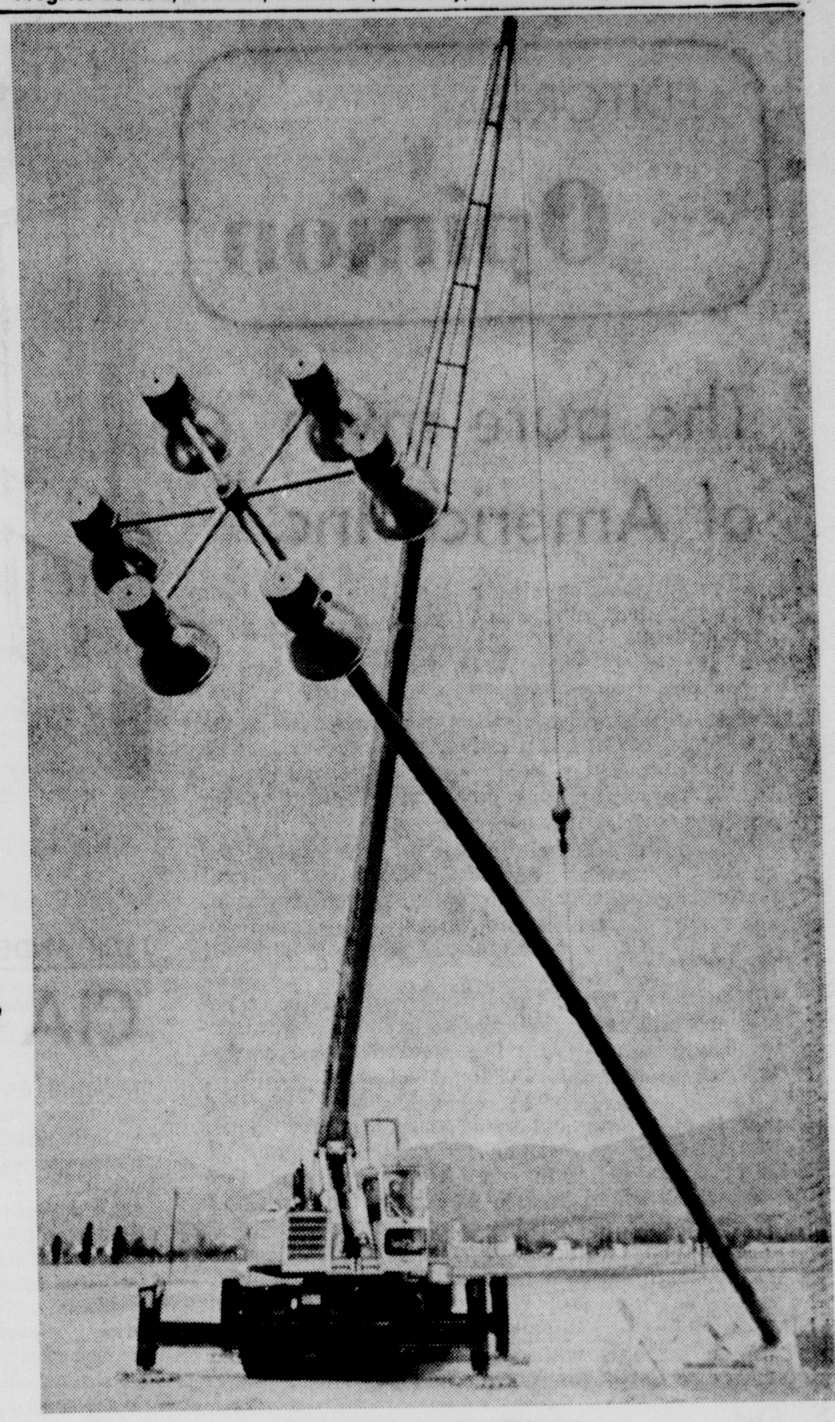
Mrs. Robertha Walker, 2222 Laurel Ave., one of the original petitioners for additional access to Kellogg, posed the possibility of residents being trapped in the event of a major emergency should the Arroyo exit be blocked.

Some residents of the Valwood tract expressed their opposition against additional access between the two tracts, saying the present situation at Valwood affords some measure of security.

Valwood I roughly is bounded by the wash, Ganesha, Murchison Avenue, Ridgeway and the Corona Freeway.

Councilman Charles W. Baders said it seems to him that in the event of a major emergency or civil disturbance access to Kellogg could become a problem.

The council initially voted to terminate the hearing, which has been continued a number of times, then later voted to reopen the hearing to receive additional evidence.



BETTER LIGHTING

Patrons using the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds at night soon will notice that the main parking lot of the grounds at Entrance G is better lighted. Fair officials reported that the 88 1,000-watt incandescent globes are being replaced with 54 1,000-watt multi-vapor lights which use 39 per cent less wattage but give three times more light.

Other agenda items for the 8 p.m. meeting include:

— Resolutions concerning the landscaping and maintenance of the La Solana housing tracts.

— Resolutions renewing street construction and maintenance, animal control services, and general services agreements with the County of Los Angeles.

— A resolution giving official notice of the March 5, 1974, municipal election.

Pomona councilman eyes Assembly post

POMONA — Councilman Charles W. Bader announced Monday he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for assemblyman in the new 65th District, in next June's primary.

Bader, who was elected to the City Council in 1971 one month after turning 31, made his announcement at a council meeting.

He is the third Republican and fourth person to formally announce for the seat.

The 65th District includes Pomona in Los Angeles County and Ontario, Montclair, Chino, Upland and unincorporated areas in San Bernardino County. It was created this year under a reapportionment plan approved by the state Supreme Court.

"The court in approving this plan determined what we already knew—that there is a community of interest that binds together the West End of San Bernardino County and the Pomona Valley," said Bader.

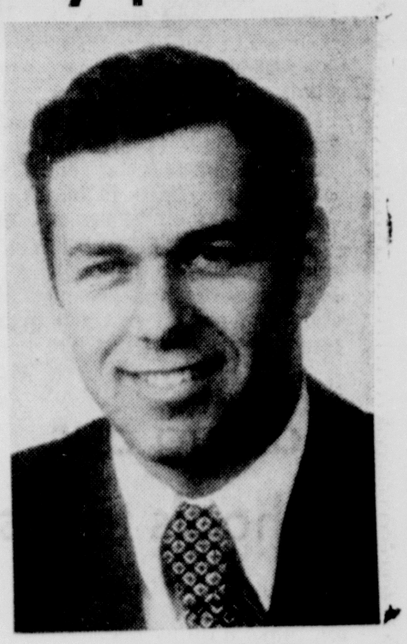
"Because of reapportionment, we have a unique opportunity to elect an assemblyman who understands thoroughly our problems."

Bader said he believes that if the Republican Party is to "continue to provide a positive force in our state's political affairs, we Republicans must take the initiative in campaign reforms."

As an assemblyman, Bader said he would support legislation calling for a "full and complete disclosure" of campaign contributions and expenditures and "I will work to bring about a reasonable restraint on excessive campaign spending."

Bader submitted to City Clerk Larry Thomas copies of Bader's 1972 federal and state income tax returns, saying:

"A copy of this statement and my 1973 statement when prepared will be filed with the city clerk of each city in the district. I believe that the public has a right to know the financial background of a candidate before he is elected to public office."



CHARLES W. BADER

Bader said he intends during the campaign to discuss a number of issues such as drug abuse, an alarming crime rate, abandoned houses, state spending, welfare reform and the energy crisis.

Bader, a Realtor, is president of D & R Properties Inc. of Pomona and Newport Beach and was a member of the Community Redevelopment Commission for three years before his election to the council.

A graduate of UCLA, he has been active in Republican circles for several years. He served two terms as president of the Pomona Valley Republican Coordinating Council, has participated in several state and national Republican campaigns, including as Pomona-Claremont area chairman in 1972 of the California Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Explosion of plastic starts $8,000 fire

POMONA — A fire at a home at 1602 E. Seventh St. Monday caused an estimated $3,000 damage to the building and $5,000 loss to the structure's contents.

A plastic bucket of polyester resin heating on the floor in front of a furnace ignited and exploded resulting in considerable damage to the front room, kitchen, back porch and back bedroom of the structure. Occupant of the structure was Emanuel Kramer of 1841 Workman Ave., West Covina, who used the Pomona house as a hobby shop.

An auto fire at Dudley Avenue and Philadelphia Street Monday afternoon is under investigation today by the Pomona Fire Department. The 1972 model Datsun 240Z consumed in the fire was a complete loss.

Shirt manufacturer sets up Pomona plant

POMONA — Don Rancho Inc., the manufacturer of "Hang Ten" shirts, has announced it will occupy the 85,000-square-foot building at 2300 W. Valley Blvd.

The company has already begun moving into the new building, which formerly housed the Burlington Hosiery Co. The plant will provide employment for more than 80 people, and will be used for a distribution center of all raw materials and finished products.

Material for the shirts is provided from mills throughout the country, and sent to the company's 14 factories throughout Southern California and Arizona. From Pomona, the shirts will be distributed to retailers throughout the world.

"The new facility will allow us to accommodate our customers many times faster and with greater accuracy in addition to providing us with an up-to-date security system," said David C. Carlson, distribution manager. "The purpose of the new location is to consolidate our local manufacturing and executive offices at our present locations in Ontario."

Washington School Christmas program

POMONA — The Washington Elementary School Christmas program will be presented Dec. 19, at 1:30 p.m.

Children from kindergarten through sixth grade will present skits, sing songs and dance. Parents are invited.

Assemblyman William Lancaster

He's against rapid transit measure, gas rationing

By GEORGE MACLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Assemblyman William Lancaster informed the Claremont City Council Monday that he will vote next June against the ballot measure which would provide rapid transit funding through limited tax bonds for the Southern California Rapid Transit District.

Meeting with city officials at a breakfast meeting, Lancaster said he felt he shouldn't support a transit plan not working statewide.

"We must be careful how we administer federal highway funds for rapid transit," he said. "I don't believe we have come to grips with the problems of rapid transit. We are working on them piecemeal."

Lancaster questioned whether the ballot measure would be passed by the voters.

The assemblyman said the county is "a long way from any meaningful form of rapid transit," and that what is needed is the development of a corridor system which would cross county lines when feasible.

He said freeways have been the savior of the state, but now concepts must be changed.

Mayor Craig McManigal told Lancaster that Claremont is a "bedroom" community, and the council wants its railroad tracks to carry mass transit passengers.

Lancaster commended Claremont for getting involved in problems that are "very real."

He said the U.S. and California haven't kept up their technological development, but have become "reliant on imports. We must become self-sufficient."

Lancaster noted that California, despite its oil industry, must import.

Lancaster said he has misgivings about the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit to go into effect Jan. 1, although he voted for it.

He explained he had introduced a bill which would allow for a separate minimum speed limit for each county.

Lancaster said the Environmental Protection Agency is the result of "real sincere concern, but it is too broad in concept, and handles many problems which could be solved locally."

He said that federal criteria on the energy problems do not necessarily work in all areas.

"I hope we can avoid gas rationing, but I'm not sure we can," said Lancaster. He is against the negative tax approach. "That's the wrong way to levy taxes. They should be levied for constructive purposes," he said.

Turning to bills on the member makeup of the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG), Lancaster said, "We're not getting any place with appointed regional boards. We need redefinition of what we are trying to do. I would favor city councilmen running for SCAG seats."

He reported three agencies are dealing with funding of federal money: RTD, SCAG, and the County board of supervisors, and "I think the local people ought to have some input."

The council shared with Lancaster its support or opposition to 17 current bills in the Legislature relating to finance, environmental quality and land use, labor relations, regional organizations, and annexation.

EDITORIAL

Opinion

The pure myth of America Inc.

It goes without saying that the United States is on its way to becoming a society run by a few giant corporations.

That's just the trouble — it goes without saying.

The idea is "pure myth" declares Prof. Neil H. Jacoby of the graduate school of management at the University of California in Los Angeles.

"The United States is not now, and is not becoming, a 'corporate economy' in the sense that big business corporations dominate . . .

"Corporate economic power is effectively constrained by market competition. Corporate political power is effectively countervailed by the power of labor unions, farm organizations, professional societies and a host of consumerist and environmental blocs."

It's time to rid our minds of the myths of corporate economic and political omnipotence, says Jacoby. These concepts are false and distorted caricatures of the true nature of the American economy.

Jacoby, a leading U.S. economist and author of "Corporate Power and Social Responsibility," notes that there are more than five million established business enterprises in the United States and that the ratio of enterprises to population has remained stable for half a century — about one to 40.

More than 11 million Americans report income from self-employment on their income tax returns, and as large a proportion of working Americans work for themselves today as did in 1945.

Small business will continue to flourish in the service society of the future, Jacoby predicts.

A generation forgets the point

Remember when ballpoint pens first came out in the late 1940s, how leaky, uneven and expensive they were? Remember how teachers frowned on students using them because "they ruin your handwriting"?

A lot of ballpoints today are still leaky and uneven, and you could probably find a teacher somewhere who is still concerned about good handwriting. But expensive they no longer are, unless you insist on gold plating.

In 1972, no less than 1.3 billion ballpoint pens were produced in the United States, reports the BIC Corp., or about six for every man, woman and child in the country.

Fountain pens are now a rarity, and a whole generation of kids is growing up without ever having seen one. In fact, a return to the fountain pens would mean chaos in banks, restaurants, gas stations, department stores and offices.

Presidents give away dozens of ballpoint pens as souvenirs when they sign an important bill. Even documents of state are now signed with ballpoints and they, too, more often than not are of the disposable variety — just like some treaties.

Taking our schools to tusk

Just as we were about to recommend their dismantling, the word comes in that schools do, after all, make a difference.

The results of a study conducted in 22 countries by the International Association for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement, whoever they are, have been reported and the data, says Education, U.S.A. newsletter, show a clear indication that there is "a school factor at work" in student achievement.

Wow. Only the other day educators were buzzing over other data which suggested that it didn't really matter what kind of school a kid went to — home and family were the critical factors in determining whether and how much he learned.

Well, we've heard from the blind men at the elephant's trunk and now from those feeling the elephant's leg. We await with interest the next report from experts no doubt even now examining another part of the educational anatomy.

Thought for today

Jesus said to him, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but by me. If you had known me, you would have known my Father also: henceforth you know him and have seen him."—John 14:6, 7.

* * * *

To know about Christ is not enough. To be convinced that He is the Savior of the world is not enough. To affirm your faith in Him, as we do in the Apostle's Creed, is not enough. You really don't actively belive in Christ until you make a commitment of your life to Him and receive Him as your Saviour. —Billy Graham, American evangelist.

CIA eavesdrops on Kremlin chiefs

WASHINGTON — We have been accused of compromising an intelligence operation, perhaps even jeopardizing the life of an agent, inside the Soviet Union.

Let us set the record straight.

More than two years ago, we were tipped off that the Central Intelligence Agency had managed to eavesdrop on the private conversations of Kremlin leaders. Some of the transcripts, we were told, were quite titillating.

We checked out the story with a CIA source who had access to the transcripts. He confirmed that the CIA was intercepting the telephone traffic between the limousines of Soviet bigwigs.

Gossipy leaders

Unfortunately, he said, they didn't hold strategy sessions in their limousines. The CIA picked up small talk, however, which provided an insight into the personalities of the likes of party chief Leonid Brezhenev, Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nikolai Podgorny.

The transcripts revealed that the Soviet leaders gossip about one another and complain about their ailments. Their favorite limousine stop was a private clinic where they could get steam baths, rubdowns and other physical therapy.

Brezhnev, who sometimes drinks too much vodka and suffers from hangovers, told Podgorny in a typical conversation that he was suffering from the woes and would stop off at the clinic for a massage. He mentioned a masseuse named Olga.

"Olga! Oh ho!" chortled the Soviet president, who apparently was familiar with Olga.

Kremlin aware

Our source said the transcripts showed that the Kremlin chiefs were aware the CIA was listening to them. Anything they already knew, he agreed, should be safe for the American people to be told.

Therefore, it should do no harm to write about the eavesdropping operation, said our source. He cautioned, however, that the monitored conversations didn't make clear whether the Soviet leaders had figured out how we did it.

We published a careful story on September 16, 1971, about the eavesdropping. "For obvious security reasons," we wrote, "we can't give a clue as to how it's done. But we can state categorically that for years the CIA has been able to listen to the kingpins of the Kremlin banter, bicker and backbite among themselves."

The following December, we quoted from secret White House minutes to show that President Nixon had lied to Congress and the public about the India-Pakistan conflict.

Foolish crimes

This brought the President's gumshoes down on our necks with a vengeance. No newsmen in Nixondom have ever received a more thorough going-over. The undercover work was done by the plumbers, the bizarre para-police unit whose operatives ran around in CIA wigs and committed foolish crimes.

The bewigged ones, among other things, began checking into our account of the Kremlin bugging. This aroused Richard Helms, then the CIA chief, who invited me to lunch on March 17, 1972.

He asked me not to mention the eavesdropping operation in my book, "The Anderson Papers." He acknowledged that the Kremlin leaders knew their conversations had been monitored. But he pleaded with me to keep quiet and urged me particularly never to mention how the conversations were intercepted.

Accordingly, I omitted the references from my book and left it to others to reveal the secret monitoring method. Not until today, after the limousine-listening operation has been widely publicized elsewhere, have we mentioned how it was done.

Whispering campaign

Nevertheless, the White House has seized upon this affair to justify the President's claim of national security in the plumbers case. Aides have been whispering that our story shut down one of the best pipelines into the Soviet Union.

This is strictly a red herring, which President Nixon hopes will distract the Watergate bloodhounds. The truth is that: (1) the monitored Kremlin chitchat was never an important intelligence source; (2) Our September 16, 1971, story revealed nothing the Kremlin leaders didn't already know; and (3) the President's claim of national security simply won't wash.

His motive is perfectly clear. He is vulnerable to charges that he obstructed the investigation of the plumbers. For he has admitted not only that he formed the plumbers but that he ordered Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen not to investigate them.

Now Egil Krogh, the chief plumber, has pleaded guilty to one of the crimes committed by his curious crew. Other criminal indictments have been handed down.

The President's attempt to block an investigation into these crimes, therefore, would appear to be obstruction of justice — which itself is a crime.

PAUL HARVEY

No privacy for elected officials

One in twenty Americans is in a mental hospital—and one in ten ought to be. Does this include our elected officials? Will Rogers called the Congress the "only asylum run by the inmates."

Congress, representing "we, the people," has its share of the combative, depressive, deluded—and drunks. Recently, in a savage attack, Big Labor's George Meany accused President Nixon of "emotional instability."

For better or worse, politicians now face public scrutiny of their most private affairs—including their medical records.

This is a hazardous practice. In 1964, a disreputable magazine reported that a "survey showed a majority of psychiatrists believed Sen. Goldwater 'psychologically unfit to be President.'"

Only 11 per cent of the profession was represented in that poll but it was politically damaging.

Before his election, a physician of considerable repute mentioned that President John Kennedy was afflicted with adrenal insufficiency and received cortisone treatment which "could be factors in the making of major presidential decisions."

Following Chappaquiddick, certain psychiatrists who are always available for public comment analyzed the nine-hour delay between the time of the accident and the report by Sen. Ted Kennedy, questioning his capacity to handle administrative responsibilities.

Sen. Ed Muskie, reacting to exhaustion and a vicious political smear, allowed himself tears which may have cost him the presidential nomination.

President Lyndon Johnson saw his mental health debated in public print. One news magazine headlined: "Is L.B.J. Driving Himself Too Hard?"

Classic, of course, is the dumping of Sen. Tom Eagleton from the McGovern ticket when it was revealed that he had been hospitalized for exhaustion and treated for depression.

Sen. Eagleton's comeback to a position of such esteem that no fellow Missourian even wants to run against him suggests that mental illness is becoming a lesser stigma.

Yet, on the congressional carpet to establish his fitness to be Vice President, Gerald Ford denied ever having consulted a psychotherapist "for psychiatric reasons" and protested, "I am disgustingly sane."

New York's psychotherapist Dr. Arnold Hutschnecker wrote in 1968 that President Nixon appears to be that most desirable type of leader who shows "a controlled reaction when exposed to stress."

Yet it is no secret among his friends and should be no surprise to anyone that, during the depths of the Watergate embarrassment, Mr. Nixon spent some sleepless nights.

Should politicians then be obligated to provide a medical statement of their fitness? I don't know.

Psychiatry is a most inexact science, yet it is reassuring, isn't it, when you get on a airliner to know that the flight deck crew is periodically examined for mental as well as physical fitness?

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . . . letters

Taxpayer wants to know

As a concerned American, worker and taxpayer, I feel it's time I put in my opinion. For the past several weeks letters have been written in strong support for Nixon.

These letters strongly resemble the White House aides' plan used in the '72 campaign, where professional writers would write the letters and good party members signed their names to them expressly for Letters to the Editors columns around the country.

The one that moved me was entitled "Stand up and be counted." The gentleman who signed it stated: "No one can show any concrete facts linking him (Nixon) personally to any dishonesty then (1946) or today."

I would like to know about the fraud pulled on Howard Hughes involving an empty lot in Whittier valued at $13,500. It has been reported by the media that Donald Nixon borrowed $125,000 on it from Hughes and Richard knew about it at the time, and the loan has never been repaid. Is that honesty?

I would like to know about the secret bank account Richard Nixon had in California in the '60's. I would like to know about the taxpayers' money spent by Nixon's orders on the home and boat of Bebe Rebozo in Florida.

I would like to know why Richard Nixon didn't declare or pay taxes on the $625,000 note marked paid in full in exchange for 20 acres on his San Clemente estate.

As a matter of fact the only point I agree with in that letter is the stand up part. It certainly is time for all honest, God fearing, taxpaying Americans to stand up and shout for the resignation of Richard M. Nixon.

If that fails, shout for our elected officials to do their duty and impeach one Richard M. Nixon.

A lot of people are suddenly blaming the Nixon dilemma on the news media reporting phony stories. I remember Agnew was one who claimed that the media was out to get him with phony stories, but if memory serves me right he resigned two weeks later and pleaded nolo contendre in federal court on the same reported phony stories by the news media. —Ken Goodwin, Ontario.

INSIDE REPORT

Israel willing to compromise

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir has firmly but informally passed word to the Nixon administration that Israel would not object to a reopening of the Suez Canal — even without Israel's guaranteed right of immediate passage — as part of a first-stage Israeli withdrawal from the Egyptian Sinai Peninsula.

What makes that private message to Washington so intriguing is that it dramatizes Israel's growing awareness that it must display unprecedented flexibility in the peace talks which formally begin 10 days hence.

No final settlement that did not guarantee Israel freedom of passage through the Suez Canal would be worth the ink it was written with. But what Prime Minister Golda Meir wants President Nixon to understand is that even though her Coalition government is waging a tightening battle for reelection on Dec. 31, and hence is highly defensive about publicizing concessions to the Arabs or the U.S., she understands the extraordinary emergency and the need for compromise.

On variation of the plan now under study in Israel would be the complete withdrawal of Israeli forces from all Egyptian territory on the west bank of the canal to the mountain passes 20 miles east of the canal.

Coupled with that would be Egyptian withdrawal of all but symbolic forces from the east bank of the canal and Israeli consent to reopening the famed canal closed by the Israeli invasion of Sinai in the six-day war of 1967.

Then, the Geneva peace conference would adjourn for several weeks to let both parties carry out this initial step in the tortuous process of transforming 25 years of war to something better. During the adjournment, the UN peace-keeping force would move between the canal and the new Israeli line, and the Egyptians, with the U.S. supplying much of the financing, would start work on reopening the canal.

Hard guarantees to Israel

If both sides managed to survive this initial phase, the peace conference would then be reconvened and negotiations would continue toward a second phase. This would require further Israeli withdrawal, possible discussion of hard guarantees to Israel on free passage of the Strait of Tiran into the Gulf of Aqaba, and many other issues.

Again, the second phase would be another testing period, a slightly more difficult experiment in compromise, during which the Geneva conference again would take a vacation to see how it worked.

"Call it growing old together," said one American expert with intimate ties both to Israel and the Nixon administration. The Israeli object is obvious: Egypt must learn to live with a slow pace of Israeli withdrawal because Israel wants each stage of the process to be provably self-enforcing and to pave the way for the next.

The most serious question raised by this piece-at-a-time strategy is not whether Egypt will accept so slow a pace but whether the oil-rich Arab countries, particularly Saudi Arabia, will accept it.

For Egypt's President Anwar Sadat, the withdrawal of Israel from the canal to the Mitla Pass, the start of work on reopening the canal and the flying of the Egyptian flag over the demilitarized western Sinai would be no small victory. Indeed, for Sadat, the hero of the Oct. 6 war, such progress by the middle of February might place him among the foremost heroes of Egypt.

Easing oil squeeze

There is some reason, moreover, to hope that such preliminary Israeli withdrawal would begin to ease the oil squeeze. Some highly placed officials here have learned from Mideast sources that Saudi Arabia may be running short of cash in the vastly expensive purchase of Soviet military hardware for Egypt. Unlike Soviet resupply of her allies after the 1967 war, when Moscow accepted payment in long-term loans and in Egyptian cotton, Moscow is now believed to be selling its weapons only for hard cash.

If true, King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, the most powerful Arab leader by virtue of his control of nearly one-fourth of the world's oil reserves, may be ready to ease his oil boycott in order to refill his depleted treasury (cash then to be paid, ironically, to Moscow for Soviet weapons).

Thus, Israel's confidential ideas about the shape of the Geneva peace conference are worth serious study here and in Cairo. They mark the first glimmer of hard realization in Israel that Oct. 6 was indeed a turning point — that, as White House counsellor Melvin R. Laird said on Dec. 3, "the only friend and supporter Israel has in the world today is the U.S. government" — and the U.S. government wants a settlement.

'MUSICAL SLEIGHRIDE'

Homeowners association elects 1974 officers, states goals for new year

DIAMOND BAR — The Diamond Bar Homeowners Association has elected its 1974 board headed by president Frank Skrah and announced five goals for the coming year to include a study to obtain public transportation.

They are also intent on conducting a study into the possibility of incorporating as a city.

Clinton Park, director heading the public transportation committee of the association, said providing transportation for Diamond Bar students who attend Ganesha High School in Pomona has top priority.

Park said jokingly at a recent press conference at the Diamond Bar Country Club, that he, being from the country, was thinking of starting a stagecoach line to haul the students to Ganesha

"It would get the kids to school, solve the pollution problem and not be too expensive," said Park.

His fellow committeeman, Joe Larutta (1973 president), said efforts were being made to work with the Rapid Transit District to provide transportation into Pomona, not only for school students but for shoppers.

"I feel Pomona should support us in this," he said.

The Pomona school board this fall refused to provide bus service for Diamond Bar students after a long line of residents protested the proposal.

Don Stokes heads the committee assigned to study incorporation. He said there are people in Diamond Bar who support the idea and also some who oppose it, "and we want to have the opportunity of self-determination," he explained.

Other goals outlined were to continue liaison work between the community and the Regional Planning Commission in an effort to retain Diamond Bar's country-living, low-density atmosphere;

FRANK SKRAH

to maintain the community's position of opposition to proposed airports at Chino Hills and City of Industry, and to "continue a united effort to provide the residents of Diamond Bar the instrument whereby they may control the destiny of their community."

Skrah said the first general meeting with the new board will be held Jan. 22 at 8 p.m. at the Diamond Bar Country Club, at which time by-laws changes would be proposed.

Others elected to serve with Skrah are Ted W. Staley, vice president; Ginny Case, treasurer; Leonard Leger, secretary; Larutta, parliamentarian; Rose Baldwin, Chuck Hall, Clinton Park, Repar, George "Sid" Rose, and Stokes, directors.

Leger heads the membership committee. Larutta heads the zoning-area planning committee. Rose will direct publicity. Mrs. Baldwin supervises social activities, recreation and ways and means activities. Mrs. Case will be liason to the Miss Diamond Bar Pageant.

Staley heads the domestic and emergency services committee which handles citizen complaints.

Garland Sawyer heads the airports committee. Leger heads the education committee. Repar is in charge of the by-laws study revision group.

At the press conference, it was reported the association, a nonprofit organization, will operate on a 1974 budget of $2,400.

Rowland board names two to personnel commission

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Donald M. Busch and H. Nelson Flack have been named by the Rowland School board to the district's personnel commission.

Busch will serve out the unexpired term of Thomas Dodge who moved from the area. Flack was re-appointed to his second three-year term.

Flack, an eight-year Rowland Heights resident, said he feels a civic and moral obligation to work for a better school district.

He has served on the commission since its inception upon unification of the district in 1970.

Busch, recommended to the school board by the Rowland Chapter of the California School Employes Association (CSEA), will serve out the final year of Dodge's three-year term.

He lives in Rowland Heights and is employed as a telephone supervisor.

The personnel commission acts as an impartial third party in serving the interests of the taxpayers, the school district and nonteaching district employes.

Two evenings of Christmas programs planned in Walnut

WALNUT — "Christmas in Many Lands" will be presented by second-grade students in the classes of Mrs. Angie Stanek and Mrs. Susan Lane at Vejar School in Walnut on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school's multipurpose room.

Also on the evening's program will be a short play, "The Runaway Toys," presented by Mrs. Pat Rolle's second graders, and choral readings, poems and songs performed by Mrs. Lucille Thompson's class.

On Dec. 18, students of the upper grades at Vejar School will present the play "Santa Claus for President." Principal characters will be from fifth-grade classes. Students from Mrs. Carol Dore's third-grade class and Miss Jennifer Rice's fourth-grade class will also participate. That performance will also be staged in the Vejar multipurpose room.

During the programs on both evenings, mixed choirs will sing a selection of Christmas songs under the direction of Mrs. Louise Norris. Refreshments will be provided by board members of the Vejar School Community Club.

Whittier doctor says he'll seek Congress seat

WHITTIER — Dr. Jerry Olivet, a 44-year-old Whittier physician and surgeon, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the 33rd Congressional District.

"I am throwing my hat in the race as early as possible before the primary election to clearly establish my intention not only to run, but to win this spring and in November," Olivet said.

Under the reapportionment, the 33rd District includes the cities of Downey, Norwalk, Whittier, Santa Fe Springs, Cerritos, and the unincorporated areas of Diamond Bar and Rowland Heights.

Cub Scouts plan Christmas meet

DIAMOND BAR — Cub Scout Pack 735 will hold its Christmas meeting Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at Golden Springs School.

Bill Leitch and Hal Hill were awarded plaques for their services as former pack cubmasters at the November meeting.

Giancarlo and Gianpiero Corsi, Ed Bunner, Scott Riggs, Ed Stokes, Mike Spindt, David Dobis, Craig Maier, Richard Hearne and Anthony Martinez were inducted into the pack as Bobcats.

Wolf badges were awarded to Scott Leger and Bill Capener. Rob Ashby and Peter Evans received Bear badges and gold arrows.

Webelos pins were awarded John Hill, Rob Ashby, Tim Scott, Dan Vesey, Bill Angevine, Rance Clouse, and Jon Cavener.

Red suits can pose problem

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If you can keep your eyes off the East and West hands you can decide on the proper way to play today's hand.

You start by winning the first trick with dummy's ace of spades and are faced with the moment of decision at trick two. You are going to lead a red card and take a finesse, but which suit should that red card belong to?

Opening lead—K♠

When the hand was played, South led a trump. The finesse worked. Then he went back to dummy with the ace of clubs and took a second trump finesse. That worked also, but West showed out and since there was no way to get back to dummy for any more finesses, declarer had to lose one trick in each of the four suits.

He had misplayed the hand, but strangely enough no one has been able to convince him of that fact. He says, "I have been taught to play trumps. Was it my fault that they broke 4-1?"

It wasn't his fault that trumps broke 4-1, but he still should have gone after diamonds. He had only two entries to dummy, but he only needed two diamond finesses. Once they worked he could play ace and another trump and make his contract.

Big feast provided at pet home

PLYMOUTH, England (UPI) — The more than 100 residents of the Plymouth Dog and Cat Home will have a sumptious dinner this Christmas. So sumptious that social workers say it should go to two-legged rather than four-legged unfortunates.

Ken Taylor, superintendent of the dog and cat home, said pet-loving donors have given $500 to lay on a Christmas Day spread of 25 turkeys.

"It's crackers," said Doris Angwin, the Red Cross director.

"The money should be given to people who can't even afford to consider a Christmas dinner. I can name people who would give their eye teeth to swap places with your animals."

Taylor stood firm.

"If I was raising cash for old people or the homeless the public would have given only half as much. The donations come specifically to give our animals turkey at Christmas. Who am I to tell people they shouldn't send the money?" he said.

Moon eclipse startling to astronaut

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab 3 astronaut William R. Pogue was startled to look out the space station window and find part of the moon missing. Mission Control didn't tell the astronauts about the eclipse because they were busy with other duties, but Pogue was eating dinner and saw it.

"Are we experiencing a partial eclipse of the moon?" Pogue asked. "We had a great big ol' full moon up there and all of a sudden we started losing a hunk of it."

Callers from California to Florida asked the Johnson Space Center about the unheralded eclipse and some were curious if the space flight had caused it. "What's happening to the moon?" one woman asked. "It's supposed to be a full moon and it was. I was looking at it and all of a sudden it started turning black. What have you done?"

Wednesday, Dec. 12

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be extra safety conscious today if you're working around the home with power tools or equipment requiring heat or flame.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Keep your mind on what you're doing, particularly if driving. Don't take needless risks. Watch your speed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Over the next few days don't become involved in things of a speculative nature. They could prove unreasonably expensive.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Career and domestic pressures will be a bit heavier today. You won't have much patience with the family or your public contacts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't put much stock in your hunches. They won't be reliable. Ideas that look good to you now require more careful screening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Before you spend money on your new interest, be sure it's something you'll follow through on and find useful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will be stymied a bit today where personal goals are concerned. Others will not be co-operating as they should. Be patient.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't make any decisions based upon anger or revenge. To do so will only compound the problem and make it more difficult to resolve.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are flirtatious today the wrong person is likely to intercept your signals. You'll have some unraveling to do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Handle your one-to-one relationships very tactfully today. Two people you deal with will each present a problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do not make any sudden changes where your work or career is concerned. This is not a good period to switch jobs.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You tend to be wastful and careless today regarding money, possessions. Be especially prudent and practical.

Dec. 12

Several unusual opportunities will come your way this year. They will be of a fleeting nature. A firm grasp will be required to see that they develop.

Cop-killer recaptured

RODEO (UPI) — An escaped San Quentin convict was shot and captured by deputies Thursday night after he commandered a truck with four persons in it and ran a roadblock.

The convict, Francisco Salas, 41, serving a sentence for first degree murder from Sacramento, was hit in the back and neck by a shotgun blast.

"We knew he had killed a policeman in Sacramento and he was armed and dangerous", said Contra Costa County Sheriff's Lt. Dan Kamrud.

Kamrud said Salas, who escaped from the prison Monday during a visit with his family, sped around the roadblock and "then became cornered by police cars."

The convict was rushed to a hospital to undergo surgery.

Kamrud said the names of the four hostages were not immediately available.

Music program slated at Scripps College

CLAREMONT — Music students at Scripps College will present a recital in Pattison Hall at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday. Admission is free.

Flutist Catherine Hayden, accompanied by pianist Gary Berkson, will play Hindemith's Sonata for Flute and Clavier.

Julie Simon will play the Second Movement of Beethoven's Sonata Op. 10, No. 3. Karen Clark will perform Copland's "The Cat and the Mouse" and Bartton's "Dance in Bulgarian Rhythm."

Tony Perez will play the first movement of Schubert's Sonata, Op. 120.

Students taking voice lessons will sing.

HIGH KICKER — Dave Bertoglio of the group, Zedekiah, will perform at the "Bizarre Concert - Dance and Light Show" in the Upland High School auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Also on the card is Touch, a local group. Proceeds from the program will go to support the City of Upland's youth activities. Tickets at $1.75 will be on sale at the door. The program is sponsored by the Upland Department of Recreation and Midnight Oil Productions.

Can't prosecute official who spanked his secretary

CLEVELAND (UPI) — There are no grounds for criminal action against a city councilman accused of tying up and spanking his 17-year-old secretary for making typing mistakes, Chief Police Prosecutor Everett Chandler said.

Police said the parents of the girl, a Euclid High School senior, charged that Councilman John J. Prince, whose term expires next month, punished her six times.

According to Chandler the punishments included tying her, spanking her with a wooden paddle, standing her in a corner and making her repeat, "I am stupid," and taking movies of her while she said it.

The prosecutor said Prince apologized to her last weekend, sent her $100 for extra work she did and exposed the film he took of her.

"The girl's parents were mostly concerned that he (Prince) receive psychiatric treatment," Chandler said.

Rams not taking it easy

LOCAL-NATIONAL
Sports

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — From owner Carroll Rosenbloom to the 40th man on the roster, the Rams are a solid football team in the estimation of Merlin Olsen, the All-Pro defensive tackle.

Olsen made this and other observations Monday night following L.A.'s 11th victory of the season, a 40-6 rout of the New York Giants in front of 73,328 lively customers at the Coliseum, and millions more on national TV.

In no particular order, the 12-year veteran listed the following as the ingredients which helped the Rams to the NFC West championship and a berth in the Super Bowl playoffs:

—Depth, youth, and pride.

—Smart football people at the top, i.e. management, head coaching and coaching assistants.

—Talent in key skill positions, i.e., quarterback, running back, and wide receiver.

"We're winning because we're a grinding team offensively and a punishing team defensively," Merlin summed up.

That told the story of Monday night's game which was close only for a quarter.

The Rams wrapped it up neatly with a pair of second quarter touchdowns on a four-yard burst by designated short yardage runner Tony Baker and a 19-yard touchdown pass to Lawrence McCutcheon from John Hadl.

It became a rout in the second half as McCutcheon broke the 1,000-yard barrier for the season and the Giants got careless where they threw the football.

Now 11-2, with one game of the regular season remaining against Cleveland Sunday at the Coliseum, the Rams have left little doubt in anyone's mind they are for real.

Head coach Chuck Knox's one-game-at-a-time philosophy notwithstanding, the Rams must be thinking ahead to the playoff opener at either Washington or Dallas (probably Dallas) Sunday, Dec. 23.

The Giants on the other hand have little to worry about except next season.

It was the 10th loss of the year for coach Alex Webster's club, which got off to a flukish 6-0 start in preseason play and then faded to its current 2-10-1 mark, with a Sunday game against Minnesota pending.

"They've just got a lot of good horses," Webster said of the Rams.

The leading horse, of course, was McCutcheon, who received a standing ovation four minutes into the third period when he broke up the middle for 20 yards to surpass 1,000 yards.

A play later, Hadl handed him the ball again and he carried over left guard for 11 yards and a touchdown.

McCutcheon gained 80 yards on 11 carries in the game to make it 1,014 for the year.

Only 76 yards away from Dick Bass' all-time Ram record, McCutcheon is technically a rookie this season, but ineligible for the rookie of the year award because it was discovered too late. Game films from 1972 showed he played in just two games. Ballots for the honor were sent out without his name.

It didn't seem to bother him. "I look at it with mixed emotions," he said, speaking of 1,000 yards. "I haven't changed much in a season, it's just that coach Knox has given me my opportunity."

Knox, the first year head coach, who turned the 6-7-1 Rams of a year ago into the 11-2 Rams of 1973, came in for praise all around Monday night. Even the losers had good words.

"The Rams are really a super-coached team," said Giant quarterback Randy Johnson. "They shut off everything we tried to do."

Johnson knows. So does Norm Snead who spelled him in the second half. Randy threw one interception, and Norm threw three—one of which was returned 49 yards by Isiah Robertson for a Ram touchdown early in the third period.

The Giants had to settle for a pair of field goals by Pete Gogolak—a 15-yarder with 1:41 left in the first period which gave New York a short-lived 3-0 lead, and a 27-yarder in the third quarter which cut L.A.'s lead to 28-6.

New York helped the Rams to two points later on a fourth down situation when center John Hill centered the ball over punter Tom Blanchard's head and out of the end zone for an automtic safety to make it 30-6 before the fourth period began.

Place-kicker David Ray added to the pile of points with a 16-yard field goal on the Rams' first series of the final period.

L.A.'s depth became apparent later in the quarter as backup quarterback James Harris directed a drive which ended in Les Josephson's 13-yard burst around the right side.

Harris completed six of six passing for 64 yards and added an additional 19 yards on two carries scrambling.

RAM NOTES: If the Rams win the opening round playoff game against Dallas or Washington on Dec. 23, they will host the NFC title game in the Coliseum, Sunday, Dec. 30 . . . other playoff pairings announced by the NFL have the AFC Central titlist (Pittsburgh or Cincinnati) at Miami on Dec. 23 . . . the NFC wild card (Washington, Atlanta or Dallas) at Minnesota, and the AFC wild card (five teams have a chance) at the AFC West titlist (Oakland or Denver), on Saturday Dec. 22 . . . altogether, nine teams still have a shot at the playoffs going into the final Sunday of the regular season.

RAMS' PRIZE ROOKIE

Lawrence McCutcheon, who was just officially tagged a rookie, passes the 1,000 yard mark in Monday's 40-6 win over the New York Giants. He also scored two touchdowns.

Chaffey Coll. entertains 16 JC cage clubs

ALTA LOMA — Defending champion Los Angeles Harbor and streaking Fullerton College are the co-favorites in the 33rd annual Chaffey Invitational Basketball Tournament which gets underway here Wednesday morning.

The Seahawks and the Hornets have identical 6-1 records going into first round games which pit Harbor against Mt. San Antonio at 5:50 p.m. and Fullerton against Citrus in the 9:30 a.m. opener.

Neither MSAC or Citrus are considered championship caliber teams at this point in the season. The Mounties are 2-7 and the Owls are 2-4.

Host Chaffey, winner of four of six contests including a 67-49 victory over MSAC last Saturday, is rated the dark-horse favorite when it meets Los Angeles Valley in the 9:30 p.m. feature. Valley is 2-5.

Other first round pairings have Pasadena (1-4) facing San Diego Mesa (4-3) at 11:10 a.m., Glendale (4-3) meeting Grossmont (3-4) at 12:50 p.m., Golden West (4-3) testing El Camino (2-4) at 2:30 p.m., San Bernardino (3-6) playing Orange Coast (5-2) at 4:10 p.m. and Riverside (5-2) meeting East L.A. (4-2) at 7:30 p.m.

Chaffey was the surprise of last year's event, winning three tournament games in a row to capture consolation honors after getting off to an 0-7 start.

Coach Barney Newlee's team has the personnel and experience to go all the way in the tournament and in the Mission Conference race that begins next month.

All-State forward Bob Kovach and veteran guard Pierre Rankin are the leaders of this year's squad. Kovach (6-6, 215) scored 104 points in the 1972 tourney to rank eighth on the all-time point list.

Kovach is currently averaging about 18 points and 14 rebounds in six games, while Rankin (6-2, 165), a playmaking guard is scoring in double figures.

Both Citrus and MSAC are struggling in early season games.

The Owls feature guard Roy Hickman (6-2, 185), who was an all-tourney selection in 1970. He was out of school for two years before rejoining the team this season.

Only one Mountie player, 6-foot-10 center Gary Nash, is averaging in double figures with a 21-point per game average and about 14 rebounds.

Santo claims he can't play for Cubs again

CHICAGO (UPI) — All-star third baseman Ron Santo says he will not put on a Chicago Cubs uniform again but that doesn't necessarily mean he's retiring from baseball.

"I've told everybody they can put whatever interpretation they want on it," Santo said Monday after telling a television interviewer, "There's no room for me on the Chicago Cubs. I will not put on a Cub uniform again because of what happened over the past week."

What happened last week was that Santo became baseball's first player to take advantage of a new rule that allows senior players to refuse to be traded. After 14 years with the Cubs he said no to a deal that would send him to the California Angels but he mentioned the cross-town American League White Sox as a possible new home.

"Try to get me on the South Side," Santo said he asked Cubs owner P.K. Wrigley and General Manager John Holland. "Money would not be a matter of concern."

"I'm sure (White Sox Manager Chuck) Tanner has shown interest in me," Santo said. "and I feel he would work something out."

Police question Cedeno

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Houston Astros star centerfielder Cesar Cedeno apparently shot and killed a 19-year-old woman just 10 minutes after he checked into a local motel with her early this morning, police said. A police colonel said the shooting appeared to have been accidental.

Cedeno, who fled from the scene in his sports car, turned himself into police headquarters about 10 a.m. (EST) and was being held for questioning.

The police colonel, who asked not to be identified, told newsmen at an impromptu press conference that Cedeno was " very drunk" and apparently had mistakenly fired a shot from a 45 caliber pistol, shattering the head of Altragracia de la Cruz.

Cedeno's American wife, Cora, of Houston, was at the couple's Santo Domingo home at the time, the colonel said.

He said police would decide later Tuesday whether Cedeno would be charged with any crime, but indicated the 22-year-old hallplayer would not be accused of first degree murder.

Carlos Hernandez, an employe of the Keko Motel where the shooting occurred, in one of the poorer sections of the city, said Cedeno and the young woman had checked into the room about 2 a.m. and telephoned for a bottle of beer. Between five and 10 minutes later, he heard the shot, Hernandez said. He said Cedeno telephoned the motel office to report he had shot Miss de la Cruz and then left in his sports car.

While Cedeno was alone when he turned himself into police, his mother and father arrived shortly thereafter. Reporters did not see his wife at the police station. Friends and curiosity seekers had also gathered at the downtown station.

Cedeno has not played in the Dominican Baseball League winter season this year because of a leg ailment.

He had complained to police two days ago about the theft of $5,000 worth of jewelry from his motel room.

Cedeno, the National League's all-star centerfielder in 1972, batted .320 for the Astros each of the last two seasons, and in 1973 his mark was second only to league batting champion Pete Rose. Cedeno stole 56 bases last season and his 168 hits included 35 doubles and 25 home runs. He drove in 70 runs.

Frequently compared to Willie Mays by former Houston Manager Leo Durocher, who managed Mays in New York when Mays was a young player with the Giants, Cedeno broke into the majors in 1970 at age 19 and hit .310 in his rookie season.

He led the NL with 40 doubles in 1971, when he batted .264. In 1972 he shared the lead in doubles with 39, scored 103 runs and drove in 82 runs, his career high.

Local stadiums get CIF games

Temple City will play North (Riverside) for the CIF 2-A football championship at Mt. San Antonio College Friday night, it was announced Monday by the CIF office.

Citrus College will host the 3-A title match between Monrovia and Crescenta Valley. In the other games, Los Altos and Crespi will play for the 4-A championship at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum while Paso Robles travels to Imperial for the 1-A game at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The 4-A, 3-A and 2-A games will start at 8 p.m. Friday.

Las Vegas impressive

North Carolina wins big

By United Press International

Things went as expected for fourth-ranked North Carolina Monday night but not for No. 8 Providence.

North Carolina, sparked by Olympian Bobby Jones' 21 points, blasted Kentucky 101-84, the Wildcats' third straight loss. Jones also had 12 rebounds and four assists. Kevin Grevey had 23 points to lead Kentucky, which has never lost four games in a row.

Providence was stunned by Western Kentucky's unbeaten Hilltoppers 89-84. Mike Odems had 20 points, Johnny Britt 18 and Ray Bowerman 16 as Western Kentucky took the lead with six minutes left and then played rugged defense the rest of the way.

Kevin Stacom had 19 points for the Friars and star Marvin Barnes was held to 16.

In the only other game involving a ranked team, Alabama (No. 11) overcame cold first half shooting to down Virginia Tech 75-64. The Tide hit only 32.6 per cent in the first half but took the lead with 11 minutes left on Charles Cleveland's tipin. Alabama then hit eight straight points to break open the game.

Elsewhere, William Johnson's 12-foot jump shot with 25 seconds left lifted Texas Tech to a 75-73 upset of Houston, the Cougars' first home loss after 31 straight victories. Johnson had 18 points while Louis Dunbar, who missed a shot with eight seconds left, had 28 for Houston.

Nevada-Las Vegas, which figures to be one of the nation's top cage powers once its freshmen stars get a little experience, may have already jelled into an awesome team.

The Rebels hit 57 per cent from the field to win at Oklahoma City 84-59 Monday night with Bob Florence leading the way with 29 points.

Some more of the West's best get into the act tonight when 12th-ranked Long Beach State hosts Loyola and PCAA contender Pacific calls on WCAC contender Santa Clara.

Elsewhere Monday, Nevada-Reno took its third straight road loss after opening the season with two dazzling wins, including an upset at Stanford. Utah State bounced the Wolf Pack 91-75 with Dave Webber scoring 17 for the losers but fouling out with about nine minutes to go.

UC-Santa Barbara, another PCAA toughie, made it three in a row with a 68-66 squeaker over Southern Methodist. Freshman Tex Walker came off the bench to hit 14 and lead the Gauchos.

Pepperdine played well at Dayton but lost 69-61 even though the Waves made half their shots from the floor. Pepperdine, now 0-4, was led by Allen Jones with 20 points and 14 rebounds.

Kings attempt to snap jinx

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Winners of three straight games after snapping a 10-game winless string, the Los Angeles Kings attempt to break another winless streak here tonight.

Los Angeles, which tied the North Stars 1-1 at the Forum last Dec. 1, has not beaten Minnesota since March of 1970. In 20 contests, they have lost 17 and tied three.

The Kings and goalie Rogie Vachon shut out Atlanta 3-0 Sunday for their third win in a row. They are now 8-14-4 for 20 points, ranked in fifth place in the NHL West.

The Kings return home Thursday night to host the New York Islanders. They meet Montreal at the Forum on Saturday.

Slumping Lakers start trip

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The slumping Los Angeles Lakers open a three-game road trip here tonight, hoping to break a three-game losing streak.

Losses to Seattle, Golden State and Capital during a long weekend have put the Lakers one-half game behing the Warriors in the NBA's Pacific Division. Los Angeles has lost five of its last six games.

The Lakers, who return home next week for games with Milwaukee and Boston, have been slowed by injuries recently. Bill Bridges has missed 13 games with muscle spasms, Jerry West is nursing a reinjured abdominal muscle pull and Stan Love missed the Bullets' game Sunday with a hip injury.

The Lakers, at 17-12, now have the fifth best record in the Western Conference, ranking behing Milwaukee, Chicago, Golden State and Detroit. To make the post-season playoffs, they would have to finish in the top four.

The Lakers travel to Detroit Wednesday night and close out the road trip in Chicago on Friday. They return home Sunday to host Boston, the Atlantic Division leader, and then play Milwaukee, leader in the Midwest Division, on Tuesday.

Wooden remaining calm about N.C. State

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Saturday's showdown between college basketball powers UCLA and North Carolina State is exciting most cage fans but UCLA's John Wooden is remaining calm about the whole thing.

Wooden told the Southern California Basketball Writers he is approaching the game between the nation's top-ranked teams the same as any other game. In fact, Wooden even gave his team a day off from practice Monday.

"With just one game this week, I thought it would be wise to take a day off," Wooden explained. "We want to win this game, of course, but I don't believe it is as important to us as it is to North Carolina State."

UCLA will be risking its 78-game win streak while the Wolfpack carries a 29-game streak. Both teams enjoyed undefeated seasons last year but never met since N.C. State was on NCAA probation.

"This is a different year, a different team," Wooden answered a question if Saturday's game will prove who was best last year.

Wooden doesn't feel his Bruins are playing as well this season. Asked if UCLA is as strong now as it was at the end of last year, the veteran coach said, "Goodness, no. We're not as good right now as we were at this time last year, let alone at the end of the campaign. We lost a lot when Larry Farmer and Larry Hollyfield graduated."

Wooden stressed the conference games take top priority. "We want to be at our top strength when we open conference play," he said.

But Wooden admitted Saturday's game might be different if the situation was reversed. "But they're not reversed and I hope we can keep it that way," he grinned.

Long Beach State's Leonard Gray was selected the University Player of the Week for making 11 of 18 shots and grabbing 24 rebounds in the 49ers' games at Colorado and San Francisco.

The 49ers (2-1) were upset at Colorado but came back to nip San Francisco on the road. Long Beach hosts Loyola tonight then travels to Canisius Thursday and Long Island Saturday in an Eastern trip.

"I thought the 30-second clock at Colorado was great," Long Beach coach Lute Olson said. "It gave the crowd a super game to watch."

USC coach Bob Boyd is concerned about the Trojans' shooting. "I am surprised we are shooting only 44 per cent," he said. "It alarms me. Bruce Clark has been our most surprising player. His good start this seaason should give him the confidence to have a big year."

The Trojans (2-1) host Santa Clara Friday night and Arizona State Saturday night at the Sports Arena.

Loyola's Dave Benaderet had some kind words about sophomore Don Bartell, a Damien High graduate.

"Bartell will be playing more," he said. "While Don doesn't look that impressive to some people, he is a smart player. We will be depending on him."

Cal State Los Angeles' Bob Miller is pleased with the play of freshman Terry Tate and Michael Ingram plus the efforts of Citrus College transfer Willie Jackson.

"Potentially, we could have our best team," Miller said.

Ohio State's Hicks judged best lineman

NEW YORK (UPI) — John Hicks of Ohio State, winner of the 1973 Outland Trophy as the nation's best interior lineman, added another coveted prize to his list Monday when he was named college football's Lineman of the Year by the United Press International.

The 6-3, 258-pound senior offensive tackle was a runaway winner in the balloting of 150 sportswriters and sportscasters from across the nation. He received 84 votes to easily outdistance middle guard Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma, who got 32 votes.

Randy Crowder of Penn State, a defensive tackle, was third with six votes and middle guard Tony Christiani of Miami (Fla.) was fourth with four votes.

Hicks, whose powerful blocking was integral in the Buckeyes' outstanding running attack, received the highest rating marks of any Ohio State lineman in nine of the team's 10 games.

Stags, Sagehens, Leos keep busy

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

All three local members of the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) are at home tonight in non-conference games.

Claremont-Mudd (2-3) hosts Chapman College (0-3) in a change of schedule. It was previously announced that Cal Lutheran would be the opponent.

Across campus, Pomona-Pitzer (2-2) takes on Southern California College. In La Verne, the Leopards (0-2) meet the University of San Diego (1-3) at Bonita High.

C-M will be out to break a two-game losing string. Chapman has lost 23 straight. After going 2-1 the first week of play and defeating Biola and Cal Baptist to take third place in the Redlands Tournament, the Stags dropped a return engagement with the Lancers at C-M last Tuesday and then "turned over" an 81-80 loss to Pt. Loma (formerly Pasadena College) in San Diego Saturday night.

The biggest problem facing Ted Ducy probably is to see that his team has forgotten the frustrating loss in San Diego and is not thinking ahead to Friday night's encounter with Azusa Pacific, another "return engagement."

At Pomona College's Memorial Gym, Les Nagler will send his young team against an SCC team that thus far hasn't shown the stregth flashed last year.

Nagler will start the same lineup that was so successful Saturday night in dealing Cal Lutheran an 81-64 loss in Thousand Oaks.

Norm Carter will again be back at guard where he starred last year. Carter will be paired with 5-8 freshman playmaker Scott Pease.

Bob Hoehn, a 6-6 sophomore transfer from the University of Arizona by way of the U.S. Navy, will be at one forward with Brandon Boyd at the other and freshman Geoff Northrup at center.

Oddly, the lineup Saturday was not the one Nagler had planned. Originally he had decided to start 6-7 junior Dave Coleman at center and move Northrup to forward with Boyd. Garry Steward (6-1) was slated to start with the 6-2 Carter at guard as Nagler sought to get as much height as possible into the lineup to improve the Sagehens rebounding.

However, Coleman was ill and could not play so Hoehn was inserted at forward. Nagler knew the Kingsmen would be using the zone defense and wanted the playmaking ability of the 5-8 Pease in the lineup.

"We'll go with this group of starters as long as we continue to play like we did, especially in the second half, Saturday night," Nagler said.

At Bonita high, La Verne will be playing its first game in a week when the Leopards take on USD. "I thought it would be better for our young players to be able to get in a lot of practice rather than playing a lot of games early in the season," remarked coach Art Bias.

Although the Toreros have won but once, they pose a much more erious threat than their record would indicate. The losses have been to San Francisco, San Jose State and Whittier.

Cavs, Tigers win in soccer

Both Montclair and Chaffey came away winners in Monday's soccer action. Montclair downed Azusa 3-0 in the Cavaliers first game of the young season, while Chaffey scored a 6-3 Inland League win over Riverside Poly.

Rick Adams, Edison Singulingga, and Chou-Wa Pae scored the goals for Montclair, while goalie Frank Garcia posted the shutout. Singulingga is a transfer from Indonesia while Pae is from South Korea.

Jack Castillon and Doug Holsclaw scored two goals apiece to lead the Tigers to victory, while Jeff Roper and Tony Jordan tallied once each. The win gives Chaffey a 1-0 mark in league and the Tigers stand at 2-3 for the season.

Montclair and Chaffey will face one another Wednesday in a contest scheduled for 3:00 p.m. at Montclair High.

Malin wins tourney title

WALNUT — The six annual San Jose Hills Racquet Club Tennis Tournament wound up its final rounds Saturday at the Mt. San Antonio College tennis courts.

Eugene Malin of Palos Verdes won the men's open singles over Harry Fritz of San Diego 7-5, 6-0.

In the women's finals, Lea Antonopolis of Glendora defeated Pat Cody of Bell 6-4, 7-6. In the open men's doubles, Guy and Harry Fritz of San Diego outclassed Lenny Watts and Andy Rae 6-1, 6-1. And in the open women's doubles Dorene Irish and Ann Hasse defeated Susan Hyde and Sally Fiebelkorn 6-4, 6-2.

Prep roundup

Pomona, Upland both win

Pomona and Upland opened the Corona-Norco Tourney with wins, Chaffey edged South Hills, and Ontario surprised Montclair in Monday's basektball action.

Pomona dumped Redlands 83-75 in a high-scoring affair, Upland routed outclassed La Sierra 81-45, Chaffey went into overtime to beat South Hills 65-64, while Ontario bested Montclair by a 65-56 count.

Derrick Thomas, Mike Yarbourough, and Jerome Holliman led the Devils to the tourney win. Yarbourough led a big third quarter effort for Pomona, as he scored nine of the Devils 24 points in that period. Terry Catum and Mark Modes each had 17 for the losers.

The Devils will now face Alta Loma today at 4 p.m. in second round action. Alta Loma got by Moreno Valley 75-71 in Monday's opener.

Upland had no trouble at all in besting La Sierra. The Highlanders opened a 29-12 first quarter advantage and coasted from that point. Curt Oldenkamp led all scorers with 17 points, 12 of those in the big first period.

Stu DuVall added 14 more for Upland, while Ken Weekes came off the bench to toss in eight points.

Upland will continue play in the tourney against co-host Norco at 5:30 p.m. Norco bested Nogales 69-65 in Monday's game.

Chaffey used two free throws by Mike Partington to tie South Hills with three seconds remaining in regulation time. Harley Stark then hit for three overtime points while reserve guard Rick Antoni threw in the game-winning hoop for the Tigers.

Chaffey is now 4-2 on the season and will face Ontario High on Friday.

Ontario, behind a 20-point effort by Jim Donaldson, downed Montclair 65-56 in a game played at Ontario High.

The Jaguars trailed at the half 28-25 but put together a 22-14 advantage in the third quarter. Donaldson was responsible for 10 of those points.

Larry Guess added 12 for Ontario, while Gerard Bryant led the Montclair scoring with 16 points. Ontario won its' first game of the year, and now holds a 1-2 mark. Montclair drops to a 2-3 ledger.

The Cavaliers will travel to Azusa to participate in the Azusa Tourney, opening Wednesday against Rosemead at 6:30 p.m.

Royals drop doubleheader

POMONA — The Pomona Royals, a girls softball team, dropped both ends of a doubleheader Saturday against the Anaheim Imperials.

The Royals, who are now 3-17 for the season, lost a 12-7 decision in the first game and then were trimmed, 13-11, in the nightcap.

Both games the Royals held a lead only to see it disappear in the final inning.

Pomona took a 3-1 lead after the first inning of the first game and led by a 7-6 margin going into the last inning. Anaheim then exploded for six runs in the seventh to win.

The Royals had a 9-7 lead going into the last inning of the nightcap, but again Anaheim came up with six runs in the final frame to pull it out.

Odette Simpson went three-for-four at the plate for the Royals in the second game, driving in two runs and also stealing two bases. Dorothy Dunn, who went one-for-three in the first game, had one hit in two at bats in the nightcap, driving in a pair of runs and sacrificing once.

The Royals will now face Mission Viejo at 1 p.m. Saturday in Mission Viejo.

Poly stages fund dinner

POMONA — Cal Poly will stage its second annual scholarship fund raising dinner this evening at Griswold's Inn in Claremont.

The dinner, sponsored by the Cal Poly Associates, will help raise funds for athletic scholarships at the university. The evening begins at 6:30 p.m.

Actor Ed Nelson, president of the Associates, will serve as the master of ceremonies.

Efforts were made to have Floyd Little, star running back the Denver Broncos, present tonight but the plans were cancelled because of the Broncos' championship showdown at Oakland Sunday.

Ken Myer, who serves on Chuck Knox's staff with the Los Angeles Rams, is slated to be present with Gordon Maddox, who helped cover the 1972 Munich Olympics for ABC-TV, and Olympic sprinter Barbara Farrell.

FRIENDS,
Here are just a few of the many written comments we receive from our happy customers:

Courteous, cooperative, considerate attention on every detail from all your personnel.
H. & B. RUSH, Mira Loma

Cooperation and concern of your personnel made the transition to mobile home living a pleasant experience.
L. HUTCHINSON, Pom.

Thanks for the fine way you have treated us in our new mobile home and we love every minute of it.
R. & M. BLAND, Pom.

Your Service Personnel have been exceptional, both in workmanship and pleasant attitude. Thanks so much.
A. & D. KRUGER, La Puente

Yes folks, our entire staff of efficient, cooperative personnel are at your service to provide you with courteous customer relations for the rest of your life!
Sincerely
BILL HARRIS

Leads to 'maxi-maxi' prisons?

Prison rules get tougher

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — Saying the "slayings are over," corrections officials today began evaluating the "safety factor" of 8,000 inmates before easing a general week-long lockup at four of California's toughest prisons.

A San Quentin Prison spokesman said about 500 inmates a day would be classified on "how safe we feel they can be," a process that will take about a week.

"We hope to end the lockup as soon as the classification is completed," the spokesman said.

Similar procedures began at Folsom, Soledad and the Deuel Vocational Institute, where officials suspended inmate privileges Dec. 1 in a "get tough" move to end a series of over 300 stabbings and 56 deaths in the past three years.

A new "operation" plan to beef up security at Folsom Prison was scheduled to go into effect Tuesday. Other controls include dispensing medicine at a guarded office instead of the hospital, changing evening classes to daytime, only allowing showers every other day instead of daily and eliminating cargo traffic in the main security area.

"Things will probably never be normal again," said Folsom's warden, J.B. Gunn. The plan must be ratified by the State Department of Corrections.

Some easing of restrictions took place during the weekend with Folsom allowing prisoners into the exercise yard on a "controlled basis" with extra guards. At Deuel, inmates were allowed television privileges.

Protests have mounted over the clampdown on prisoners' rights. Jessica Mitford, author "Kind and Usual Punishment" said the tough policy was designed to lead to the building of a maxi-maxi" prison to replace San Quentin, a charge that was denied by officials.

A march and rally was held in San Francisco Sunday by 80 supporters of a move to get better treatment for homosexual inmates.

An organization called "Inside out" said 15,000 signatures would be presented to the state calling for an end ot the practice of denying parole to homosexuals, an end to involuntary segregation of gay inmates, equal access to recreation and job training programs, and the right to form gay social, religious and political organizations within the prisons.

State Corrections Director Raymond Procunier initiated the tough restrictions at the four prisons following the slaying of a guard Nov. 27 at Deuel. He blamed inmate rival gangs for much of the violence.

"From now on, we're going to go back to running these place instead of the inmates running them for us," said Procunier. "The slayings are over."

Flournoy keynote speaker at LVC Associates dinner

LA VERNE — Houston I. Flournoy, state controller and Republican candidate for governor, will be the keynote speaker at La Verne College's annual Associates Dinner Thursday at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles.

The dinner is held in appreciation of those who have given continuing financial support to the college.

Master of ceremonies for the evening will be Jay Rodriguez, a native of La Verne, who is administrator of community relations for KNBC-TV.

Entertainment will be provided by member of the Hui 'O Hawaii Club, a group of Hawaiian students performing nattive music.

Griswold's
"Where Food is Made with Butter 'n' Love"

The outdoor lights may be missing, but the holiday spirit is really noticable. Griswold's bakers are experimenting with new tempting decorated dessert ideas. The gift shops are filled with gifts, cards, and food packs to brighten everyone's holidays. The Smorgasbords are getting ready for their delightful traditional Swedish dinners from Dec. 19 to 23.

The Old School House in Claremont will celebrate Las Posadas. This tradition from Mexico is a candlelight procession depicting Mary and Joseph's journey into Bethlehem and their search for shelter. After the procession, a joyous breaking of the pinata sets the children scrambling for candy treats. Las Posadas is celebrated nightly from 6:30-7:00 Dec. 16-23.

Life harder at Folsom Prison

FOLSOM (UPI) — A week-long general lockup at Folsom Prison has ended, but Warden J.B. Gunn says tough new security measures are soon to follow.

The proposed restrictions, which will take effect Tuesday if approved by state Corrections Director Raymond Procunier, will impose more stringent controls on prison work areas, showers and the general movement of inmates.

The round-the-clock lock at Folsom was relaxed during the weekend, with inmates being permitted into the yards on a "controlled" basis. Duty Officer Rudy Esposti Sunday said the prisoners acted in "exemplary fashion."

The new Folsom restrictions were in line with Procunier's new get-tough policy, announced following the Nov. 27 slaying of a guard at Deuel Vocational Institution.

They call for greatly increased security manpower, and this means "people working overtime on their days off," Gunn said.

Among other things, evening school classes will be held during the day, prisoner will shower every other day instead of daily, medicine will be dispensed from an office facing the main yard instead of at the hospital, and vehicle traffic into the main security area will be eliminated.

La Puerta offers Yule concert

CLAREMONT— Students at La Puerta Intermediate School will present their annual Christmas concert Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the school, 2475 Forbes Ave.

The chorus will sing "March of the Three Kings," "What Child is This?" and "Little Drummer Boy," and will be accompanied at the piano by Rebecca Rose, an eighth-grader.

The Intermediate Band, composed of students from La Puerta and El Roble schools, will play "Silver Bells," "Its a Small World," and "Ding, Dong, Merrily on High."

Alcoholism and teens is topic

CLAREMONT — "Alcoholism and the Teen-ager" will be the topic of discussion for the Claremont Coordinating Council meeting Wednesday noon at Griswold's.

The San Gabriel Valley Alcoholism Council will present a film on alcoholism among teenagers.
